CLOSELY CONTESTED TRACK MEET

Newton High Beaten by Medford High by the Score of 43 to 34

The Newton High Track team, regarded as one of the best school boy track teams in New England, was defeated last Friday afternoon at the Huntington school gymnasium in Boston, by its closest rival for first honors, Medford High. The score was 43 to 34 with most every event closely contested.

The largest crowd that has ever seen a dual meet at the gym was on hand and interest was at fever heat until the relay race, the final event, was completed.

It was a dual meet that will long be remembered and there was no question but what Medford High was the better team.

Medford High won because of marked superiority in the field events, especially the standing broad jump and running high jumps, where it obtained 14 of the 18 points.

Newton High uncovered its best work in the sprints, runs and hurdles, especially the latter event, where it obtained a "slam." Parsley would have been the only hurdler on whom Medford could have counted, but he was unable to compete because of illness.

The greatest achievement of the meet was the exceptional work of Joseph Kelley of Medford High, who turned in 1m. 22.1-5s for the 600-yard run. Since the Greater Boston interscholastic meet, Saturday, Kelley had been confined to his home with the grippe and considering this, his feat was remarkable.

Capt. Ward Crooker of Medford High was the real hero of the day when he captured two first places, in the standing broad jump and the 12-pound shotput. Julius Kohler of Newton, who was second in the State-wide meet one year ago and also second in the Greater Boston meet one week ago Saturday, was picked to win the broad jump, but Crooker leaped 9 ft., 7 1/2 in., a noteworthy performance. The second individual high point scorer was Kohler, who registered 8 1/2 points.

Harrington Moore of Medford and Capt. Wesley Dicks of Newton High scored eight points apiece.

There was more or less discussion prior to the meet concerning the hurdle event, but that matter was settled satisfactorily by Messrs. Kendall of Medford and Dickinson of Newton. It was finally agreed to toss a coin to see whether the event should be run inasmuch as no agreement had previously been made concerning it, and Newton High called the turn of the coin.

The relay race, the final event of the day, was the most spectacular race of the meet and was captured by Newton High. Kelley did not run for Medford in this event.

Moore ran first for Medford against Kohler of Newton and opened up a fair lead, which he handed over to Risman. Howard Weeks, however, cut that down and passed over five yards to Walter Ryall, Newton's third runner, who in turn gave about the same distance to Walter McQuiston, his anchor runner, over Henry Hormel, the Medford anchor. Hormel was chuck full of grit and fight and he gradually cut down the Garden City lad's margin and it was a great race to the tape, McQuiston barely nosing out Hormel by inches.

The final heat of the 45-yard dash was closely contested, with Harrington Moore earning first place by inches over Howard Weeks of Newton and Julius Kohler of Newton.

The 300-yard run was well contested between Hormel and Moore, both of Medford, although Walter Ryall of Newton, had the pole. Hormel and Moore fought it out and the former won by inches.

Prior to the 600-yard run it was not a certainty that Joe Kelley would be permitted to run because of his recent illness, but he finally assured the Medford authorities that he was all right and proved it by going out early in the race and winning over Capt. Wesley Dicks of Newton High by about 15 yards. Dennis Chase of Medford, a recruit, nosed out Barba of Newton for third place.

It looked as though Newton High would have everything its own way in the 1000-yard run. Capt. Wesley Dicks of Newton, the favorite, and McNeill, also of Newton, went out and held first and second places. Finally Gahan of Medford jumped them and that broke up the combination and enabled "Con" Stewart and Orpin, both of Medford, to figure in the race. Dicks, true to expectations, let loose and won the event about as he pleased. Stewart was second and Orpin a good third.

Medford took first and second places in the running high jump when Harold Moody and Tatton tied at 5 ft., 3 in. Capt. Ward Crooker hurled the 12-pound shot 39 ft., 4 in., which gave him first place over Kohler of Newton. The standing broad jump was close at all times and Ward Crooker once again came into the limelight when he did 9 ft., 7 1/2 in., his best effort ever. Kohler could not do any better than 9 ft., 6 in. The summary:

45-yard Dash—Won by Harrington Moore, Medford; Howard Weeks, Newton, second; Julius Kohler, Newton, third. Time, 5.2-5s.

45-yd Low Hurdles—First heat, won by Walter McQuiston, Newton; James Duane, Newton second; time, 6.1-5s. Second heat, won by Bauchmann, Newton; Howard Weeks, Newton second; time, 6.1-5s. No final, as only Newton athletes qualified.

300-yard Run—Won by Henry Hormel, Medford; Harrington Moore, Medford, second; Walter Ryall, Newton, third. Time, 36.4-5s.

600-yard Run—Won by Joseph Kelley, Medford; Wesley Dicks, Newton, second; Dennis Chase, Medford, third.

FAREWELL RECEPTION

Rev. Francesco Argento was tendered a touching reception by his Italian and American friends of West Newton at the Second Church, on the evening of Washington's Birthday. Mr. Argento is to be the minister of the French congregation of the Union Church in Boston.

A committee of twenty-seven Italian men greeted Mr. and Mrs. Argento at the door of the Church as they entered. These guests of honor then passed between two hundred Italian and American friends to a position at the front of the auditorium, where they stood while the national anthem of these countries were played.

There were several speakers who congratulated Mr. Argento on the excellent work he had done in Newton the past eight years and wished him "bon voyage" in his new work. It was made clear that Mr. Argento would always find a welcome home among his West Newton friends as often as he might return.

Among the speakers were Mr. B. Iarossi, Chairman of the Committee, who was also chairman of the evening. He presented Mr. Argento with a large photograph of the Milan Cathedral and a set of four French Classics; to Mrs. Argento, he gave a bouquet of carnations.

Rev. J. Edgar Parke, Mr. Daniel Barbo, Mr. Harlan D. Crowell, Mr. Burratino, Dr. N. Emmons Paine, and Mr. J. Vassile made brief addresses.

Music was furnished by Mr. and Miss Caruso. Mr. John Vassile acted as stage director in the presentation of two brief plays. He together with Leo Barbo, and Misses Gianferanti and Cercioli in the leading roles, represented through the drama the value of the work which Mr. Argento had been doing. The second play, given in English, was a farce, entitled "Thirteen Guests to Dinner," the leading parts being taken by Miss Eva Cavallo and Misses Gianferanti and Cercioli.

Time, 1m., 22.1-5s.

1000-yard Run—Won by Wesley Dicks, Newton; Cornelius Stewart, Medford, second; Orpin, Medford, third. Time 2m., 36.3-5s.

Running High Jump—Tie for first place between Harold Moody, Medford, and Tatton, Medford, height 5 ft., 3 in.; Walters, Newton High, third, height 5 ft., 2 in.

TEACHERS' LECTURE COURSE

The committee in charge of teachers' courses for the school year 1922-23 has arranged three series of lectures. Two have already been completed, both of a technical, scientific, nature, of interest only to teachers. The third begins Thursday, March 8th, at 2.30 o'clock in the Technical High School Hall.

The coming course of six lectures will be non-technical in language and the doors are to be opened to include citizens and parents who are eager to gain a grasp of the most useful and most talked about subject today, "Practical Psychology." Money has not been spared in securing the best authority in our country as leader, Earle Barnes of Philadelphia. His is not a new face to Newton audiences and the announcement that this course is to be open to the public will be received with joy.

Mr. Barnes was educated at the State Normal School, Oswego, N. Y., Indiana State University, Cornell University, and the University of Zurich. His life has been devoted to education, all work and he is regarded as an authority in educational matters. He was Professor of European History in Indiana State University, 1890-1892, and Professor of Education in Leland Stanford Junior University, 1892-1897. Professor Barnes lived seven years in European countries and during that time delivered lectures at the Universities of London, Oxford, Manchester, Birmingham, Leeds, at the Welsh Universities, and before various other organizations in England, Scotland, and Wales. In recent years he has lectured extensively throughout the United States. As a speaker he is stimulating to a high degree, fearless and forceful, always compelling the closest attention. He is the author of "Studies in Education," a series of monographs dealing with the psychology of childhood, and of "Where Knowledge Falls," and "Woman in Modern Society." Professor Barnes has made psychology a special study and may be regarded as an expert in the subject.

In his last letter to Mr. Harlan D. Crowell, Chairman of the Committee on Arrangement of Professor Courses for Teachers, Mr. Barnes writes from Galveston, Texas, "Tonight in this Southern town, we filled the big hall and a hundred people stood. Psychology is a craze over the country now. I do not know why and I have never seen anything like it before."

Course tickets may be obtained through any teacher or master in our public schools. A special list of books to be read in preparation for or during the course is also available for the asking. Newton folk are heartily welcomed to these lectures.

A horsepower is the amount of energy required to lift a weight of 550 pounds one foot in one second.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

There was a large delegation of Newton ladies at the hearing this week before Judiciary on Wednesday, on the bill to require hearings in the local police courts on cases involving moral turpitude by minors. The Newton Federation of Womens Clubs had endorsed this bill and the committee room was well filled by those interested. Judge Thomas Weston conducted the case for the petitioners and among the speakers were Mrs. Frances S. Henry, President of the Federation, Mrs. Carrie Hull, of the Welfare Bureau, Mrs. Celia Wellman, Probation officer, Mr. Herbert C. Parsons of the Probation Commission, Senator Rice and Representative Early, while representatives of the various local clubs recorded themselves in favor. The writer was engaged in another important hearing and came in too late to speak on this bill. The committee must have been favorably impressed with the hearing as an almost immediate favorable report was ordered on the bill.

The most important piece of legislation this week was the passage by the House without change of the budget for 1923 as submitted by the Ways and Means Committee. This action is highly complimentary to the work of that important committee.

The budget carries a total amount of $48,425,093.69 for general purposes and $2,652,524.00 for Metropolitan District expenses. The budget carries an item of a little over a million dollars for extraordinary and supplementary matters and will require a state tax of twelve millions, the same as last year.

Newton residents will be interested in the proposed plans to extend the Boyston street subway to a point beyond the present terminus at Kenmore station, in order to avoid the present very serious traffic congestion at present at that place.

The plan under consideration provides for extension of the subway beyond Kenmore station—out Beacon street, to Audubon circle and out Commonwealth avenue, to Blandford street near Temple Israel. As it extended out Beacon street the tunnel would cut under the Boston & Albany road's tracks over which the Beacon street Bridge extends, just north of Mountfort street. Its bottom is now at about this level. After it passes the railroad line, the incline to Audubon circle would begin.

Those handling the plans are convinced that the loop system could be effectively used in connection with the extension, by which traffic up and downtown could be greatly speeded by introduction in the Subway run of three-car or four-car trains—made up of the present type of car, with trailers.

In the outlying loops in either of the thoroughfares named would be spacious platforms for the accommodation of cars to and from Brighton, Newton,

WINTER RALLY

Interesting Exhibition by Norumbega Boy Scouts with Troop 4 Winning First Place

With a large number of interested visitors present, the Scouts of Norumbega Council held their Winter Rally and Contest in the High School Gymnasium on Wednesday evening, of last week. Contests in First Aid, Knot Tying, Signaling and Equipment were entered, with Troop 4 of Newton Highlands securing the victory, and Troop 9 of West Newton Second Place. Troop 11 of Newton demonstrated the value of Scout Training by erecting a signal tower, building of suitable fires for camp cooking and heating, pyramid building, neckerchief uses, etc.

Trophies awarded to Troops were as follows: To Troop 4 of Newton Highlands, Mr. Frank E. Lichtenhaeler, Scoutmaster, the Eddy Swimming Shield for Troop prowess in Swimming. To Troop 1 of Newtonville the Efficiency Trophy presented by Mr. W. S. Radway of Chestnut Hill, for all round Troop Efficiency. To Troop 1 in Newtonville, Mr. Richards W. Cotton, Scoutmaster, the Marksmanship Cup, presented by Mr. Pierce of Newtonville for the best scores made by any one team among Norumbega Council Troops.

Scouts Luther S. Moore and Wallace MacPherson both of Troop 1 Newtonville, were awarded the Life and Star Badges in Merit Badge work, while Scouts Franklin Colbigh and Robert Patterson of Troop 4 Newton Highlands, were presented the Life Badges.

Reservoir, etc. Passengers would be more than compensated for making the change at either loop by the rapidity with which the trains could be moved up and down town.

Considerable interest was manifested in New bills heard this week by Election Laws in regard to modification and abolition of the direct primary election. The writer has a bill in which the direct primary is retained for the nomination of party candidates for Governor, Lieutenant Governor, United States Senator and Congressmen and state senators and representatives and providing for the nomination on all other party candidates by a convention system in which only the elected delegates or elected alternates would be permitted to take part. This bill seems to be a fair compromise and may get a chance to become law.

The matter of bill board advertising was heard this week on a bill to give more power to local authorities. Considerable criticism was made of the Department of Public Works and Mr. Lyman of that department re-

Hon. Edwin O. Childs, Mayor of Newton made a short straight to the point address upon the big things in Scouting, and expressed his personal appreciation of the work done by Scout Executive Sharratt and other officers of the Council.

Mr. Jerome M. Carley, of Newton acting as Chairman of the programme introduced to the Council Mr. William Beach Pratt who would commence his duties as Scout Commissioner on March 1st. Mr. Pratt was formerly Scoutmaster of Troop 2 Wellesley, before the War, and many are the expressions of appreciation heard on every side as a result of Mr. Pratt's decision to accept the commission-ship. An enthusiastic organization will support Mr. Pratt in this new venture. The new Headquarters office will be 763 Washington street, Newtonville, where ample facilities will be on hand to render the boys of Newton and Wellesley the training advantages of the Scout Movement.

After an interesting evening, the Rally closed with every one present repeating the Scout Oath: On my honor I will do my best:

1. To do my duty to God and my country, and to obey the Scout Law;
2. To help other people at all times;
3. To keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight.

tailated by saying that the matter had been held up by the procrastination of the Newton city government. We will give a more detailed account of this situation next week.

The committee on Public Health has formally voted to take no action on all bills before it relating to vaccination, making a 50-50 compromise with those who wished vaccination extended and those who wanted it curtailed or abolished.

Savings deposited here are always available, tax exempt, accumulate rapidly, invested only in first mortgages.

Dividends for the past 26 years have been at the rate of 5 3/4% compounded quarterly, equalling 6% simple interest, with only small withdrawal profit retained for first five years.

High School Notes

Newton mermen will meet the Malden swimmers in the Y. M. C. A. tank in Newton on March 2. Although Newton will be handicapped by the loss of Kimball, Terzis and Campbell, they will give the Malden swimmers a tough battle for honors.

It must be remembered that the swimming team is a newly organized branch of athletics in Newton and it is meeting with great favor by faculty and students alike.

The Girls' Ice Hockey team has held its practice games regularly throughout the season when weather permitted, and by the attendance it has proven to be a great success.

Preparations for the publishing of the Senior Number of the "Dynamo," the Technical High School paper, are under way. This issue will contain the pictures of class officers and active members with statistics of each.

It is estimated that the proceeds from the Technical High School Senior Play, "Fanny and the Servant Problem" will exceed $500.

Members of the Classical High School will give a dance in the "Gym" on Friday afternoon.

Stearns School

Mrs. Louise Sprague Eaton, of Worcester, and Miss Marie Laffie of West Newton, gave a very delightful entertainment at Stearns School Centre, on Wednesday evening, Feb. 28. Members of the Mothers' Club, the Newton Girls' Club and the Junior Girls' Club attended the meeting and cocoa and sandwiches were served by Mrs. Porter, Mrs. Bland, Mrs. Dath, Miss Dolly Morrison, Miss May Boudrot, and Miss Ruth Lavoie. Mrs. Eaton read and recited selection in Irish and Scotch dialect, and Miss Laffie sang a group of attractive songs, accompanied by Mrs. Eaton.

The Brownie Pack of Stearns School Centre has begun its spring program at the meeting on Monday, Feb. 26th. Sixers Alice Phelps, Charlotte Towle, Margaret Williams, Mary Clark, Alice Barney, and Mary Nailer have begun instructions in second-class tests for Junior Scouts, under the supervision of the Wise Brown Owl, Miss Mary Sprague. Stories were told at the Monday meeting by Sixer Williams.

Miss Pauline Yetten has accepted a position as head worker at the Stearns School Centre and began her duties Thursday. Miss Yetten has been a worker in the Trinity Neighborhood House in East Boston, and has also studied settlement work at Simmons College.

The Boy Scouts were fortunate in having a Court of Honor held in our own hall last Friday evening. The Mayor was present and gave out the badges. The following boys took the examination and were made second-class Scouts: Henry Farrell, Melvin Westgate, John McCarthy, Robert Morris, Henry Casey, Louis Vassalotti, Louis Landry.

Mason School

The eighth grade is interested in making a design for a cushion or pillow that may be used in hammock, canoe, or in the home. The design is to be applied in color to linen in the natural tint, and bids fair to be very attractive.

The regular class meeting of grade eight, held Monday morning, celebrated Longfellow's anniversary with poems and a short account of his life. A debate followed on the question of a Junior High for Newton Centre. The affirmative won by a large majority.

The class in arithmetic was greatly favored by a clear-cut, pleasing talk on the brokerage business by Mr. W. E. Hills of Elmwood street, on Tuesday morning.

The third number of the school paper, "The Masonian," came out on Wednesday.

On Sunday afternoon from five to seven the Seniors will give a Japanese tea in the Gymnasium, which will be made very festive with costumes and decorations appropriate to the occasion.

The Vesper speaker on Sunday, at 6.15 will be Dr. Raymond Calkins of the First Church in Cambridge.

NEWTON Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Mr. F. O. Stanley will be the speaker at the Fellowship Club at the Y. M. C. A. on Monday evening, March 5th. He will begin speaking about seven o'clock. His subject will be "Violins."

Mr. John H. Geldart, Newton's Y. M. C. A. representative in China, is now Acting General Secretary at Soo Chow, a city of 800,000 inhabitants. He writes that in Soo Chow, with its narrow streets, there is not a single motor car or even a motor cycle, no city water system, no street cars, and no Chinese building of more than two stories. But there is a great wall, a dozen miles in length, the largest padoga in the world, and unlimited opportunity to serve the young men and boys.

Mr. Geldart's nearest foreign neighbors are 15 minutes away. His five boys play together in the big compound in which they live, attend their own home school, and make up for lack of companions by looking after their pets, 2 dogs, 2 cats, 3 birds, and 2 rabbits.

Mr. Geldart, before he went to China, lived in Newton and was a student at the Newton Theological Institution.

NEWTON RED CROSS

During the past six months, the citizens of Newton, through the Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross, have contributed liberally of clothing and money for relief work in Smyrna and surrounding territories.

Two large shipments of used clothing, comprising several thousand garments, have been shipped and are by this time probably distributed and in use.

The national headquarters, through its Executive Committee, has expended up to the 1st of February, $2,333,536 for relief of refugees in Asia Minor. Over half a million refugees are being fed daily and large shipments already received assure an adequate food supply until April.

Last October, Dr. A. Ross Hill, Vice-Chairman, in charge of foreign operations, went to Greece and has just returned to Washington.

Once again the American Red Cross has come to the relief of suffering humanity and Newton, as usual, has contributed liberally and done its share of the work.

IN THE NAME OF THE LAW

The days of lampooning the police in motion pictures are over. For years the men who patrol the streets of the country, who risk their lives to safeguard our homes and our property, have been made the butt of comic films that make them appear like anything but human beings; that poke fun at their work and their families' and, in short, make the policeman a laughing stock.

Now comes a motion picture which shows the policeman in the right light. It is called "In the Name of the Law" and is being distributed through out the country. Thousands of big theatres are showing it; hundreds of police chiefs and thousands of policemen have given it their heartiest endorsement and for the first time the public is being shown just what sort of a man the average policeman is, how he lives at home, how he rears his family and by what fine motives he is actuated in the daily performance of his duties.

"In the Name of the Law" which will be shown at the Community Theatre on March 5-6-7, was made for the main purpose of entertaining the millions of men and women and children who patronize moving picture theatres. But its purpose goes also beyond the mere idea of entertainment. It is a big human drama, of swift action.

It unfolds a tale of poignant humaneness. It tells a story about Policeman Patrick O'Hara and his family, consisting of Mother O'Hara, who is the bustling type of lovable housewife, and their two fine sons, Harry and Johnnie. An adopted daughter, Mary, plays an important role in the picture and about this family group has been woven a story of striking appeal.

Policemen, the country over have given "In the Name of the Law" their heartiest approval because it shows for the first time on record the sweet home life of a policeman's family. It depicts the years of toil during which a policeman and his devoted wife save diligently and at last put away sufficient money to buy a home. It shows how firmly they both stand in the big crisis of their lives.

In the cast are such capable players as Emory Johnson, who produced the picture; Ralph Lewis, who appears as Officer O'Hara; Ella Hall, Johnnie Walker and others.

The only attendant of the bride was Miss Pauline Hay of Stoneham, Mass., and the only attendant of the groom, was Mr. John Whitley of Somerville.

After their wedding journey, Mr. and Mrs. Moody will make their home at 193 Walnut street, Newtonville, where they will be glad to receive their friends after March 5th.

The bridegroom is a member of the Masonic Lodge of North Cambridge, and also of the Elks.

DEATH OF MR. CHILD

Mr. William B. B. Child, for more than half a century an insurance underwriter in Boston and an expert on marine insurance, died Sunday, at his home, 258 Lowell avenue, Newtonville, after a fortnight's illness.

He was born in Boston, May 6, 1851, and entered the insurance business when a young man. For more than 57 years he had been active in that profession, specializing in marine insurance, of which he had made a long study. He established the W. B. B. Child & Co. insurance agency 32 years ago. The company, located at 137 Milk street, will continue under the management of his junior partner, Stanley O. MacMullen.

Mr. Child was a member of the Church of the New Jerusalem and of the New Church Club, a director of the Massachusetts New Church Union, the Mount Pleasant Home and the Lynn Neighborhood House.

He leaves a widow, Mrs. Clara W. Child, whom he married 50 years ago last October, and a daughter, Mrs. Edward O. Woodward of Newtonville. The funeral was held on Tuesday at the Church of the New Jerusalem, Newtonville.

Rev. John Goddard, of the Church of the New Jerusalem assisted by Rev. John Byboll officiated.

OUR DEBT TO THE CAVE MAN

One of Most Eloquent Passages in Literature.

One of the most eloquent passages in American literature is William James' tribute to the cave man, says the Detroit News. He wrote: "Bone of our bone and flesh of our flesh, are these half-brutish prehistoric brothers. Girded about with the immense darkness of this mysterious universe even as we are, they were born, and died, suffered and struggled. Given over to fearful crime and passion, plunged in the blackest ignorance, preyed upon by hideous and grotesque delusions yet steadfastly serving the profoundest of ideals in their fixed faith that existence in any form is better than non-existence, they ever rescued triumphantly from the jaws of ever-imminent destruction the torch of life which, thanks to them, now lights the world for us."

"How small indeed seem individual distinctions when we look back on these overwhelming numbers of human beings panting and straining under the pressure of that vital want. And how inessential in the eyes of God must be the small surplus of the individual's merit, swamped as it is in the vast ocean of the common merit of mankind dumbly and undauntingly doing the fundamental duty and living the heroic life. We grow humble and reverent as we contemplate the prodigious spectacle."

OMENS OF ANCIENT ROMANS

How They Observed Birds and Cut Up Animals to Find Out "The Signs."

The ancient Romans believed in signs. When they wanted to know whether to do this thing or that, they tried to find out "the signs." Some persons looked at birds flying overhead. Others cut up animals, to see what "signs" were inside.

Perhaps most interesting of all was the custom of keeping certain chickens and calling them sacred. If someone wanted to know if a plan would succeed, he tried to feed the chickens. If they ate heartily, it was a good sign. If they refused to eat, the plan was probably given up.

When a Roman died, food and drink were placed beside his body in the tomb. Animals were sacrificed, and milk or wine was thrown on the ground. This was repeated every year. If the relatives forgot, the soul was supposed to become evil and to bring bad luck.

Animals were sacrificed in honor of the gods, as well as for the spirits of men. Pigs, oxen, and sheep were the creatures most often killed. Flour and salt were sprinkled over each animal, its head was covered with cloths, and then the priest raised a large knife or an ax for the death-dealing blow. Prayers were said by those looking on. The bones and fat were placed on the altar and burned.

Dictionary Long Time in Making.

For three centuries some of the foremost literary men of France have been working at a book that is not yet completed, nor, presumably, ever will be. They are the forty "immortals" of the French academy, and the book is their French dictionary. The French academy, says the Mentor magazine, was founded early in the Seventeenth century by a group of young men who wished to purify and embellish the language. They undertook to publish a dictionary, a rhetoric, and a grammar. In 1694 the dictionary was published, but the first part of it was then already out of date, and needed revision. And so it has gone ever since. Members are elected for life. They seek entrance and must visit each of the thirty-nine members in turn when seeking admission.

Mesopotamia Still Picturesque.

Mesopotamia, land of the Garden of Eden and Mt. Ararat, is just as much a picturesque region as when Cain and Abel were boys, but it is almost overshadowed by its historical setting, says a National Geographic society bulletin.

Along the Tigris river are boats which look more like tubs. They are made of wicker, from 5 to 10 feet in diameter, and are tarred to make them waterproof. They are called "zoofas." Other water craft are rafts with blown-up goat skins attached to give them buoyancy.

This is a land of dates. There are date trees everywhere there are any trees at all. Every courtyard, the secluded scene of family life, has its date trees, and trees and cupolas form a quaint skyline.

The First Lesson.

"What is your attitude toward the unemployment situation?"
"One of hopeful expectancy," said Mr. Cobble.
"How is that?"
"I believe when my boy has leaved a few months longer he'll quit adorning his college diploma, slam it down in the bottom of his trunk and go out to look for a regular job."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

His Plan.

"Them two kids of mine look so much alike," admitted an Arkansas father, indicating his twin sons, "that 'bunch' I ain't got a notion to carve their initials on their shells, or do something that-a-way, so's I can tell 'em apart from which."—Kansas City Star.

JUNIOR ALLIANCE HOME JOURNAL

Two very successful performances of the Junior Alliance Home Journal were given to enthusiastic audiences last Friday afternoon and evening, in Channing Church parlors. Elizabeth Peterson, as Dolly Varden, made a charming cover design. Patty Niles, as door-keeper, opened the cover to admit the features one by one as they turned arrived, and recited Eugene Field's poem, "Sugar Plum Tree." Then came advertisements, Wrigley's P. K. impersonated by Mary Harrington and Jean Murray. Campbell's Soup, as Eola Niles and Elizabeth Russell, as Lux, Eleanor Rackliffe, Edith Pearson, Mary McPherson. Anna Bartlett then gave "A Conversation over the Phone," which was followed by the "Ballad of Mary Jane," done in shadow pantomime by Harriet Murray, Katherine Holmes, Dorothy Griffen, Lorraine Deffen, to say nothing of the cow, Ralph L. Angier danced and sang "Timbuctoo." The next number was an illustrated reading, "Wanted a Wife," in which the parts were taken by Harriet Murray, Eola Niles, Anna Bartlett, and Ralph Angier. The Letters to the Editor were read by Mrs. E. M. Moore. The feature story was the play, "The Sign in a Bottle," very well done by Frances Niles, Mrs. Ralph Bartlett, Alice Barney, Elizabeth Rees, Constance Elliott, Ruth Pearson, Anna Bartlett, Marjorie Shaw. For the closing advertisements, the Gold Dust Twins, in the persons of Norman Drummond, and Edward Mellus, scrubbed the floor with desired effect. The children's play, "The Sign in a Bottle," Mary Harrington made a hit as Melting the food babies, and Hoor's ice cream girls came right down out of the magazine among the audience to serve their wares, followed by all the other little advertisers. The Junior Alliance is grateful to all who helped to make the entertainment a success and especially to Mrs. Ralph W. Angier, who presided at the piano. A substantial sum was netted for local needs and for the Children's Mission.

POLICE NOTES

Saben F. Fleury, aged 37, an enlisted man at the Watertown Arsenal, was in court Wednesday morning, charged with being drunk and with operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. He was arrested in Newtonville Square by Patrolman J. J. Foristall. He was fined $100 on the charge of operating by Judge Bacon and the drunkenness charge was filed.

Pat White, Elevated starter at the Watertown car-barns, made a costly comeback the other day, when, as he alleges, Patrolman John E. Green asked him, "How's all the bums in Watertown?" Pat White answered, "I don't know any bums in Watertown, now that you are living in Newton."

Pat was shopping in a Newton Corner market. Patrolman Green entered, according to the testimony in court, and asked the above question. He resented White's answer and in the ensuing argument the pair touched on so many topics, such as financial standing, personal credits, ancestry, reputation, habits, that the proprietor of the store asked the men to step outside and finish it.

Patrolman Green went over to Patrolman Cain, who was standing in the square, and asked him to arrest White for being drunk and for creating a disturbance. Cain refused, saying the man was not drunk. White boarded a car and went to work, while Green went to Police Headquarters and secured a complaint against White for creating a disturbance.

Attorney James Cannon represented White, and among the witnesses summoned to court was Patrolman Cain, who testified that White was not drunk.

Judge Bacon found the man guilty and fined him $10. He appealed.

D. A. R.

The Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter, D. A. R., met at the home of Mrs. S. E. Emery in Newton Highlands on Tuesday, February 27th, 1923. The Regent presided. After the regular business meeting vocal selections were rendered by Mrs. H. P. Forté, accompanied by Mrs. William Glover at the piano. Miss Flora Cobb then read a paper on "Women of the Renaissance." Many interesting facts concerning the traditions and customs of the Renaissance period were set forth by Miss Cobb. Refreshments were served by the hostess. There were 27 members and guests present.

ST. JAMES THEATRE—The Boston Stock Company the week in the Fox and Robertson drama, "The Passing of the Third Floor Back," will bring to the St. James another interesting revival. For four years Forbes-Robertson toured American in this play, acting it in every city of note. The play is a classic of the stage, and enjoys wide popularity. Walter Gilbert will assume another character role, that of The Stranger. Miss Bushnell will play Stasia, while the full strength of the Boston Stock Company and an augmented cast will lend support.

CREDIT TO WHOM?

Memory Test Concerning Popular Quotation.

Who Will Come Forward With Proof as to Authorship of Words Ascribed to Many?

Who said: "There, but for the grace of God, go I." * * * Having asked practically every one we know and also some we did not know we have discovered ourselves to be as wise as when we started.

Eminent theologians, quite naturally it seemed to us, should have been the authorities from whose decision there could be no appeal on this question. Several of them, questioned, knew, but had for the moment forgotten. They were to let us know, says a Hartford Courant writer. We have not heard from them. Others, not having forgotten, told us. If we had stopped with one all might have been well, but seeking corroborative testimony—a fellow worker having put the matter on a sporting basis, as it were, by betting $1 that John Bunyan said it—we went further and asked several of the eminent clergymen. Those who told us had so many favorites that we were more bewildered and amazed than when we began. John Milton, John Bunyan, John Wesley, Sir Isaac Newton, Francis Bacon, Samuel Johnson, Dr. John Donne, Bishop Hall, Dean Swift—we could not believe that Dean Swift would have said that—Isaac Watts and Bishop Berkeley, those are some that we recall.

Eminent literary men, appealed to, were equally certain they knew and did not in all cases disguise an amused contempt that we should ask a question when the answer was of a nature that should spring spontaneously to the lips of the educated, but their choices were as varied as those of their eminent brothers in another field of endeavor. About the only addenda to the lists given by the clergymen that we recall were Alexander Pope, Ben Jonson—we know he did not say it—William Pitt, Earl of Chatham, Sydney Smith and Thomas a Kempis; but they, when pressed, produced no documentary evidence.

A pebble cast into the Pacific at California will start in motion a wave that finally breaks upon the distant Asian shore, we have heard—we do not know who said that either, nor do we believe it—and in a somewhat similar fashion our query began to involve others. A young woman hearing of the quest kindly called up to inform us that Francis Bacon had said it. We asked her how she knew. She had attended a lecture shortly before and the lecturer had quoted the phrase and ascribed it to the man who once remarked that God Almighty planted the first garden. Somewhat to her surprise we asked if she could possibly get in touch with the lecturer and ascertain where the quotation with its credit might be found. The lecturer, it later developed, was certain of the fact, but could produce no authority for it. That started the young woman on a search among all the books of quotations that were ever written and are still extant in Hartford.

One person insisted somewhat tediously and with no reservations that Milton said it. Perhaps he did, but aside from discovering that the blind poet once remarked that

For contemplation he and valor formed
For softness she and sweet attractive grace, Grace was in all her steps, Heaven in not to mention
And grace that won who say to wish her stay,
we were unable to find that he was ever guilty of the bombastic and uncalled remark under discussion.

And so it went, and so it goes. Perhaps some day we will know, but we have nearly given up hope.

A Little Different.

John, a senior in high school, has recently "acquired a girl," whom his father finds an added expense. The other evening he remonstrated with his son for spending so much money on the girl. "You didn't have to do that way in my day," he said. "I went to see my girl, she set me up a good dinner, and then I fed her a little taffy, and she counted the evening a lot of fun."

"Well, times have changed since then," John returned. "I go out to see my girl now, she feeds me a little taffy, and I set her up a good dinner. And I'm not sure whether she counts that evening a lot of fun."—Indianapolis News.

Link With Famous Writer.

A link with Sir Walter Scott is the recent completion of the one hundred and twenty-fifth year of its existence of the Kelso (Scotland) Mail. The first printer, publisher and editor of the Mail was James Ballantyne, founder of the Ballantyne Press, Edinburgh, and the paper was founded on the advice and with the assistance of Scott, who was a school-fellow of Ballantyne at Kelso Grammar school. The first of Scott's works, including the first two volumes of "The Minstrelsy of the Scottish Border," were printed in the office of the Kelso Mail.

"The Mercury Went Down."

Little Girl (rushing into doctor's office).—Please, doctor, come at once to father. Mother's taken 'is temperance an' it's gone down.

LOWER BROADWAY AT NIGHT

Young Folk Stroll Through World-Famous Street and It Becomes a Lover's Lane.

Summer nights have turned lower Broadway, from Trinity churchyard to the Battery, into a sort of lover's lane, the New York Sun states. Breeze-blown and dusky and half deserted, strollers find it a pleasant place. They saunter past the windows that are occasionally lighted, showing somebody working late at a high desk over a big book, or hammering the keyboard of a type-writer.

They pass up and down, going by twos and by fours as nonchalantly as though they moved through a country lane. Their faces are thrown into a high light as they pass the street arcs.

For them all Trinity churchyard has an endless fascination. Fenced out by the dark they walk along the wall; they seem to watch the grave-stones. The stones shine white at night, the high cross in the center of the plot directly in front of the new Curb market building, is somehow more prominent than any of the high stone structures that surround the arches of the church.

The only thing that shows up as white is the front wall of the Curb market. It seems to rise directly at the back of the grass plot. The tracks of the elevated trains are visible. The five curved windows that light the second story look as if they were five entrances on the ground floor.

Through the crowd of strollers through the cool streets come occasional people who are anxious to get home.

About 10 o'clock a great many children come up through the street, some running and chattering, others so sleepy that they have to be dragged along by the mothers who are getting them home after an evening down at the park. Half of the children want a drink of water when they come to the Trinity church wall. So the women stop at the fountain built as a memorial to Ann Maria Cothel Swords. The children want to play in the water, the mothers want to get them home.

So for a few hours after dark downtown Broadway seems to belong to the past, to young lovers and to romping children. They come that way every warm day and the men, who sit silently on watch in corners of buildings and in doorways are generally glad to see them come.

Electric Flypaper.

The struggles of a fly caught on a sheet of tanglefoot paper are painful to witness. Perhaps, however, the insect undergoes no worse sufferings than when poisoned.

Why not kill the flies by electricity? John H. Turpin, of Bremerton, Wash., has invented a simple little machine for the purpose. You hang it on the wall and it does the rest. Bait, of any kind suitable, attracts the insects to a slot through which it is exposed to view and smell. The slot is a narrow elongated opening between two metal plates. When a fly crawls across from one of the plates to the other, it is instantly killed and falls into a little trough beneath. This happens because the plates are attached by binding posts to a couple of copper wires which pass through an electric cord connected to an ordinary plug, which is inserted in an electric socket. —Milwaukee Sentinel.

Standards of Youth.

Bobby's father was an organist of repute, a calling for which Bobby, at ten years old, felt a little apologetic when having occasion to explain it to his friends. A policeman, now, or a fireman, those are professions a fellow can boast about! One day he was overheard in conversation with a neighbor's son, who asked:

"Bob, does your father play?"

"Yes," admitted Bobby, without much enthusiasm.

"Well, what does he play, the cornet?"

"No," answered Bobby, half-heartedly. "He plays the organ."

"And does he sing?" persisted the small friend.

"Bad" Indian Gone.

Tse-ne-gat has passed on to the happy hunting grounds. This leader of the Plutes on their reservation was known to the government officials as the "Bolshevik Redskins" because of his tendency to precipitate uprisings. In 1915 he was accused of killing a Mexican sheep herder, and in resisting arrest he gathered about him nearly every lawless Indian within 500 miles of Bluff, Utah, where he maintained an inaccessible stronghold, from which he successfully defied the United States marshal's posse. Tse-ne-gat is said to have cost the government about $25,000 a year. He was one of the wealthiest Indians of the reservation.

Enough to Make a Saint Swear.

They were stalled seven miles from nowhere and John was using language that made the air blue, but which had no effect on his second-hand bus.

"Oh, John, do hush that awful language," exclaimed his wife—and John only said a few more things not printable. And was enjoying (not the spln with them, explaining: "In all the 25 years of our married life before John bought this fool, second-hand car, I never heard him utter an oath, and now his language would make the most hardened pirate blush for shame."—Brooklyn Eagle.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt

All those particularly concerned in the Newton Federation's bill now before the Legislature were more than gratified at its reception at the hearing on Wednesday morning before the Joint Judiciary committee. Judge Thomas Weston conducted the case for the petitioners. In addition to the Newton persons directly interested a number of representatives of social agencies spoke in favor of the bill, including Mrs. Jessie D. Hodder, superintendent of the Woman's Prison at Sherborn. It was with eminent satisfaction that it was learned afterwards that the committee had voted unanimously to report the bill. Club representatives turned out in full force and completely filled the committee room.

State Federation

In the President's letter in the March Federation Topics Mrs. Poole takes exception to a club president's reference to the "ordinary" club women for whom the Topics would have no particular interest. "The ordinary club woman," she avers, "makes up our club world. Only a very few, comparatively speaking, ever become chairmen or officers, and still I am sure that seventy-five percent of that group could serve the clubs in some special way if asked, or if thoroughly awakened to the call to club service. To want to serve and work, one first must have a knowledge of the work, and one of the avenues through which it comes is our Federation magazine. And so I am hoping that the majority of our club presidents feel that the Federation topics strengthens not only the work of the large federated body, but of the individual club as well. Can't you at every meeting give just one sentence, some salient point of work from some one department? Then the ordinary club woman who does not read the Topics will get just a little message."

Announcement is made in the March Topics that the executive board of the State Federation has accepted the invitation of the Newton Centre Woman's Club to hold the 1924 Spring Presidents' Conference in the new club house.

Presidents' Club

Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole will be the guest of honor and speaker at the meeting of the Presidents' Club, at Hotel Vendome, Wednesday, March 7, at two o'clock. Maude Huntington Benjamin has been loaned by the Professional Women's Club to give her reading of "Leah Kleschna." Tea will be served under the direction of Mrs. John F. Stackpole, of Arlington. The annual luncheon is announced for March 23, at one o'clock, at the same place.

Local Announcements

Tomorrow afternoon the Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club will meet with Miss Marion E. White, 61 Bowdoin street, when Mrs. F. S. Keith will be in charge of the study of The Tempest.

Monday, March 5, Mrs. C. F. Leatherbee, 100 Prince street, West Newton, will open her home for the meeting of the Newton Mothers' Club, acting with Mrs. Leatherbee as hostesses are Mrs. G. I. Jones, Mrs. H. D. Lloyd, and Mrs. E. F. Lovejoy. Rev. Paul S. Phalen, of West Newton, will speak on "The Church and the Home."

Rev. McIlvay H. Lichter, pastor of the Central Congregational church at Newtonville, will address the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club next Monday evening, March 5, on "Pillars of the Home." Rehearsals of the threeact comedy for the club's annual dramatics on April 9, are now being held.

In order to accommodate the increased numbers the Waban Woman's Club plans to hold the annual guest night next week in two installments,
Monday and Tuesday, March 5th and
6th. On each evening two short plays will be presented under the direction of Mrs. Walter A. Hosley: "Suppressed Desires," by Susan Glaspell, and "Cinderella Married," by Rachel Lyman Harris. The hospital committee, assisted by several other committees, has plans in progress for a food sale that afternoon. A special effort is being made to make this sale a financial success as it will take the place of the annual silver contribution for the Newton Hospital. Members sewing for the hospital will meet with Mrs. Robert E.
Hills, 949 Washington street, Thursday afternoon, March 8.

All who are familiar with John Clair Minor's columns of "Bookish Chat and Comment" in the Wednesday and Saturday "Herald," are looking forward with pleasure to his lecture on "What's What Among the New Books," scheduled for Tuesday afternoon, Mar.
6, before the Newtonville Woman's Club. The hospital committee, assisted by several other committees, has
plans in progress for a food sale that

made to make this sale a financial success as it will take the place of the

By arrangement of the conservation committee, Miss Susy A. Dickinson chairman, a lecture on "Mushrooms, Edible and Poisonous," illustrated by one hundred water color drawings will be given by Miss Lizzie C. Allen on Friday afternoon, March 16, at 2.45 o'clock. Miss Allen has been an ardent student of mycology for twenty years and has a painted collection of more than two thousand varieties of mushrooms. Through her kindness the proceeds will be added to the housing fund.

On Tuesday morning, March 6, the Auburndale Review Club will meet with Mrs. A. C. Farley, 251 Central street. Mrs. Robert Gilman will give a paper on Victor Hugo, and Mrs.
Henry R. Turner on Nathaniel Hawthorne.

Following the monthly business meeting of the Newton Social Science Club on Wednesday, Miss Sarah C.
Schlechter, community worker at the Stearns School Centre, will be the speaker.

The Community Service Club of West Newton will have a Lenten Musical in the Parish house of the Second church on Wednesday, March 7, at 2.30. The artists include the Charlotte White String Quartette, Mrs.
Frances Burr Mitchell, soloist, Mrs.
Barbara Werner-Schwaab, violin; Mr.
Huyman Buitkan, piano. Mrs. Clifton H. Dwinell, Mrs. Irving J. Fisher, Mrs. John A. Pine, Mrs. Ernest R.
Cooper will be the hostesses.

A delightful musicale has been arranged by the Music Committee, Miss Hattie H. Henry, the chairman, for the meeting of the Newton Community Club on February 8th. A trio of artists of unusual merit will furnish the instrumental music, Miss Beatrice Phinnney, harpist; Miss Irene Forté, violinist; Mrs. Emily Durette, "cellist," while the solo part of the program will be given by Mr. Charles W. Pearson, baritone, accompanied by Mrs.
George Owen. Following the program, tea will be served by the Social Committee, under the direction of Mrs.
Clifton S. Mason.

Members of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands are requested to note the change in date of meeting scheduled in the Year Book for March 6. The new date is March 9, the time
8 P. M., and the place Lincoln Hall.
Mr. Harris A. Reynolds, secretary of the Massachusetts Forestry Association, will speak on "Forests in the Making." Moving pictures of the destruction caused by forest fires, how the fires are fought and the reconstruction of the forests will be shown.
The meeting is under the auspices of the Conservation Committee. Mrs.
Joseph Allen, chairman, and it is especially hoped to interest students of the High School as well as club members. The program for the Motion Pictures to be given March 3, will include "The Soul Call," (showing many of our residents in the character parts), News weekly, and comedy films.
There will be three performances, 2.30,
6.30, and 8.45 P. M.

Every member of the Newton Centre Woman's Club has been asked to entertain, in some way during February or March, a group of the new Club members, or those who might wish to join, each guest to bring a silver offering. In this way the Activities committee hopes to promote a spirit of neighborliness and is calling these gatherings the Club's "Get Acquainted Parties." Under these auspices, Mrs. George R. Wance has invited the club members and their friends to a "Get Acquainted Party" on Wednesday evening, March 7th, at 8.15 in the Club House for a delightful concert. The artists will be Mme.
Esther Farravine Jacobia of the San Carlo Opera Co.; Mme. Antoinette
Szumowska, and Miss Frances Aldrich, interpretative dancers, and the Anders. This certainly offers a delightful opportunity of getting together.
On March 8th, at 10.30 A. M., Mrs.
Claude U. Gilson will lecture on Current Events; and on Saturday evening, March 10th, at the Club Guest night,
Angelo Patri will speak.

The Legislative committee of the West Newton Women's Educational Club, Mrs. William D. Keefe, chairman, has arranged an attractive program for the meeting on Friday,
March 9, at 2.30 P. M., in Players
Small Hall, Mrs. Edward Houlton James will read "The Fifteenth Candle," which is very good propaganda on extending the compulsory school age from fourteen to sixteen years.
There will be music by the Caparella children. It is hoped that a large number will attend and remain for the tea and social hour afterwards.

Local Happenings

Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney spoke Monday morning in the Albert Angier School hall on "Literature for Children." The lecture was given under the auspices of the Waban Woman's Club, the proceeds to go toward the furnishing of the Julia Ward Howe room, the Massachusetts room, at the General Federation Headquarters in Washington.

On Tuesday evening the Auburndale
Woman's Club held its annual Guest Night in the Auburndale Club House, which is proving to be such a valuable Community Centre for the village.
The new Auditorium was filled to capacity, and the entertainment, quite in keeping with the festive nature of the occasion was received with much enthusiasm. The Glee and Banjo Clubs of Boston University furnished a most enjoyable program, including readings and a group of xylophone solos of especial merit.

During the social hour which followed, refreshments were served, the large company being handled by a new and efficient traffic system. After the hall had been cleared of chairs, dancing to the persuasive strains of an orchestra from the Boston University Club was enjoyed till a late hour.

Mrs. Louis D. Gibbs gave a very fine paper before the Newton Social Science Club Wednesday morning, on "Modern France and Napoleon," in which she covered in a very comprehensive manner the rise and fall of Napoleon, the reigns of Louis XVIII, Charles X.,
Louis Philippe, and Napoleon III.
She paid particular attention to the period of the romantic movement in literature and art.

The Fashion Show put on by William Filene Sons Co. for the West Newton Woman's Education Club last Friday, was a great success. Miss Harriet Ainsworth's talk was helpful and full of interest.

Miss Ainsworth began by asking how many were satisfied with their wardrobes and she failed to find one, "Before going to purchase clothing," she urged, "study yourself, your frame, your neck, shoulders, waist line and hips, in other words, know your assets and liabilities. Do not be monotonous.
Do not allow the dress to be so elaborate that it will detract from the head and face."

Shades of brown from cork to a very dark brown are much in vogue, and green is also a very strong color.
Egyptian, Chinese and Persian effects greatly influence dress this spring.

Among the new shades are Madeleine Rose, almond and bavin green and purple red. Roshanara and flat crepe will be used, and waffle cloth for sport suits. Rainbow-ribbons will be quite in evidence, as will also the small accoridian plait and the Lord Fauntleroy sleeve. These members of the club served as models, Mrs. Earl Brackett, Mrs. Otto Schofield, Mrs.
Percival Waters, Mrs. Frederick E.
Waring; the younger figures were Leora Bacon, Betty Schofield and Martha Petersham. All made very graceful models. Miss Marion Hyde furnished the music.

A tea and social hour followed. The large number present appreciated the efforts of Mrs. Charles L. Anderson and her committee.

Mid-Winter Meeting Of the State Federation

Threatening skies did not deter the club women of Massachusetts from attending in record-breaking numbers
the mid-winter meeting of the State Federation, Tuesday, at the Somerville
High School, where nearly 1500 gathered, interest centering upon the legislative measures, both State and Federal, recommended for endorsement by the Executive Board. Before the prompt call to order the main floor was packed to capacity with delegates and the gallery overflowed with interested members. This coming together is ever a touchstone to enthusiasm.

The singing of "America, the Beautiful" and the salute to the flag were followed by a short, stirring address by the mayor, John M. Webster, whose welcome and hospitality was further extended by Miss Clara G. Hegan, chairman of the Council of Federated Clubs, the hostess of the day.

Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, president of the State Federation, in responding, stated that nine conferences and twenty-two legislative afternoons had been held throughout the State previous to this meeting. She made a plea for the completion of the Julia Ward Howe Fund of $2400 of which $1000 has been subscribed, before the Council Meeting at Atlanta, Georgia, in May.
She spoke of the loss of two valiant workers in the Federation in the passing of Mrs. W. H. Alline and Mrs. S.
W. Merrill, one of the directors.

Mrs. Joseph W. Atwill of Lynn, chairman of the State legislative department, presented the speakers. The five bills recommended for endorsement by the Executive Board included the bill providing for the erection of a new State Prison; one to provide wages for prisoners, a bill relating to the use of non-inflammable materials in the use of inexpensive portable picture machines in schools and colleges; legislation to provide for proper examination, classification, and treatment of convicted prisoners. The bill relative to Jury Service was presented as an educational measure. Federal measures included the resolution for the Child Labor Amendment introduced by Senator Lodge and later withdrawn in favor of one presented by Senator Mc-Cormick, calling for an amendment to the Constitution permitting legislation by Congress on the labor of persons under 18 years of age and women; and the principles of a uniform marriage and divorce law with education on the bill drawn by Mrs.
Edward F. White of Indianapolis.

Sanford A. Bates, Commissioner of Correction, spoke on House Bills 53 and 54 relative to a new State Prison, and Wages for Prisoners. He argued that a prison built 17 years ago, designed to carry out ideas of penology in 1895, couldn't carry forward ideas adopted as sound, in a different era.
No opponent was present, but a letter from the Lieutenant Governor was read by Mrs. Atwill, in which he expressed that there was no pressing need at present, and that the energy should be bent to curtail the tax rate.
The bill, however, was almost unan-

James A. Moynar, director of State University Extension, spoke on Senate Bill 94, regarding the use of educational motion pictures in schools and colleges. He said that it was impossible to use at present the educational films in small lecture rooms and stated that this bill had the support of every administrative organization in the state. The bill was endorsed with but nine in opposition.

A lively discussion bringing out many good points on each side came when Senate Bill 76, relating to the examination, classification and treatment of convicted prisoners, was presented by Cornelius Parker, author of the bill, and opposed by James P.
Ramsey, probation officer for Middlesex County, who preferred to use the money spent on keeping persons out of prison, rather than on examinations and reports after conviction. He emphasized strongly the teaching of Christian morality in the home. This bill was endorsed with 64 in opposition.

During the luncheon hour nearly 1000 of the guests were served in the new K. of C. banquet hall.

With the reconvening for the afternoon session a delightful program featuring community singing led by Mrs. Mabel F. Barstow, a cornet solo by Cleon Hopkins, and a group of songs by Mr. Charles W. Ellis was enjoyed. Four new clubs were next presented, including the Community Service Club of West Newton.

Among other important interests the Federation passed a resolution disapproving any change in the established wording of the salute to the Jury service was explained by Mrs. Jennie L. Barrow, who held her audience, at their request, past the closing hour with her arguments, giving her reasons and answering the so-called "hard excuses." In reply to the "Women don't want to serve," she asked, "Did you ever hear of the breathless eagerness among the men to serve on juries? It is a civil duty." With the report of the resolutions committee the meeting was adjourned.

HAS RARE VOLUME

American Proud Possessor of One of Oldest Books.

Believed to Have Been Printed in China Before Western Hemisphere Knew of Movable Type.

William Richard, former vice president of the American Numismatic society, who acquired two rare books during a trip to China several years ago, has announced after thorough investigation, his conviction that he has one of the rare books called the "Tanjur," or the Book of the Doctrine of the Tibetans.

For some time after he came into possession of the book, Mr. Richard looked upon it as only a curiosity without any particular worth, until he showed it to a friend, who urged him to investigate its origin. After more than a year studying the literature of Tibet and China, he found that the book was printed more than 1,000 years ago with movable type, at that time unknown in the western hemisphere. Mr. Richard says he has proved conclusively that the "Tanjur" was printed 700 years before the famous Gutenberg Bible, the first European book printed with movable type.

From an office boy for John D. Rockefeller Mr. Richard has come to residence in recent years in many foreign countries as representative of the Standard Oil company and other American firms. Before he left for the Orient, about eight years ago, he had one of the best stamp collections in this country, which he sold for $16,000.

"About five years ago I came into possession of the manuscript in Sanskrit, or, rather, in Devanagari, which in Tibetan is called the 'Tanjur,' the Sacred Book of Doctrine of the Tibetans," said Mr. Richard. "I came across it in a monastery at the same time that I found the 'Kanjur' at the border of Tibet. As no one there appeared to realize the value of the documents, I had no difficulty in obtaining them at a very low price. The only other 'Tanjur' in this country that I have positive knowledge of is in the American Museum of Natural History.

"The value of this rare book is said to differ according to the ink used. For instance, a copy in red is worth 108 times more than a copy in black; one in silver is more valuable than one in red, and one in yellow or gold is more highly prized than one in silver. The Manchu emperor of China, Kienlung, who flourished in 1796, had a copy of the 'Tanjur' which was said to have then been valued at $6,500."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Straws and Painted Lips.

"Somebody" or other said something "r other about straws showing which way the wind blows," remarked a soda fountain boy who served cool drinks to matinee girls and afternoon crowds; "but I know something that these soda-water straws point to."

"What do you know?" asked the girl assistant.

"I know that it's the girls with the pretty painted lips that use them. When a girl has just dilled herself all up in a carmine cupid's bow effect she can't afford to have it all washed off with a glass of soda water and a paper napkin—no sir! So she always uses a straw. Maybe that's how the poem, 'Prettiest girl I ever saw was drinking soda through a straw' started. Ask me about the girls who come here. I know."—Chicago Journal.

German Woman Lawyer.

A woman appeared as an attorney for the first time in the history of German criminal courts a few days ago, when Fraulein Dr. Munk of Berlin acted as defendant counsel for a man accused of a street robbery.

The incident was the subject of considerable comment, and it has been suggested that this may lead to the appearance of tailors specializing in the attire of feminine lawyers. In some quarters the view is held that the presence of woman attorneys may exert a moderating influence in courts, such as tempering retorts from opposing counsel, although others point out that such reprieve may be intensified if both opposing attorneys are women.

Fraulein Munk's cleverness and assurance in court created a distinctly favorable impression.

Weaving Industry of Peru.

A considerable increase in industrial activity is to be noticed in Peru. On the whole the textile industries have been the most successful, since cotton and wool are produced locally in quantities and qualities sufficient to ensure profitable results. The only other industries that have attained much importance include the manufacture of cottonseed oil, soap and candles. The cotton mills in Peru manufacture principally sail-cloth, flannel, cloth, towels and some other heavy goods. The total number of looms in operation is one thousand and fifteen, and the annual production is about fifteen million yards. The development of this industry will create a fairly good opening for cotton mill machinery. The woolen industry is also expected to expand.

Progress.

"Some day Crimson Gulch will be a great metropolis."

"Maybe," replied Cactus Joe. "We've got signs of improvement already. Hoss thieves have disappeared and taxicab robbers have took their place."

ALDERMEN MEET

Many Petitions for Changes in the Zoning Districts. Budget Received

The principal interest in the meeting of the aldermen on Monday evening was the presentation of the annual budget by Mayor Childs, the chief items of which are given in another column.

All the members but Alderman Tuckey were present and there was the usual grist of routine hearings. Objection was made to the location of Edison poles on Waban park.

No one appeared on petitions of Almarin Trowbridge for garage at 734 Centre street, on concrete sidewalks on Walnut street, Newton Highlands, and on taking land for sewer in Wamsit road, the Trowbridge petition being subsequently granted.

Messrs. W. I. Cornell and A. E. Rust spoke in favor of concrete sidewalks on Centre street, Newton Highlands, and Mr. L. B. Folsom favored a sewer in Plainfield street.

The widening of Centre street at Washington street by taking a 15-foot strip of land from Louis Levine was opposed by Messrs. J. S. Cannon for Mr. Levine, James W. French and M. O'Connor. Mr. French in answer to an inquiry estimated the expense at about $100,000.

There was considerable interest in the petition of James A. Parker et al that the land on the southerly side of Commonwealth avenue near Lake street be changed from the private residence to the general residence zone. Mr. M. S. Williams appeared in favor and said that if the change was made it was proposed to purchase this land and erect a first class hotel costing over a million dollars. The change was opposed by both Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Freshel, the owners of adjoining property.

Mr. Thomas J. Kenney appeared in favor of his petition that the land bounded by Commonwealth avenue, Walnut and Homer streets be changed from the private residence to the business district zone. Mr. Kenney said it was proposed to erect a block of four stores on Commonwealth avenue if the change was made. The petition was opposed by Mr. Albert M. Lyon of the Planning board, who pointed out that this land was under consideration for a park, playground, and as a site for either a Memorial Building or a new City Hall.

Mayor Childs submitted recommendations for additional land damages for land taken for the new Underwood school, for land taken for sewer in Hyde avenue, and for land taken for the rounding of Walnut and Beacon streets. He also recommended the payment of fire damages at the Eliot and Stearns schools from the Municipal Insurance Fund and this action was subsequently approved.

The mayor submitted claim of Henry Cormier for injuries to his son, request of the Buildings Department that $5000 be advanced for additional building inspectors and for new automobiles in that department, $1000 being subsequently approved for this purpose. The Street Commissioner recommended that Deputy Charles A. Peck be retired on a pension, the Sealer of Weights and Measures wanted the fee for peddlers fixed at $5 and the City Engineer recommended the widening of Commonwealth avenue near Irving street.

The Mayor's appointments of Simon A. White as a Measurer of Wood and of W. Clarence Lodge as an assistant assessor in place of E. H. Corey, Jr. resigned were immediately confirmed.

Petitions of Phillips Byfield, James W. French and T. W. Travis for auctioneer licenses, of J. E. Mullaney for a private garage, 36 Commonwealth park, Arthur DeGeorge and George McLaughlin for a truck license. The Telephone Co. for attachments on Belmont street, the Clark Motor Sales

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The special committee appointed by the Board of Directors of the Chamber to study traffic problems in Newton and make recommendations for a Traffic Ordinance to regulate vehicle traffic and established parking areas and one-way streets, has been active in the last two weeks making a survey of conditions in the city and studying the regulations of the other cities of the State for the purpose of preparing an ordinance in skeleton form to be submitted to the Aldermanic Committee on Traffic.

At the initial meeting of the committee it was the expressed opinion that in passing an ordinance vesting the Police Department with the power to enforce it the city would be meeting a long felt need. Various suggestions were made by members of the committee for specific regulations governing certain sections of the city.

Serious consideration is being given the conditions, evidently recently, wherein parking on some of the through streets of the city obstructs the way and prevents free passage to the Fire Department apparatus while answering calls. Restrictions which will do away with this near menace will be incorporated in the proposed ordinance.

The committee will hold another meeting in the near future at which the finished draft of the Chamber's recommendations will be drawn up and submitted to the Board of Aldermen.

Members of the Chamber's committee are, Former Alderman Henry D. Lloyd of Newton, chairman; Henry C. Robbins, President of the Waban Improvement Association, Fire Chief Walter B. Randlett, Chief of Police Bernard F. Burke and Street Commissioner George E. Stuart.

The Chamber Legislative committee, under the direction of Chairman Philip Nichols, is about to begin a study of the report of the State Commission on Municipal Expenditures and Taxation which has just recently been completed.

This report, prepared by a commission appointed by the Governor last summer, contains numerous recommendations for changes in the present State tax laws, and relative to the reducing and controlling of municipal expenditures. These recommendations will be taken under consideration during the present session of the Legislature.

It is the belief of Mr. Nichols that in addition to studying those legislative bills which directly or indirectly affect the City of Newton and voicing the Chamber's approval or dissent of the same; one of the most effective pieces of work which the committee can undertake is to make a clear and thoughtful study of the above mentioned report and be able to express the views of the Chamber membership on these bills when they are taken under consideration by the Legislature.

A meeting of the real estate dealers, contractors, master plumbers, master painters, electrical contractors, and all others engaged in the building and development activities of Newton, whether or not members of the Chamber, is to be held at the Newton Club this evening at eight o'clock, under the

THREE MILLION BUDGET

The budget submitted to the aldermen last Monday evening by Mayor Childs was the largest in the history of the city and reached the grand total of $3,098,117.92. The department estimates were $3,141,142.92. The principal items are as follows:

Schools $934,762
Street and Forestry 809,362
Treasury 397,912
Police 201,707
Fire 186,070
Public Buildings 126,053

These figures as compared with those of 1921 show an increase in the School appropriation of about $150,000, in the Street and Forestry of about $190,000, and about $44,000 in the treasury, due to serial bonds and interest charges. It is also interesting to note that the Playground Department has increased from $44,855 in 1921 to $78,457 in 1923, and the Fire Department from $147,348 in 1921 to $186,070 in 1923, due largely to the one day off in three which has recently been granted by the present city government.

Under the head of pensions, there are items of $30,300 for laborers, and $10,575 for police.

The mayor allows $21,875 for maintenance of school building and $21,930 for maintenance of other buildings. He also approves $34,701 for plumbing in schools and there is apparently no recommendation for electric lighting in the school rooms.

Street lighting costs $80,000 resurfacing of street, $45,000; maintenance of streets, $80,000 and moth work, $28,000.

Our charity department costs $72,000 of which $29,000 is for Mothers' Aid.

School salaries total $656,763 for regular schools, and $69,335 for the vocational school, $40,000 is approved for school fuel and $52,000 for supplies and incidentals.

The Water department costs $175,422 for maintenance and includes some $34,000 for serial bonds, sinking funds and interest on bonds.

ORDINANCE HELD INVALID

The full bench of the Supreme Court has sustained the exceptions of Barney Atlas, who was found guilty of erecting a building on Washington street and Walker street, Newtonville, without having first obtained a permit from the building commissioner of that city, in violation of an ordinance.

Chief Justice Rugg, in the opinion says, that one section of the ordinance does not conform to the statute. There is established by that section no general rule, either to guide the landowner in selecting materials or designs for construction of his proposed building, or to govern the commissioner in reaching a determination whether to approve or reject plans; nor is there any provisions for review by the courts or higher authority of the absolute discretion vested in the commissioner to prevent the landowner from erecting a proper building by refusing to issue a permit. The court also says that Judge Lawton of the Superior Court should have allowed a motion of the defendant and directed a verdict in his favor.

DEATH OF MR. SEARS

Sherman Nathaniel Sears, who died Friday, at his home, 2011 Beacon street, Newton Lower Falls, was a well-known durgist of that section. He was a native of Richmond, Vt., where he was born July 4, 1850, and although seventy-two years of age he had been actively engaged in the drug business in Newton for thirty-five years. He was a member of Sincerity Lodge of Odd Fellows, Natick Encampment and Tennyson Rebekah Lodge, Knights of Pythias, and was also a member of the Boston Association of Retail Druggists.

He is survived by his widow, who was Leona M. Smith; and two daughters, Mrs. J. J. Dwyer (Jessie Sears) of Newton Lower Falls, and Mrs. Thomas Hayden (Carrie Sears) of West Newton; also by four sisters, Mrs. Mary Bailey of Burlington, Vt., Mrs. Carrie Sears and Miss Alida Sears of Omaha, Neb., and Mrs. Carleton Seale of Chicago, Ill.

The funeral took place Monday afternoon, with services in St. Mary's Episcopal Church, Newton Lower Falls, by Rev. Guy A. Miner, rector. The Bay State Quartet sang. The burial was in Newton Cemetery.

WINS SECOND PLACE

Newton High Track Team is Beaten by Medford by Small Margin

The Newton High track team was just tossed out of first place at the meet last Saturday afternoon, of the Massachusetts High School Athletic Association at the East Armory in Boston.

Newton scored 28 5-6 points, while Medford High with a total score of 20 was the winner of the meet.

Newton won second and third places in the 60 yard dash, first and third in the 60 yard hurdles, third in the 300 yard run, first in the 1000 yard run, and tied for fourth place in the running high jump. The relay team captured second place in the one lap relay with Medford and Brookline as competitors and won first place in the two laps relay against Medford.

The meet was close and exciting with three new records made.

In the first semifinal heat of the 60 yard hurdles, Wendell Bauckmann of Newton was caught in 7 4-5 and that will go down as the new mark, instead of his 8s for the final heat.

Walter Ryall, Newton, jumped into a big lead in the 300-yard final, which he held for one lap, when Capt. Ira Franklin of Brockton High passed the Newton boy. On the next to the last corner Henry Hornel of Medford passed Ryall and Rounsaville, Fairhaven High, made a great try to take third place over Ryall.

There were four two laps and five one lap relay races. The feature one lap race was the Medford, Newton and Brookline High affair.

Medford High took the lead at the start, Moore of Medford handing over a five-yard margin to Cummings, who in turn gave the same advantage to Kelley and the latter increased it over Duane of Newton by five yards, Hornel, the Medford anchor runner having a 10-yard advantage over McQuiston of Newton. The latter was only able to cut down the advantage to five yards. Medford High made the best time while Newton High had the second fastest.

First honors in the standing broad jump were captured by Julius Archoska of Lynn Classical High, who leaped 9 feet, 8 1/8 inches. Julius Kohler of Newton High did 9 feet, 9 5/8 inches on first try, which was not allowed because he fouled. He however, finished second.

With one event, the 1000 yard run, remaining on the program, Medford was leading Newton by 41-6 points. Wesley Dicks of Newton was conceded an easy victory in this race, which meant that Medford must score a place in order to win the meet. The race was a whiz all the way, and Con Stewart, Medford's hope was well up in the running until the gun lap, when he attempted to move into third position and fell.

The Medford stands groaned, but quickly turned to wild cheering as they saw little Joe Orpen, running like one inspired, battle his way from sixth to third position, all in the last half lap, and his two points for third place clinched the meet for Medford, for the reliable Dicks running a heady front race, took first prize. Joe Murphy of Cambridge Latin jumped out of the pace late in the race and finished second, and might have caught the flying Newton runner if he started his sprint sooner.

AMERICANIZATION FILM SHOW

The Americanization Department procured from the State Health Department educational films which were shown at the Auditorium in Newton Upper Falls on Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Callahan of the Newton Opera House showed these films with his regular program on Thursday afternoon. He very generously gave free admission to the women of the Americanization classes, and has offered to co-operate in any way to enable the public to see these moving pictures. The State Health Department have prepared for our instruction. It should be gratifying to the people to feel that at least two of our motion picture purveyors entertain, in addition to necessary business acumen, constructive ideas for the welfare of the community.

PERMANENCY FOR FUTURE

Someone who may gain the confidence of your wife and children, but whom you in your better judgment would never choose for them.

The Trust Companies of Massachusetts were especially intended under the general laws of the Commonwealth to handle trust business of this character and they are clothed with every necessary power.

The Newton Trust Company has a perpetual charter. It is always at its office, never out of town, sick or otherwise unable to attend to the business of the estate when and as it should be, regardless of the duration of the trust.

The Newton Trust Company as your executor and trustee means continuous as well as responsible and interested service in behalf of your beneficiaries as long as you may desire. Wills may be drawn at our offices and filed in our vaults without charge.

Our officers cordially invite conference by appointment.

SCHOOL NOTES

Edited by Dorothy Drake

High School Notes

Miss Kennedy of the Botany Department recently received a collection of pressed ferns, flowers and other plants from Miss Anna C. Royce of West Newton. The collection consists of one hundred and thirty-three plants which were mounted by Miss Royce and will be used in Miss Kennedy's Botany classes.

"My Lady Coquette" was selected by the Senior Play Committee as the one to be given in the Classical High School this year. It is a romance in three acts written by Mr. Bacon of a portion of the novel, "The Admirable Betty," by Jeffrey Farnol. There are sixteen characters in the play, four women and twelve men. First trials for the play were held last Thursday and brought out about eighty candidates from which the committee must pick the cast.

Preparations are under way for the Senior number of the "Dynamo" in the Technical High School. This issue will contain pictures of the class officers and various members of the class who have played a prominent part in their four years in the school and class activities.

The Vocational High School held the annual Parents' Night last evening. All shops were in operation and a special program was arranged.

Lasell

On Wednesday evening there was given a violin recital under the direction of Miss Anna Eichhorn, the teacher of violin, which included numbers by students from both the Woodland Park School and Lasell.

On Saturday evening at Woodland Park Hall the Seniors will entertain the Sophomore Class with a "Book" Party; each one being requested to come dressed to represent the title of some well-known book.

A Camp Fire Meeting will be held Sunday evening at the usual Vesper hour; Mr. George W. Grimm will be the speaker.

At one of the Lenten Meetings held in West Roxbury recently under the auspices of the Federation of Women's Church Societies, Miss Lillian R. Potter was the speaker, her subject being "The Burning Heart."

DEATH OF MRS. WRIGHT

Mrs. Agot Lund Wright, wife of Dr. J. Homer Wright, died Tuesday, following a prolonged illness, at her home at 1016 Centre street in Newton Centre. Dr. Wright has been for many years pathologist at the Massachusetts General Hospital.

Mrs. Wright formerly was prominent in musical life in Newton and around Boston and elsewhere in Massachusetts. She was a contralto singer of ability and as Miss Agot Lund, before her marriage, made a notable success in concert work and also as a church singer. In this last-named line of musical work she was for years a church soloist in Worcester.

She was born about sixty years ago in Christiania, Norway, and came as a young woman to the United States and with her sister, Sigrid Lund, was heard frequently in public, the two sisters, as contralto and soprano respectively, sharing in the programmes presented. In duets their voices showed to especial advantage and they at times appeared in the costumes of their native land, which added to the effect of the numerous folk songs which were with them a specialty.

Previous to coming to this country, Agot Lund completed her musical education in Dresden, Germany, under Frau Goetze, a prominent teacher. About a score of years ago Agot Lund retired from active musical life because of failing health.

Her marriage to Dr. Wright took place in New York on Christmas Day, 1901. She is survived by her husband and by her sister, Mrs. Sigrid Lund Sæther who now lives in Norway and who is the widow of Harry Southern of Cohasset. His death from pneumonia followed soon after his marriage to Miss Sigrid Lund, many years ago.

Services were held at her late residence on Thursday, Rev. Edward T. Sullivan of Trinity Church, Newton Centre, officiating, and the burial was in the Newton Cemetery.

DEATH OF MRS. SARAH M. HACKETT

Mrs. Sarah M. Hackett, widow of Horatio Balch Hackett, who was in business in Boston, died at her home, 74 Highland avenue, Newtonville, on Tuesday. She had spent all of her younger life in Providence, R. I., although she was born in Charlestown, the daughter of James H. Field. She was married in 1874 to Mr. Hackett and had been a widow since 1914. Following her marriage she moved to Newtonville and that place had been her home ever since.

Mrs. Hackett was a member of St. John's Episcopal Church, Newtonville, and she was a charter member of the Newtonville Woman's Club. She is survived by two sons, William Field Hackett of New York and Howard Hackett who lives in Newtonville; and two daughters, Miss Bertha Hackett and Miss Sarah Balch Hackett, also of Newtonville. There is also a surviving brother, Walter M. Field of San Francisco, Calif.

Funeral services were held at her late residence on Thursday, Rev. Richard T. Loring of St. John's church officiating and the burial was in the Newton Cemetery.

DEATH OF MRS. TROWBRIDGE

Mrs. Adella Trowbridge, widow of Edward B. Trowbridge, who died at the home of her son, Alpheus E. Trowbridge, 51 Parsons street, West Newton, last Friday, was eighty-three years of age and almost up to the last enjoyed unusually good health.

She was born in Newton, October 13, 1839, and was the daughter of Elias and Elizabeth Jennison, who were prominent among the earlier generation of residents of Newton. Mrs. Trowbridge was the second oldest member of the Second Congregational Church in West Newton, the oldest member being her sister, Mrs. Caroline J. Barker, also of that same section, who recently passed her ninety-sixth birthday.

Mrs. Trowbridge is survived by two other sons, George E. Trowbridge of Pomona, Calif., and Frederick L. Trowbridge of Newton; by a daughter, Mrs. Joseph Neale Lovell, of West Newton, and six grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Services were held in Memorial Chapter of the Second Church, West Newton, on Sunday afternoon, Rev. J. Edgar Park officiating. Mrs. Trowbridge was a member of the Second Church for 67 years. The burial was in the Newton Cemetery.

THE PROHIBITION QUESTION

Hon. Thomas Walker member of West Australian Parliament will be the speaker at the Union meeting to be held at Eliot Church, next Monday evening, March 12, at 8 o'clock.

HON. THOMAS WALKER

Mr. Walker is touring this country studying the prohibition question. He will tell us what has been done in Australia and his impressions of prohibition as it is enforced in this country.

Mr. Walker is a distinguished statesman, has few superiors in debate, is one of the most noted Chautauqua lecturers in Australia and never fails to measure up to the seemingly extravagant announcements concerning his eloquence.

COMMONWEALTH COUNTRY CLUB

A concert will be held Sunday afternoon, March 11, from 4 to 6 at the Commonwealth Country Club for members and their guests. It will be given by the Boston Orchestral Trio, assisted by Mr. John Thomas, humorist.

The ladies of the Club and their guests will play auction Monday afternoon to aid the Fatherless Children of France. The directing hostesses are Mrs. A. M. Boothby of Newton and Mrs. F. H. Stillman of Chestnut Hill assisted by Mrs. A. L. Brackett of Brookline, Mrs. M. A. Crane of Brookline, Mrs. Charles H. Geissler of Boston, Mrs. James R. Hodder of Newton, Mrs. John M. Lyons of Boston, Mrs. J. Allen Parsons of Brighton and Mrs. Charles A. Williams of Winthrop. The ladies of the Club are enjoying the Italian Cut Work and will enter upon a new series of lessons, Tuesday morning, March 13, in two classes from 9 to 10.30 and 10.30 to 12 respectively. These lessons have to be strictly limited to those ladies who have subscribed.

On the evening of the same day, (March 13), the men of the Club will hold the second party of the second bridge tournament. The increasing numbers of the men attending show the interest in this event.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Mr. F. O. Stanley read a very interesting paper on the "History of the Violin" before the members of the Fellowship Club on Monday evening, March 5th. Mr. Stanley showed how violins are made, how to test the quality of the wood which goes into the making of the violin, and many other interesting things about the manufacture of this King of instruments.

There were violins shown that were made in Japan and Germany. There were some instruments of great value shown, but the one that attracted the most attention was the one made by Mr. Stanley himself when he was sixteen years of age and it was a good violin, too.

One of the most enjoyable features of the evening was the musical entertainment given by a trio of young ladies, Miss Josephine Monahan of Denver, Colorado, on the violin, Miss Weltha Graham of Arizona on the cello, and Miss Dorothy Curtis of Newtonville, on the piano. Their playing was encored again and again.

PROFESSOR HUNG'S ADDRESS

In spite of the weather, over one hundred people took advantage of the rare opportunity offered them by Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Stewart of Montvale road, Newton Centre, who on Tuesday night opened their home for Professor Hung of Peking University.

Professor Hung was introduced by Dr. Barton of the American Board, who in a few words told of the greatness of the University in its educational opportunities, open to men and women alike, and of its matchless situation.

Professor Hung then spoke on "The New Movement in China." He told how China, hurled into the whirlpool of the world activities by the war, began to see that she was at the mercy of foreign powers unless she changed her methods and came into line with modern civilization. China, therefore, began to take stock, as it were, to see wherein she could strengthen herself. This facing about on the part of China is known as the "student movement" because it is the students today who are China's real leaders.

Under their leadership, China has revolutionized her school system by the introduction of modern scientific methods in place of the old classical studies. At first so great was the opposition to this change that students were paid to go to the government schools, now, there are over four and one half million students. No nation has made such rapid progress as China in the last decade, a decade of famine and political unrest.

The revolutionary movement in China has three aspects, a social, economic, and political aspect. The social revolution means the changing of the family system in China in order to give greater initiative to the young. The economic revolution means the changing from the small workshop to modern industrialism and the political revolution means the giving of unity to China which so far has had no political unity.

There is no agreement as yet as to the form which this political unity shall take, but all are agreed as to its necessity.

Young China is examining her own past with a view to correcting her defects, and she is examining the methods of the other nations, asking only two questions: "Does this meet the approval of Science? Does this conform to the ideals of Democracy?"

In regard to the language of China, Professor Hung denied its difficulty. He said that in this respect it could not compare with English, describing our language as "the most risky God has ever made." His illustrations were very much to the point, and brought many a hearty laugh from his audience.

He admitted, however, the difficulty of the various dialects of China, and said that the government was now compelling the use of the Mandarin language. It is also recognizing the vernacular as a written language, and making efforts to make the pronunciation of the language more phonetic.

In conclusion, the speaker made a beautiful tribute to the Christians in China, saying that although they were few in numbers, their influence cannot be overestimated.

China today is standing for the motto of her great university, "Freedom through Truth for Service." Freedom represents the greatest contribution of Democracy. Truth the greatest contribution of Science, and Service, the greatest contribution of Christianity.

After the address, the guests were given an opportunity to meet Dr. Barton and Professor Hung, and a social hour with refreshments concluded the very delightful evening.

Co. for automobile license, R. G. Crosby for five two-car garages on Commonwealth avenue and Crosby road and of H. H. Walley for a private garage on Newtonville avenue were granted.

Other petitions were received for a sewer in Clarendon avenue extension, on Vineyard road and Holly road, from C. M. Howell for change in ordinance relative to use of Elm road, and in aid of a gasoline tank for J. V. Monaghan Sons on Auburn street. Hearings were assigned on March 19, on petitions for changes in zoning districts from N. H. Trask, T. F. Melody, Wm. M. Cole, and the Texaco Co., and on April 2, on petitions for the same from Martin M. Co., and L. H. Andrews. At this point Alderman White urged that something be done to speed up action on petitions for change in zoning districts.

Leave to withdraw was granted on claim of H. J. O'Meara on account of sewer in Algonquin road, and on petitions of B. Iacono for a victualler license at 400 Centre street, and of Casper Ataman for pool tables on Cheney street.

Achilles DiMatteo was granted a gasoline permit on Langley road. The appointments of George H. Bourne as a Registrar of Voters and of Lewis H. Bacon as Chairman of the Board of Appeal were confirmed.

$2000 was granted for architects fees on changes in the Bigelow school, a sewer was ordered laid in Crosby road, various small claims ordered adjusted, numerous betterment assessments apportioned, Beacon street, relocated at Centre street, and a hearing assigned on March 19, for sewer in Vineyard road.

The proposed ordinance granting a Saturday half holiday to city laborers excepting carpenters and painters was referred to the Finance committee, after Alderman White had pointed out that it would apply only to persons working 44 hours a week or to those who work 44 hours a week or to those whose work was caused by sickness or other similar reasons. Alderman Madden stated that the committee in preparing this ordinance had conferred with the city laborers. There was some question over the reasons for making this an ordinance instead of an order, and City Solicitor Bartlett stated that he had drawn it as an ordinance on written request of three members of the committee.

A proposed change in the rules prohibiting the introduction of any matter after unfavorable action, unless by a two thirds vote, was laid over until the next meeting.

FOUNDER OF THE CLAFIN GUARD

Major Fred P. Barnes, who was at one time active in Republican politics in Middlesex County, died at his home 351 Otis street, West Newton, Saturday evening, in his eightieth year. Major Barnes was born in Boston and had lived in Newton since 1868. He was the founder of the Clafin Guard, later Company C of the Fifth Regiment, M. V. M. He was the first lieutenant of the company, and was elected captain in 1873, which office he declined, afterwards serving as regimental quartermaster of the Fifth Regiment for fifteen years and as brigade quartermaster for three years, with the rank of Captain, on the staff.

THE LATE MAJOR FRED P. BARNES

of the late General William A. Barcroft, commanding the Second Brigade. He was placed on the retired list in 1903, completing twenty-seven years of active service in the militia with the rank of major.

He was connected with several military and patriotic societies, being on the board of managers of the Sons of the Revolution, and for several years serving as secretary of the Clafin Guard Veteran Association.

He was in the electric business for more than twenty-five years, five as manager of the Boston office of the Westinghouse Electric Company, and ten years filling the same office for the Stanley Electric Company of Pittsfield, retiring from active business in 1915. He served as associate County Commissioner of Middlesex County for six years.

Major Barnes was a son of the late Loring B. Barnes, for many years president of the Handel and Haydn Society.

auspices of the Building and Development Division. All engaged in these various trades are invited to be present and to participate in consideration and discussion of the Credit Bureau to be organized by the Mercantile Division in the immediate future. The rating and investigation service of the Credit Bureau is to be placed at the disposal of all Newton business and professional men who are in need of this service and the entire plan of operation, with the benefits to be derived, and other details, will be outlined at this evening's meeting.

The meeting was arranged at a recent meeting of the Building and Development Division committee, of which G. Wilbur Thompson is chairman. This committee is giving careful consideration to various matters having to do with building and realty development in Newton and has authorized the appointment of a committee to consider the advisability of seeking a revision or modification of the Building Code. It is the opinion of many Newton citizens that action of this character would be desirable now that the city has a zoning ordinance and a carefully chosen committee is to make a careful study of this question in the immediate future.

The Commuter's Committee, of which James W. French is chairman, held a recent conference with General Passenger Agent Walter A. Barrows at the Building Code. It is the opinion of many Newton citizens that action of this character would be desirable now that the city has a zoning ordinance and a carefully chosen committee is to make a careful study of this question in the immediate future.

THE territory served by Boston Edison is shown in white in this map. The sub-stations, shown by black dots—only a few of the 85 in our system—are the distribution points for electric service over the 700 square miles. From the new station at Weymouth main lines will swing south and west and north into the territory now served from L Street at South Boston; Weymouth will be connected with L Street by main lines. The Weymouth station will add mightily to the capacity of Edison service without disturbing existing conditions.

The Friendly Glow

Out of the way— and on the job!

"WHY are you building the new generating station at Weymouth, ten miles from Town?"

This is a query we have often heard since our announcement of the plans for the 400,000 horsepower station which will start rising this spring on the point at Fore River opposite the shipyards.

Because Greater Boston is growing.

Because at any generating station on the coast there must be deep channel for the fleet of ships from Virginia to discharge coal. At Fore River there is deep channel—used for years by the great battleships built across the way—the only available deep water within many miles of Boston.

A great generating station must have elbow room, both for its own growth and for coal storage. There are sixty acres of Boston Edison land at Weymouth—enough room for one of the largest stations in the country and enough to store 300,000 tons of coal.

A new station, serving a vast metropolitan community, must be placed where the electricity can be sent to its territory along the lines of least resistance. Thickly settled districts must not be disturbed. The "arteries" will radiate from the "heart" at Weymouth straight into the territory of present and future growth, avoiding densely settled Boston entirely.

And there must be water, for a central station uses (for condensation) actually more water than all the homes served by the station. Weymouth has an ocean of salt water which costs nothing.

IT is too easy to think of this Greater Boston of ours as the small five-mile circle around the State House, or the smaller hive of activity on the city peninsula itself.

For the two million of us have a lot of varied interests, and a lot of uses for electricity, whether we farm in Millis, or manufacture in Waltham, or commute from Framingham, or spend our summers at Hull. We are all active partners in the supreme effort of making Greater Boston greater.

And wherever we are, we must have more and more electricity to make that effort effective.

Weymouth, being just what it is, and just where it is, will supply us just that.

The Law of the Land, Must and Shall Be Respected

EDITORIAL

A legal friend, for whose judgment we have great respect has taken us to task for our criticism of our district courts last week where we referred to a jail sentence for stealing a shirt and a mere fine for operating an automobile under the influence of liquor. We are willing to accept his opinion that there might have been extenuating circumstances in the matter of stealing a shirt, but we are still of the opinion that only a jail sentence should be meted out to those potential murderers who operate an automobile while under the influence of liquor. We require an engineer of a locomotive to pass a severe examination for fitness before he is allowed to run an engine on rigid rails and in an enclosed right of way. Railroad companies also require engineers to be men of strictly sober habits. Why should the public, then, meekly submit to the terrible danger of allowing a few drunken beasts to injure and kill our women and children. When it is known that automobile operators with liquor upon them will be promptly sent to jail by every police judge in Massachusetts we shall begin to be somewhat safe on the public highways.

We note with regret the action of the Public Works committee in favor of an appropriation of $17,000 for "widening" Commonwealth avenue at Prince street. There is as much necessity for widening at this point as there was for making a parking place on Washington street near Centre place. The city has far better use for its money than either of these so-called improvements.

The proposition to take a 15-foot widening from the corner of Centre and Washington streets met with strong opposition at the hearing on Monday evening and the estimate of a cost of some $100,000 from Mr. French apparently put the quietus on the project.

The proposed new Underwood School is meeting with unexpected opposition from the owners of land which is needed for the new structure. The city has apparently made many mistakes in connection with this building.

We wonder just why City Solicitor Bartlett required a written request from the Committee on Rules before he placed the Saturday half holiday matter in the form of an ordinance, instead of an order as has been the previous custom?

A budget of over three million dollars for 1923, a 100 per cent increase over the budget of 1915, ought to make our taxpayers sit up and take some notice of what our aldermen are doing at City Hall.

The action of the Supreme Court in declaring invalid part of our Building Code should lead to a wholesale revision of that iron-clad document.

The late Major Barnes was most active in the state militia and will be missed by a large circle of friends.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

This has been a rather busy week, although the matters under consideration were of minor importance. The bill to allow the passing of the hat at sports on Sunday afternoons was killed in the House by a substantial vote and the advocates of a bill to allow bread and other bakery products to be delivered on Sunday met with a similar fate. It is rather interesting to learn that the law which allows a baker to sell food on Sundays does not permit him to deliver it.

The committee on Cities has favorably reported a bill to permit the city of Newton to pay a bill of the Foreman Electric Company for work which was done inadvertently without complying with the provisions of the city charter.

The bill submitted two weeks ago by Governor Cox to control the coal situation so far as it related to slate and shale was favorably reported and seems to have sufficient teeth to punish anyone defrauding the public with the so-called "fire proof" coal.

One matter where the House apparently acted without due regard to the merits of the bill or to the consequences which may come from it, related to teaching children in the public school to take proper care of themselves while on the street. The House killed the bill simply because, it is said, that it did not like the Commissioner of Education Dr. Payson Smith. There was an abortive movement to reconsider the adverse vote, the next day, but reconsideration was refused even after the friends of the bill had shown that 209 children had been killed and over 4000 injured in 1922 from automobile accidents. Some day this action will arise to plague the Republican party for its failure to do something along these lines.

City officials from Newton were out in force this week to favor a bill to allow a larger pension than is now possible for foremen and inspectors of work. The present law, which gives a common laborer a pension amounting to half pay for the year previous to his retirement and without a maximum limit, has resulted in pensions of over $600 in many instances and over a thousand dollars in one case. The pension for foremen and laborers on the contrary is one half the pay, but shall not exceed four hundred dollars. It seems manifestly unfair to pay $600 pensions to common laborers and but $400 to foremen and inspectors. It is understood that the committee has voted leave to withdraw on the bill. In this connection it is of interest to note that the Senate has voted to abolish civil service rules as now applied to city and town laborers.

We are able this week to give a fairly connected account of the troubles incident to the billboard ordinance. It will be recalled that some two years ago the city government passed an ordinance prohibiting the erection of billboards along Beacon street, Commonwealth avenue and Washington street. This ordinance with some minor alterations was approved by the Department of Public Works of the State. Before anything could be done under it, however, the Public Works Department ordered action held up for a period of ninety days. When that time expired it was in the summer season and no court was sitting to hear a hearing before the commissioner on the charges against her, has appealed the decision of Commissioner Forbush, confirming his original discharge, and through her counsel, Joseph Lundy, has asked for a review of the evidence in the Newton District Court. The date has not been set for the review owing to the illness of Mr. Forbush.

Miss Annette V. Bryson, former chief clerk in the office of Building Commissioner Walter R. Forbush, who was discharged from her position on Dec. 23, 1922, and who later was given a hearing before the commissioner on the charges against her, has appealed the decision of Commissioner Forbush, confirming his original discharge, and through her counsel, Joseph Lundy, has asked for a review of the evidence in the Newton District Court. The date has not been set for the review owing to the illness of Mr. Forbush.

GOOD ADVICE

The telephone company believes it is no more difficult for two or more families to equitably share party-line telephone service than it is for them to amicably live as co-tenants of an apartment house, provided each has a courteous regard for the rights of others. It believes, also, in the "say it in five minutes" slogan of the Telephone and Telegraph Division of the Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities, and expresses this belief in a brief but emphatic notice sent out with the February bills of all party-line subscribers of this state. This notice reads as follows:

"The Telephone and Telegraph Division of the Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities recommends that five minutes should be the limit of use of a party line station because others may wish to use the line; and that immediate right-of-way should be given for emergency calls."

"The Company believes that persistent disregard of this recommendation justifies the termination of telephone service in accordance with the restriction, filed with the Department of Public Utilities, under which party line service is furnished."

Black Diamond Turns Green.

A black diamond of five and one-half carats was recently found in the Bloemhof district of South Africa, which on cutting, proved to be almost emerald in color. The stone now weighs one and one-half carats and is believed to be most valuable, owing to the rarity of green diamonds.

SCHOOL NOTES

Edited by Dorothy Drake

Hyde School

Mrs. Doehler has become a member of our teaching force, filling a vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Ruth Stopp who was called to a splendid position in Brooklyn, New York. Miss Stopp is to be a special teacher in music for which she has had excellent preparation.

Miss Sampson and Miss Hanscom have just completed the giving of intelligence tests throughout the school.

Miss Daly, of the Framingham Normal School, is at present assisting in the primary grades.

Miss Hanscom is going to spend fifteen dollars of the school funds in purchasing Victrola records. Among others she intends to buy the "Beautiful Blue Danube Waltzes," by the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra and "The Two Grenadiers."

The pupils of Miss Greene's fourth grade regret the fact that one of their classmates, Phoebe Adams, does not intend to return to school this year as she has been very ill.

The following health project is being carried out in Miss Perkins' second grade. Thirty-eight boys and girls, the number enrolled in the room, are represented as marching in a long procession, carrying health banners. The figures have been cut out and colored. At the top is the sign "To Health Land." On the banners are printed: "Go to bed early," "Eat fruit," "Eat vegetables," "No coffee or tea," "Be clean," "Drink milk," and many others. The effect is pleasing as well as educational.

The children in this room are also making little paper dollies, upon which the crackers may be placed during the school lunches. Most of the designs are original and some are very pretty.

The pupils of Miss Merrill's sixth grade are very busy and enthusiastic in their study of Hiawatha. As each chapter is studied it is promptly illustrated on the sand table.

Miss Marian Stratton of Miss Merrill's class has recently enjoyed a trip to Nassau, on the Bahama Islands. She is soon to tell her classmates about her experiences.

Miss Abbott's history classes have each completed an illustrated history booklet, "The Passing of the Wild West." These histories made by the citizens of Controlton and of Trustville respectively, are profusely illustrated by hand drawings as well as cut-out pictures which show the old methods of cooking, plowing, irrigating, and harvesting as compared with the new. Each citizen has some part in the writing of the history.

Miss Pauline Babb, Domestic Science teacher, has classes from Newton Upper Falls at the Hyde School, two afternoons a week.

The Civet Cat.

One need not go far, writes a correspondent, to find the reason for the adoption by perfumers and soapmakers of the sign of the civet cat. Before the days when the chemist could boast that he would make any odor in his laboratory that Mother Nature ever invented, the rare and valuable civet perfume was obtained from "farms" in Africa and Asia, where the civet cat was caught from the forests. The animal, which differs in form from any ordinary cat only in the matter of the arrangement and number of teeth, and the claws which are more retractile, has highly-developed glands near its tail which secrete the perfume. Otherwise the civet cat is generally "tabby," and very like the domestic animal, but fiercer.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt

It was with a great shock and a sense of personal loss that the news of the death of Mrs. Abbott Rice, came to the Club Editor yesterday morning. Her work as chairman of the Legislative committee of the Newton Federation was done so quietly, yet with such power, that it may be truly said her influence has done more to arouse the interest of the women of Newton in legislative matters than that of any other one person. She was entirely forgetful of self and her own bodily infirmities, and gave her strength to the utmost for this work. The meeting on February 15 will stand as her monument. A former president of the Federation remarked that day that no one but Mrs. Rice could have brought it about. One week ago, on February 28, at the hearing before the Joint Judiciary committee at the State House, Mrs. Rice spoke on behalf of the bill which she had drawn up in the name of the Newton Federation which may truly be said to be the culmination of her work. In all that she did she was so safe, so sane, and so broadminded that one felt confidence from the outset. For several years she served on the Legislative committee of the State Federation. During that time a matter came up for endorsement, upon which there was considerable difference of opinion, and it chanced that her husband opposed the point of view of the Federation. It was quite natural to suppose that she would not wish to present the matter for endorsement by the Newton Federation, but upon being questioned as to her position, she replied that she considered it her duty to present it and she did, giving the arguments clearly on both sides. In her passing the clubs have lost a valued leader whose place will be hard to fill, but while her frail body is at rest, her sweet and indomitable spirit will remain with us a precious heritage.

concert which is to be given by the Club Chorus on March 21. The co-operation of the Taunton Woman's Club Chorus has aroused much interest, and a very fine program is assured. Mrs. Anna Stovall-Lothian, piano, and Mr. Walter H. Kidder, baritone, have been engaged as soloists.

Mrs. Grace M. Poole continues her course of current events lectures March 13, at 2.45.

On Wednesday morning Mrs. J. Porter Russell will give a paper on "Modern English Novelists—Wells, Bennett, Philipps," before the Newton Social Science Club.

Owing to the storm the concert scheduled by the Activities committee of the Newton Centre Woman's Club for Wednesday evening of this week was postponed, and will be held Wednesday, March 14, at 8.15 P. M., with every particular the same as announced for this week.

The Newton Ladies' Home Circle will meet at G. A. R. hall, Newtonville, on Thursday afternoon, March 15, at two-thirty.

The Literature class of the Newton Community Club will meet at the home of Miss Helen F. Hull, 29 Ivanhoe street, on March 15th, at 2.30 o'clock, providing the weather is suitable. Otherwise new plans will be announced. Miss Miriam Drury will lead the discussion of "Mind in the Making," by James Harvey Robinson.

Under the leadership of Miss Helen Cobb, the Group Activities committee has arranged for a trip to the Morgan Memorial on the afternoon of Wednesday, March 21st. Those intending to go please notify Miss Cobb and meet at the library at 1.30 P. M. as usual.

Through the courtesy of the Men's Club of Grace Episcopal Church, the members of the Community Club have been cordially invited to hear Mr. Wellington Wells of Boston talk on legislative matters of importance to the state at this time in Grace Church Parish House on Tuesday evening, March 20th, at 8 o'clock. The invitation is presented through the Legislative committee, Mrs. Ralph Bartlett, chairman.

A meeting of the Newton Community Club for members and their friends, has been arranged by the Home Economics Committee, Mrs. Corabelle G. Francis, chairman, for March 29th, at 2 o'clock, at the Hunnewell Club House. There will be a talk on "The Art of Dressing" by Miss Harriet E. Atwood of William Filene's Sons Co. with models. Refreshments will be served by Dromedary Products Co., for whom Miss Sarah Beall will prepare several new and unusual desserts.

Early in May, under the auspices of the Home Economics Committee, a visit will be made to the exhibit of "a model electric home," completely equipped with conveniences and electric appliances arranged by the Electric League of Boston.

Miss Amy Sacker of the "School of Decorative Designs" will give two Friday morning talks on "Interior Decoration" in Central Church, March 23 and 30, at 10.30 o'clock, before the Newtonville Woman's Club. These talks will be of a practical nature and will be illustrated with samples of wall-paper, draperies, and furniture coverings of the latest designs.

On Thursday, March 15, the millinery class will meet with Mrs. W. J. Church, 59 Judkins street, at 9.30 o'clock. Thursday afternoon, the class reading one-act plays will meet with Mrs. Wallace C. Boyden, 64 Oakwood road, at 3.30. The Welch plays: "Welsh Honeymoon," and others by Jeanette Marks will be read and discussed under the leadership of Miss Margaret MacGill, chairman of the Education committee.

Miss Lizzie C. Allen will give her talk on "Mushrooms—Eddie and Poisonous," Friday afternoon, March 16, in Central Church, at 2.45. Through Miss Allen's kindness, the proceeds of this lecture will be added to the housing fund.

On Monday afternoon the Newton Mothers' Club had an unusually full and interesting meeting at the home of Mrs. C. G. Leatherbee on Prince street, West Newton. Rev. Paul S. Phalen in his talk upon "The Church and the Home," made a very stirring appeal for parents to increase their interest in things spiritual as they concern their children. Mr. Harry C. Barber, supervisor of mathematics in the Newton schools, explained the new system of teaching arithmetic which is being used at the present time. A social hour followed with Mrs. G. I. Jones, Mrs. H. D. Lloyd, and Mrs. E. F. Lovejoy as assisting hostesses.

The closing meeting of the Parliamentary Law class conducted by Mrs. Electa M. Sherman in Newtonville, was held at the home of Mrs. Charles D. Kepner, on Grove Hill avenue, on Monday. After the lesson Mrs. Frederick A. Cole presented flowers to Mrs. Sherman and tea was served by the hostess, Mrs. Harry Wells, and Mrs. F. C. Lewis. Mrs. Sherman, Mrs. Harry Wells, president of the West Newton Women's Educational Club, and Mrs. Ralph C. Henry, president of the Newton Federation, were special guests of the hostess. Mrs. Henry spoke interestingly upon legislative work. A great deal of enthusiasm on the part of the thirty-five members of the class was expressed for having the class continued next year.

In order to accommodate the increasing number of members and friends, the Waban Woman's Club held two "guest nights" this week, March 5 and 6, and every attempt was made to make the two evenings as near alike as possible. After a short address of welcome by Mrs. Joseph Congdon, the president, two short plays were presented under the direction of Mrs. Walter A. Hosley: "Suppressed Desires," by Susan Glaspell, and "Cinderella Married," by Rachel Lyman Field. In "Suppressed Desires," Mrs. Hector Holmes took the part of Henrietta Brewster; Mr. Harold W. Cheney that of Stephen Brewster; and Mrs. John A. Moir, that of Mabel. In "Cinderella Married," a fantasy, which is unpublished, the following members took part: Mrs. Gardner Stevens was the Lady Arabella; Mrs. Arthur T. Soule, the Lady Caroline; Mrs. Howard M. North, took the part of Mandie; Mrs. Walter A. Hosley of Cinderella; Mrs. Alex G. Caldwell, of Prince Charming; Mrs. Sanford Bates, that of Robin; and Mrs. Lawrence F. Harding and Mrs. William M. White were the serving men. The music was furnished by the Boys' Orchestra. An informal reception, refreshments, and dancing completed the program of the evening.

Tuesday, March 6, the Auburndale Review Club met at the home of Mrs. A. C. Farley, 251 Central street. The morning's program considered two of the great authors of the previous century. Mrs. H. T. Dougherty, substituting for Mrs. Robert P. Gilman, read from an introduction to Victor Hugo's poems an essay by Casaresco, giving a scholarly and vivid appreciation of the life and literary value of the great French novelist and poet. Three little poems which Mrs. Dougherty read served to impress upon the listeners a bit of his charm. Mrs. Henry R. Turner then gave a most interesting account of one of America's great authors, Nathaniel Hawthorne, giving intimate glimpses of his personal life. French music, given on the Victrola records, added to the pleasure of the morning.

Mr. John Clair Minot in his talk on "What's What Among New Books," before the Newtonville Woman's Club on Tuesday afternoon, confined himself chiefly to outstanding fiction for the past year, choosing for discussion the six American and the six English novels which he considers the strongest.

Beginning with the American novels, he placed Sinclair Lewis's "Babbitt," which has been among the best sellers both here and in England, for more than a year, at the top of the list. Although Mr. Minot is willing to grant that Mr. Lewis's books are works of genius from the viewpoint of characterization, he does not hesitate to denounce him in the frankest way, for his outlook on humanity, styling him "the high priest of realists, who indicts civilization by portraying only that side of life which is petty and ignominious and failing entirely to see what is beautiful. He considers the success of 'Babbitt' in England a good deal of a tragedy, as Englishmen are led to think that Babbitt is representative of the business man of America.

Mr. Minot has great admiration for Alice Brown, especially in her latest book, "Old Crow," which he considers one of the best of the year, and praised her work for its high literary artistry, attained by going back to the soil from which her characters spring. He spoke of Dorothy Canfield Fisher's "Rough-Hewn," as a sequel of "The Brimming Cup"—"the other way around"—and might have come before the latter; of Kathleen Norris' "Certain People of Importance" as a painstaking piece of historical fiction, and commended the novels of Willa Cather, especially "Old Pioneers," for their portrayal of life in Nebraska prairies. He predicted we would hear more from her in the next decade, that would be of high literary merit.

Heading his English list, were A. S. M. Hutchinson and Hugh Walpole, who have become so well known here in America and so popular through "This Freedom" and "The Cathedral." Following these were W. J. Locke whom he characterized as "the kindest spirit since the days of Charles Lamb"; Raphael Sabatini, "the best writer of historical romance in a decade," and recommended "Scaramouche" and "Captain Blood" to readers; W. B. Maxwell, author of "Spinster of this Parish," had place among the six, and Sheila-Kaye-Smith, Johanne Gordon, also Lady Russell, who writes under the name of "Elizabeth," and well known through "Elizabeth and Her German Garden," were brought to notice as foremost among women writers.

Every literary critic and reviewer has his own peculiar vocabulary for characterizing books,—"amusing," "powerful," "gripping," "stirring," etc.,—and Mr. Minot's pet word, "provocative,"—if one understands his use of it—may well characterize his lecture, for one is spurred to the library with his list.

Miss Gladys Avery, accompanied by Mrs. A. D. Quimby, contributed greatly to the pleasure of the afternoon by a group of delightful songs, rendered with remarkable skill for one not of the professionals.

Notwithstanding the severity of the storm thirteen members of the Newton Social Science Club appeared at the Hunnewell Club for the meeting on Wednesday morning. By use of the telephone enough more to constitute a quorum were secured, so that important business might be transacted, and when that had been dispatched the meeting adjourned after a delightfully informal and social time.

Wednesday afternoon the Community Service Club of West Newton enjoyed to the full the Lenten musicale. Despite the difficulties of traffic a large audience was present, although many of the club guests, presidents of other clubs, were unable to get there. The artists providing the program included the Charlotte White String quartet, Mrs. Frances Burr Mitchell, soloist, Mrs. Barbara Werner-Schwaab, violinist, and Mr. Huyman Buitekan, pianist.

STATE BOYS' DAY

Active Work being Planned by Local Y for March 17th

Boys Are the Builders of Tomorrow!

Boys hold the destiny of tomorrow in their hands. They will determine the quality of the future citizen—business, political and moral life. They will be the nation builders of tomorrow. This boy power is a gigantic power for good or evil. Each boy is an individual reflecting life and the institutions about him. He is absorbing the good as well as the evil. He is worthy of as much consideration as cattle and crops. A bumper crop of American boys who have high ideals is imperative. As we sow so shall we reap.

A Positive Force For Good
Among the positive forces for good is the Young Men's Christian Association with its program of all-round character development. Its platform is to harness boy energy and help direct it along purposeful channels; to discover and develop latent ability of a boy; to help the boy eliminate from his life undesirable habits; to train the boy for leadership and to help him construct Christian Character.

An Opportunity to Share
For the past twelve years one day in March is designated as State Boys' Day when the people are given an opportunity to share in the support of local, State, international and foreign work among boys, when boys themselves become messengers calling upon their friends for financial support. They are confidently expecting that the Thirteenth State Boys' Day on March 17th, 1923, will bring forth a bumper crop of dimes, quarters, halves and dollars to help produce a bumper crop of "100 per cent sterling" boys. WILL YOU HELP?

There will be teams of boys for the campaign and the goal for Newton and community is $500.00, the money will be divided as follows: 50% for the work among boys of Newton, 25% for the work among boys of Massachusetts, 15% for the work among boys of North America and 10% for the work among the boys of China and India.

MERCHANTS' EXPOSITION

Under the management of Mr. Fred D. Bond of Newton Centre, assisted by Mrs. Frederick J. Ricker of Wollaston, the merchants of Newton have been holding an exposition this week in the Unitarian Parish Hall on Centre street, Newton Centre.

Exhibition dancing by Miss Alice Fessenden, formerly of Newtonville, and Sullivan's Orchestra in the evening were special features. Supper was also served each evening at six o'clock.

One was impressed with the variety of the products offered. Among those exhibiting were the following: Bond's Convenience Shop; Florence E. Rand, millinery; Philo's Pharmacy; M. W. Hunter, dresses; Mary Colburn, lingerie; Bailey, cleaners and dyers; Fox Furniture Co.; P. Cartoni Co., importers; C. S. Skelton and Sons, hardware; Wales, Jellies; A. C. Jewett & Co., window decorators; Foresman, electric supplies; Noble's milk; Newton Centre Garage; Woman's Exchange; Sartor, cleaners; S. W. Thompson, plumbers.

Children were particularly interested in Hood's ice cream, and in the demonstration of chocolate dipping by Hahn's Drug Store, and in Miss Rosamond Sapulding's home-made candy. In the basement a very life-like camel stood at the entrance of Tut's tomb. The latter was represented by two rooms in which were represented in papier-mâché urns, pitchers, shields, chariot wheels and other articles, appropriate to the occasion. Tut himself, or what was left of him, was to be seen lying on a canopied bed in the inner chamber. The whole was very realistic and very effective.

COURT GENOA, C. D. OF A.

At a meeting of Court Genoa, C. D. of A., held last week, at Dennison Hall, Newtonville, a lengthy report was read of the various Whist Parties held throughout the winter months. As a result of these socials, a check of $200 will be forwarded to the Working Boys' Home to provide their Easter dinner. Plans are under way to tender a reception to the newly appointed Chaplain, Rev. Father Dwyer of St. Bernard's Church, West Newton, after Lent. The affair will take the form of a banquet and a committee is busy arranging a welcome to the new Spiritual Director.

GALATEA

The first performance of "Galatea," a lyric opera written by Miss Ethel Hale Freeman of West Newton, was given at the Huntington Chambers Hall, Boston, last Friday night, under the auspices of the Theatre Guild of Boston.

Miss Freeman was assisted by her own company of Newton players and by Mrs. Walton S. Redfield at the piano.

The scene of the opera was laid in Cyprus and the plot was woven about the familiar story of Pygmalion and Galatea. Mr. Robert E. Perry made a very prepossessing Pygmalion and Mrs. Anita F. Webster a beautiful Galatea. The other parts were taken as follows: King of Cyprus, Mr. Bonde; a princess in love with Pygmalion, Miss Mary B. Kimball; a sister to Pygmalion, Miss Albert.

Miss Freeman succeeded in reproducing the classical atmosphere of the piece, the chorus in Greek costume adding much.

Among the most effective of the songs introduced were, a description of Love sung by Miss Kimball, the appeal of Galatea to the goddess of Love and the duet between Pygmalion and Galatea in the last act.

Mr. Perry's singing was particularly good, and Mrs. Webster is to be commended for her handling of a difficult part. All of the participants entered into the spirit of the opera. Those taking part in the chorus were Mrs. Good, Misses Clark, Fairbrother, Molzman Smallidge and Wilder.

WOMEN'S GUILD

At the Women's Guild of the Second Church on Tuesday, Miss Martha Shannon of The Boston Auxiliary of The McAll Mission of America, was introduced by her friend Mrs. William Wales and gave a wonderfully interesting and instructive talk upon the work of Dr. and Mrs. McAll in the Mission in Paris.

It was on one of Dr. McAll's vacations abroad, that he happened to speak in one of the halls to some people who chanced to stray in at noon time. So interested did they become in Dr. McAll's message of the Gospel, that they begged of him to tell them more of this man and wonderful doctrine. Dr. McAll was deeply impressed with their hunger for a Spiritual uplift and resolved to give his life to this work, which he did.

He established Chapel boats to sail up and down the Canals and stopped to speak where ever he could gain an audience. They came in working clothes and in all walks of life, so eager were these people to fall under his influence.

At present, there are McAll Missions scattered all over Paris, as well as in almost every state in the Union. Miss Shannon stated that Pastor Nick of Boston organized the first Girls Scout Troop in Paris, which is still a popular organization.

Putting it politely.
"He is a man of strong convictions is a polite way of saying that the girl is bull-headed."—Atchison Globe.

CONGRESSMAN LUCE

Gives the Men's Club of West Newton an Interesting Talk on the 67th Congress

Congressman Robert Luce of this district was the guest and speaker last evening at the monthly meeting of the Men's Club of West Newton, held in the parish house of the Unitarian Church. About two hundred members were present and during the dinner, there was community singing under the leadership of Mr. Harlan D. Crowell.

A most interesting feature of the evening was the exhibition of bugle calls by the Drum and bugle corps of the Girl Scouts under the direction of Miss Caroline Freeman, with Miss Katherine White as drum major. It received a well merited storm of applause.

Congressman Luce said in part, "Criticism of the recent Congress is widespread. If I say something in its defence, perhaps knowledge of the fact that not a few of its more important decisions did not commend themselves to my judgment and did not receive my vote, may free me from suspicion of prejudice. As a whole its work did not satisfy me, but I believe the reasons are misunderstood and the blame has been wrongly placed."

"Before examining the grounds for grievance, let us clear out of the way the matter of routine legislation. This chiefly concerns the spending of money, through the appropriation bills. Here no just criticism can be made, but on the contrary there should be unstinted praise. The new budget system was made to do wonderful work in compelling department heads to submit honest estimates. Very few persons understand that here was the root of the trouble. Your Congress is not wittingly extravagant, but in the past it has been deluded into extravagances by the enthusiasms and misrepresentations of the executive agencies of the Government. The budget system has forced these agencies to disclose the minimum with which they can get along. If any charge can be fairly made against Congress itself, it is that of parsimony.

"The net result is that, taking into account the fall in the buying power of money, the routine operations of your national government are costing you less than before the war. The addition to your national tax burden is wholly due to unescapable costs resulting from the war,—interest on the debt, sinking fund requirements, the care of the victims, and like obligations that everybody admits and justifies. These compel about four-sevenths of the tax levy. It is a burden that cannot be escaped for many years, and you can send nobody to Washington who can materially lighten the load. SWIMMING MEET

Newton and Malden High School swimming teams will meet in a return dual splash March 23, 3.00, in the local Y. tank.

This will be the final dual meet of the season for Newton and gives promise of being the most interesting meet on the schedule.

Malden who has one of the best school teams in Greater Boston defeated Newton earlier in the season in a very exciting meet at Malden, but since that meet Newton has made rapid progress and is all set to spring a surprise by Malden.

A good turn out of students at the meet will help the Newton Mermen greatly in their efforts to splash through to victory in this closing meet.

The balcony will be reserved for girls and the boys will be seated on the ground floor. Every one out to cheer the team to a grand finish.

Newton High will be entered in the Inter-scholastic meet at Cambridge, March 31, 3.00. This meet brings together the best school boy swimmers in and around Boston and Newton expects to make a good showing.

WALTER M. JACKSON DEAD

Walter Montgomery Jackson, book publisher in this and other countries, while on the way to his Madrid office, died suddenly of heart failure at Gibraltar on Sunday after a few hours' illness. He is survived by a widow, three sons and two daughters.

Mr. Jackson was born at the Jackson homestead in Newton Lower Falls, on Sept. 10, 1863, the eldest son of a family of four children, and left school at an early age to enter business. At twenty-two he was a partner in the Boston bookelling and publishing firm of Estes and Lauriat and a director in several corporations, issuing educational and art publications.

He moved, in 1898, to England and became equal partner in the sale of the ninth edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica, and was the junior member of the firm that issued and sold the tenth edition and that prepared the eleventh.

It was the elaborately extensive advertising campaign connected with the first that introduced the American installment methods in English business, and "The Times system" entered their vocabulary. When, in 1909, that paper passed to the ownership of the late Lord Northcliffe, in which delicate transfer Mr. Jackson took an important part, he himself returned to the United States to live and begin to devote himself more actively to his American interests, notably "The Book of Knowledge," and to the publication of works of reference in Spanish and Portuguese, maintaining a chain of offices in the several Latin countries.

A FINE COMPLIMENT

The following tribute to George Owen of this city was recently printed in the Yale Daily News:

"We would pause a moment over our cups—having sipped the vinegar of defeat and clinked our glasses to the health of the Crimson cohorts; we would propose a toast to a man whose achievements have made history for the past four years of Yale-Harvard competition. An outstanding athlete, a clean sportsman, a fighter all the way, his prowess always to be feared and admired whether on gridiron, diamond or rink—George Owen."

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt

A rumor has been current in the last few weeks that Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, president of the General Federation, has been offered a bribe to use the federation's influence to help pass a bill through Congress. In the General Federation News for March Mrs. Winter tells of the constant bombardment of her office by attempts to use the federation to "put over" all kinds of purposes, good, bad, and indifferent, selfish and unselfish, wise and foolish. "This fact," she says, "should give us pause and make us pretty careful as to how we use our own machinery to back new movements. The General Federation can endorse no law or enterprise over which it has no control, and the executive board has laid down the rule that it will not use the machinery of the federation for the raising of money except for federation purposes."

Anent the rumored bribe, Mrs. Winter says: "Every phase of propaganda, every new cranky idea, legislative pressure, many purely business propositions, some of them masked as some of the open approach us. In one case I was offered $250,000 in addition to the cost of our headquarters in Washington, if I would use the federation to put over a certain big affair through the women of the country. To this I replied that the strength of the federation lies in the fact that it does not undertake a matter except when it believes in the righteousness of the purpose and not for personal aggrandizement. The offer was a genuine one. The letter is on file where it can be reached, but since it was made to me in confidence, I have never revealed it publicly. The episode is six months old."

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

This has been one of the busiest weeks the writer has ever experienced on Beacon Hill. Long committee meetings in the morning on important matters have been followed by afternoon sessions of about four hours' duration, with frequent roll calls and long discussions.

The coal bill recommended by Governor Cox has been passed by the House with but slight changes. There is little hope expressed by House members as to the efficacy of the method expressed by the Governor, but it is also recognized that the public expect something and many voted for the bill for this reason.

There was considerable debate this week on the bill to extend vaccination to pupils in private schools, although the Public Health Committee had reported leave to withdraw. This was with an understanding on both sides that no attempt would be made this session to change the present laws. Notwithstanding this agreement, the attempt was made on the floor and met a deserved defeat by a two to one vote.

Senator Rice and Representative Early are on the committee which has been hearing the bill to allow classification of prisoners in state and county institutions over which there has been quite a controversy. It is considered as a back-door attempt to bring about state control of county affairs and the county officials are in arms against it. There were many women present at the all-day hearing on Thursday, and among the speakers were Former Senator George H. Ellis and Commissioner Sanford Bates, a resident of Waban.

Mr. Ellis, a former member of the legislative committee on Social Welfare, told of the cases which came before that committee and of his full conviction of the need of better methods of treating the inmates of the Houses of Correction. He said that the county institutions are not really so much houses of correction for the reform of inmates as they are jails for their confinement and punishment. Some such action as is proposed in this bill ought to be taken. Inmates are not cured under present treatment and it is no objection to the bill that it might not cure all under the new policy. If the bill were passed, there would not be as many old offenders as under the present policy.

Mr. Bates said his position was a neutral one. His position was disclosed through questions put to him by members of the committee. Commissioner Bates said he believed in psychiatric examinations and in carrying forward the policy of segregation. The State institutions are making great advances in this direction, he said. In answer to a question as to whether it interfered with county rule he said the counties are free to hire these experts and establish industries for the prisoners, and do other things, but the taxpayers might object. One-man cases were debated on Thursday and attempts to abolish them were defeated.

Those who dance must pay the piper, and those who go to war must meet the costs. As one who shared wholly heartily in the action that brought these responsibilities, I for one refuse to repine.

"To this tax burden may be traced much of popular discontent. In what are we all more selfish than in the matter of taxes? Every man of us thinks he is paying more than his share. We at least Congress could distribute the load more justly. But tell me how? Talk it over with your neighbors and you will find conflicting views on every hand. Some want the sales tax, which makes the poor pay more than the rich. Some want a return of the excess profits tax, which makes the rich pay more than the poor. Nobody wants what he has. And Congress gets the blame. Its members can console themselves only with the reflection that whoever may be in office will likewise be blamed until the people become accustomed to a tax burden in its magnitude now wholly new to them. When it comes to be accepted as a matter of course, then the load will stop galling.

"Other results of the war have swollen the fault-finding. The war dislocated the American business structure. Earnings of classes, groups, individuals, were thrown out of the old proportions. Many became better off, many became worse off, some impoverished, some were enriched, often without even knowing how or why. Those who went up in the scale are trying to stay where they find themselves. Those who went down are trying to get back. As the important changes have been class changes, the important struggles are class struggles. This has made the development, the abnormal development, of class-consciousness and class-rivalries for us the most ominous result of the war. Its reflection in Congress, the mirror of the people, has resulted in the worst activities of that body, and warrants you in your severest blame. But the fault is not that of Congress, it is the fault of the people themselves. When Congress enacts class legislation for the benefit of the farmers of the corn-belt States and the planters of the South, it is lower than their representatives believe they cannot stay in public life unless they give the special privileges demanded by their constituents. The majority of the people in this country live between the Alleghenies and the Rockies. They dominate Congress. To their successful demands you may trace the worst of the legislation of which you complain.

"Disregarding party lines, forgetting political animosities, uniting in the common cause of self-interest, they have taken from us our money in a score of ways, they have increased the cost of our living, they have foisted on us unsound methods of finance, they have put the government farther into business, they have violated the pledges of both the great parties.

"Against all this we of the East have protested and fought in vain. Indeed at times our efforts have seemed to do more harm than good, by fanning the flames of that unreasonable jealousy and prejudice so long shown by the newer States toward those of the Atlantic seaboard. A conspicuous instance of this appeared in the matter of the Cape Cod canal, the purchase of which had been advised by three members of the Cabinet, after careful study of its wisdom. Men of the West and South went to the point of blustering, an extreme rarely now seen in the lower branch, because they thought Massachusetts might benefit.

"Of larger consequence was the ship subsidy bill. It was blocked by Western and Southern Senators. They have strangled the merchant marine. They promise in the next session to trangle the railroads, and their zeal in that direction is lessened by the fact that the railroads are owned chiefly in the East.

"Still another of the evils brought by the war shows itself in the alarming tendency to resort to Congress for handling all sorts of problems that have hitherto been dealt with by the States. The centralizing of power and the development of bureaucracy, inevitable in war times, have encouraged all sorts of reformers to think that through Washington they can make a short cut to the millennium. Insofar as Congress has yielded to their solicitations, harm has been wrought. Every step in this direction, by lessening the authority and responsibility of the States, conduces to worse government. The rule ought to be: 'Never turn to Congress for anything a State Legislature can handle.' That rule means self-reliance, the greatest of governmental as of social virtues.

"Congress is blamed not only for what it has done, but also for what it has not done. My own judgment is that its sins of commission have been far worse than those of omission. It is not a time for action. Before we engage in new ventures, we should make good the drains of the war. Nearly all legislation means more money to be spent. It is a time to save, not to spend.

"Furthermore we are not agreed as to what should be done, either in domestic or foreign affairs. We are in confusion, worse, confounded. We cannot even agree to disagree. If we could our great parties would take opposite sides on vital issues clearly defined. As things are now, nearly every great problem splits each party. Here is another source of the troubles of Congress. Critics call for leadership when there can be no leadership because there is no agreement. Leaders must have followers and we are today in no mood to follow because we do not know what we want.

"Time and time alone will straighten out the muddle. Meanwhile, you must expect that your representatives in the halls of legislation can do little more than grope for solutions. If we do this patiently, honestly, sincerely, each with such courage and skill as he can command, presently we may help toward better days."

DEATH OF CAPT. O'CONNOR

Mr. Frederick A. O'Connor, one of the best known residents of Newton Highlands, passed away early Wednesday morning after an acute illness of but eight days.

He came to Newton over forty years ago and long has been active in the Congregational Church, of which for several years he was a Deacon.

So modest and unassuming was he that few of his neighbors knew the interesting story of his life. He was born in Boston of English parents on March 11th, 1838, and celebrated his 85th birthday last Sunday while confined to his bed with what proved his last sickness. Many friends and business associates had remembered the day with gifts of flowers, of which he was very fond, so that nothing could have made his last days happier. As his father died when he was but a lad he was thrown onto his own resources and carved a career which has a valuable lesson for the young men of today. He chose the life of a seaman and worked up in the Merchant Marine. At the outbreak of the Civil War he was in Chinese waters but on his return to this country enlisted in the navy. His experience fitted him to accept an appointment as Acting Masters Mate which he received on Jan. 15, 1863. Later he was promoted to be Acting Ensign and on June 28, 1865 was appointed Acting Master.

He was attached to the Flagship Minnesota, for some time, while she was on duty at and near Hampton Roads, operating as far as Wilmington as well as in the James and Chickahominy Rivers. It was during this service that he was in the engagement with the Rebel Ironclad Merrimac which did so much damage to the ships of the Navy.

A well-known engineer, Ericsson, designed the Monitor, which was the first ship with a turret to house her guns, and the engagement in which the Minnesota took part was so decisive that the turning turrets have been since the standard of the navies of the world. In the engagement the Minnesota went ashore, after receiving a shot through her flag from the Merrimac, it being of local interest that that very flag is today in the museum of the Loyal Legion in the Cadet Armory, Boston.

Under date of April 27th, 1909, he was awarded a medal furnished by the Congress which has upon one side a bas-relief showing the engagement of the Monitor and the Merrimac and on the other an inscription that it was prepared and awarded in recognition of service during the Civil War. On July 6th, 1865, he married Mary Richardson Swan, who survives him as well as three daughters, Fanny L., Bertha E. (now teaching in the Bigelow school) and Jennie S. He was a member of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States, as well as of Charles Ward Post 62, G. A. R.

Of late years he has built up an insurance business which has occupied his time.

The funeral service was held at his late residence, 44 Erie avenue, Newton Highlands, at three Friday afternoon, and was conducted by Rev. S. H. Woodrow, assisted by Rev. George G. Phipps.

DEATH OF RUTH C. COMMONS

The death of Miss Ruth C. Commons of Newtonville on last Saturday came as a shock to her many friends in Newtonville and West Newton. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Commons, who resided on Washington street, West Newton, for many years.

While Miss Commons' health had not been of the best she had improved so much of late that she had been able to resume her duties as a teacher at Westfield, Mass., where her death occurred.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday from her late home, 79 Madison avenue, Newtonville, and a solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated at the Church of Our Lady, Newton. Rev. Conrad J. Quirbach was celebrant, Rev. W. J. Roche, deacon, and Rev. Robert W. Mantle, subdeacon. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

GIRL SCOUTS

The Girl Scouts Officers' Association held its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday, this week, in the Parish House of the Unitarian Church, West Newton. Mrs. Arthur Mundy of Millis, was the speaker. Her subject was, "The Camp Fire Circle" and because of the growing interest in camping among the Newton Girl Scouts, members of the Newton Council Girl Scouts and of the Local Troop Committees were invited to attend the meeting.

A short business meeting followed supper and then the Scouts and their friends gathered around a large Camp fire which had been arranged in the further end of the supper room. Mrs. Mundy has been the Director of the Camp for Patrol Leaders which has been held at Long Pond, Plymouth, during the month of August, for the past few years. She told of the Camp fire circle held there each evening, of how the girls loved that hour more than any other in the day and of the lasting impression it made on all who attended these meetings. At the close of the meeting the "Goodnight Song" was sung and the Officers left, feeling that they had received some of that Camp Spirit which has made Mrs. Mundy's camps so worth while.

On Thursday evening, the Newton Girl Scout Bugle and Drum Corps played at a meeting of the West Newton Mens' Club. Miss Katherine White, Drum Major led the Corps through a splendid program which was ended with "Taps" played by Marion Maxim, Sergeant Bugler.

The Rally, postponed from March third, will be held in the Gymnasium of the Newton High School, on Saturday, March 24. Competition games will be played. Merit Badges given out and three Scouts will be awarded the Medal of Merit.

WILBUR THEATRE—The power of good melodrama to interest and enthrall is again demonstrated in "It Is the Law," which began an engagement at the Wilbur Theatre last Monday evening. Here is ingenious construction, together with first-class acting—as satisfying a combination as could be desired by admirers of this form of theatrical entertainment.

The author, Elmer L. Rice, will be remembered for his famous "On Trial." Mr. Rice's latest is genuine playwriting along the lines that grip the audience and hold them firmly to the final curtain.

The cast is a distinguished one from New York, where they played "It Is the Law" all this season with notable success.

ST. JAMES THEATRE—At the St. James this week, for the first time in some years, the Boston Stock Company will be presented in "The Great Divide," the Henry Miller-Margaret Anglin success by William Vaughn Moody.

The play is a duel between a strong and righteous masculine will of the West, and the more feminine conscience of New England.

Mr. Gilbert will have the Henry Miller part and Miss Bushnell the Margaret Anglin role. An augmented cast of players will be seen in support.

STEREOPTICON TALK ON PALESTINE

Professor J. P. Berkeley of Newton Centre gave a stereopticon talk on Palestine at the Assembly period of the Community School of Religious Education last Monday evening. The audience visited in imagination many of the world-famous towns and cities of the Holy Land. Professor Berkeley pointed out the need for using pictures in Sunday School work.

In addition to the lantern slide pictures, there were on display at the School over 50 large-sized mounted pictures of Palestine. These pictures are the gift of Mrs. Louis D. Gibbs of Newton, and are to become a part of the Community School library, to be loaned to Sunday School teachers of the Norumbega District for use in their Sunday classes, to make more vivid the Bible lessons.

An address on the Daily Vacation Bible School movement was also given at the Community School, by Rev. Fred S. French, of Brockton, who said that Newton, Waltham and Watertown churches would benefit greatly by the establishment of such vacation schools in their towns. The Daily Vacation Bible School meets five mornings in the week for four or six weeks in the summer vacation. The children are taught hymns, Bible stories, ethical stories, handicraft work and games. As many Bible lessons can be taught in six weeks at such a school as can be given in seven months at the Sunday School. The vacation school also takes children off the streets in the summer and turns surplus energy into constructive channels.

Last year there were 70 such schools in Massachusetts alone, and the number is growing rapidly, as the school is adapting its plan and program to various types of communities. It is one of the best Americanizing influences in a community of the foreign-born, and can be of great value in a community of well-to-do families, as a means of developing Christian character and the spirit of service. It is therefore of value in places as widely different as Newton and the North End of Boston.

SHUBERT THEATRE—The Fourth Annual Production of the Greenhill Village Follies is now current at the Shubert Theatre (Boston), where it is presented by The Bohemians, Inc., A. L. Jones and Morris Green, Managing Directors. The Boston critics agree this is by far the smartest of the series in the way of music, dancing, costuming and spectacular scenic and lighting effects. Louis Hirsch, who wrote the music, is said to have outdone himself with lilt, swaying, swinging tunes.

One of the most wonderful acrobatic acts ever staged is given by Fortunella and Cirillina, the Italian clowns. John E. Hazard, the principal comedian of the company, is seen to remarkable advantage, both as Romeo in the Shakespearean Trevesty, and in the Old Timers, where he appears as a singer of ballads, such as were sung on the stage a decade ago.

WOMAN'S ASSOCIATION

"One of the Peaks" of the Woman's Association, as Mrs. Decatur expressed it, was reached on Wednesday afternoon. A large gathering, headed by Dr. Brewer Eddy and listened with keen interest to his talk on his experiences in the Far East. Several sister societies were represented, among them Eliot Church, West Newton, Newton Centre, and Needham.

Mrs. Lichliter led with devotions. Referring to Japan, Dr. Eddy said that it was not alone Commodore Perry who opened that land to western influence, but year before, a band of praying women in Brookline laid aside $600 for missionary work there when the opportunity should come. So "the woman and the heaven" had brought enlightenment in many parts of the world. He felt that Japan was no longer militaristic. The young men are not seeking military training as formerly. Scarcely the required quota apply at their military academy. The opening offered through the new industrial life are more attractive to the young Japanese. The influence of Christianity is a dominant factor in the life of Japan. Many who are not nominally Christian are adherents of Christian religion and are working for improvement in industrial conditions and other forms of social betterment. The Japanese are keen to discriminate between the missionary who is progressive and ready to meet the new problems in the modern spirit, and those who are ultra-conservative. They also deplore the meaningless distinctions which separate the denominations. Leaders from their own people are preferred, as is evidenced in the Doshisha which is under Japanese management. "Honorable Secretary" they call a foreigner who gives advice in an institution. The Japanese are copyists and will follow closely a mode of life which they respect though they may prefer to keep names which are dear from association. A "Buddhist preaching hall" is an instance of this union of the new and old.

In Korea the Eddy brothers spoke to large audiences and Sherwood did not hesitate to denounce the Japanese oppressors. "The nation that oppresses the weaker nation will perish," he told them. He advised the Koreans to acquire education and develop character, as better weapons than violence. His courage amazed the Koreans who would not have dared to speak in such strong terms. Turning to China, Dr. Eddy said: "Everything is in disorder and chaos. The pieces are all there but how find and put together? They are ready for reform but in a mess." Too often the students who come to America carry back the evil rather than the best and are the menace of China. Where the mandarin was formerly satisfied to amass a fortune in fifteen years, young China prefers fifteen days. Hence graft and the spirit "after me the deluge." Vast sums of money expended on "trains de luxe" when there were not even suitable rails to carry them was an instance of student folly.

The Chinese girls have nothing to ask of the American girl as to outward appearance and manner. The "new woman" has arrived but she needs guidance lest she lose her balance and throw away her modesty. She would be taught the spiritual qualities of life.

Dr. Eddy had visited Rev. William Leete at Fen-chow-fu, Shansi, and spoke in highest terms of his work. Through his community house he has enlisted the co-operation of the leading men and as some of them are Confucians Mr. Leete's program includes the best of those teachings. Dr. Eddy said the roads built by the family relief funds, which will be of lasting benefit to China. The children of the Newton schools had a share in this fund.

As an instance of heroism he gave the story of Mary McClure. While teaching a group of women she learned that the people of the town were fleeing in fear of bandits who had given warning that in three days they would destroy the place. With a friend and an older woman she calmly went to headquarters of the bandits, facing fearfully the armed robbers, and obtained audience with their chief. He promised to spare the town and give her a receipt for the gifts she brought. Such are the kind of missionaries being sent out by our Board. Are they not worthy of our loyal support?

In closing Dr. Eddy said, "Carry back to your homes the world vision. Go on to larger interest. Do not look on your pledge envelope as something impersonal. It is a solid spiritual investment. When you talk to other women express to them your interest in American womanhood striving to reach the women of the world."

Unquestionably, there is a lot more joy in spending than there is in saving. There are few people who cannot get a thrill out of selecting a necktie, fur-coat, theatre tickets or thingamabob they think they need, or want anyway.

A lot of people get a real thrill out of saving, however, not penurious, miserly saving like squeezing nickels and hiding them away, but real calculated systematic saving.

They Can Spend SAVED Money,

NEWTONVILLE FORUM CANCELLED

What was to have been the third and last meeting of the Newtonville Community Forum for this winter on March 18th has been cancelled by the Committee in charge, because Raymond Robbins, who was to have been the speaker, has cancelled all his Boston dates for the latter half of March.

At the first of the two meetings which have been held this season, Jan. 25th, Mr. Gupta, a professor in the University of Calcutta told in an interesting way of the problems of India today. He argued that India ought to have a status similar to that of the Irish Free State, but believed that complete independence at this time would be calamitous. At the second meeting, Feb. 18th, Denis McCarthy spoke on the subject "Americanizing the Aliens—and Ourselves." Dr. McCarthy read several of his fine poems in the course of his lecture, and in the question period his answers sparkled with his delightful Irish wit. It is hoped that these Forums may be continued next winter under the auspices of a little less brutal sample of weather than has been meted out to us this year.

THE GARBAGE QUESTION

Now Under Consideration by the Board of Aldermen. Commonwealth Avenue not to be Widened at Prince Street

Many hearings and a five minute recess of nearly three quarters of an hour were the chief incidents of the meeting of the aldermen last Monday night.

President Hollis was in the chair and Alderman Collins was the only member absent.

P. P. Apostoli appeared in favor of transferring the land corner of Commonwealth avenue and Walnut street and Elliston road from the residential to the business district and there was strong opposition from William T. Miller and several other land owners of that vicinity.

J. T. Burns, Jr., spoke in favor of transferring the land of Jeanette E. Williams in the rear of Austin and Walnut streets from the residential to the business district and this, also, was strongly opposed by Franklin Bancho, Carl M. G. Miller, Frank W. Larabee, Thaddeus S. Grant and John S. Olcott, and others with letters in protest from J. C. Whitney, Adelaide L. Bridgman and the New Church Society.

Alderman Parker said that the petition of the William C. Strong estate for a 10 stall garage on Windsor road was being studied by a citizens' committee.

Newell H. Trask spoke in favor of his petition for permission under the zoning ordinance and for permit to locate an 8 car garage on Harvard Circle.

William J. Cozens and Mrs. Belger spoke in favor of petitions of William M. Cole for permission under the zoning ordinance and for permit for a filling station at 4 Elliot street, Newton Highlands. There was strong opposition expressed by the heirs of Mary Belger and by owners of land across the street.

Ex-alderman W. J. Spaulding appeared in favor of petition of T. F. Melody for a public garage and filling station on Auburn street and asked for a postponement to enable the petitioner and remonstrants to get together. Letters of protest were read from F. T. Miller and Mrs. P. J. McAleer.

Mr. Coleman for the Texas Co., appeared in favor of a permit to allow the erection of a warehouse on their land on Washington street, near the Hospital.

Several persons appeared in favor of a sewer in Vineyard road and a letter of protest was read from F. R. Churchill.

William H. Darling, Oakleigh road; Lester M. Dorr, Dickerman road; Shepherd M. Crain, Putnam street; George F. Huntress, Sumner street; John W. House, Rustic street, and Carl C. Perry, Church street, were drawn as jurors for civil business at Cambridge Superior court.

VOTERS' NIGHT

Under the auspices of the Men's Club of Grace Church, Newton, a Voters' Night was held on Tuesday, in Grace Church Parish House. Both men and women were invited to the meeting.

The speaker, who was introduced by Mr. Leverett D. G. Bentley, President of the Club, was Hon. Wellington Wells, Republican floor leader of the Massachusetts Senate.

Mr. Wells began by saying that the General Court was the people's court, that any citizen of Massachusetts might address the legislature through petition. His petition would then be referred to a committee and given a public hearing. It cannot, as in some states, be pigeonholed. Every bill must have three readings in each branch of the legislature. It then goes to the governor for his signature. He may sign, veto, or send back to either house for reconsideration on the recommendations made by him.

After dealing with the passing of laws, Mr. Wells went on to a consideration of the budget system. According to this system, each department has to state in detail the exact amounts it wishes appropriated and the uses to which it intends to put the money. The governor goes over this and makes out a budget message, and joint committees of both houses carefully go over each item. When one realizes that approximately $42,000,000 are spent yearly, the importance of great care and consideration is obvious.

In regard to specific measures under consideration at the present time, the speaker mentioned the proposed bridge across the Charles at Magazine and St. Paul's Streets, and said that in his opinion, this bridge should be built. He said that he wished that there was more cooperation between the outlying districts of Boston in regard to such matters as bridges, highways, etc. affecting all of them.

He believed that a state tax on gasoline was a good thing, especially as the trucks would have to pay the greater part, and they are the ones who wear out the roads.

On the question of higher buildings the speaker expressed the opinion that this matter has not, as yet, been sufficiently carefully investigated to warrant a decision.

There was no question in his mind but that the district including Newton, would, in the future, need an enlarged water supply, but, again, this question needs to be carefully considered from every angle, before definite action can be brought about.

A new state prison is also a necessity. Mr. Wells suggested that one of the islands in the harbor be used for this purpose.

In regard to the recent Sunday Sports Bill about which there was such a cry at one time, he said that the passage of the bill, had, in his opinion, already brought about good results.

The speaker concluded with the statement that the average legislator was not seeking personal aggrandizement, but was honestly endeavoring to do his duty as he saw it.

STATE BOYS' DAY

The five teams of Y boys under the leadership of Clyde G. Hess, Boys' Secretary and Ronald Smith, Assistant Boys' Secretary, undertook to raise $500, for their annual State Boys Day. The object of the drive was to raise funds for the Boys' Division budget of the local Association State Boys' Work and also foreign work. The people of Newton who were solicited responded in admirable shape and the boys and workers wish to thank all those most heartily for the support that they received.

It is most encouraging to a boy when he is rendering a piece of unselfish service to be received the way they were throughout the drive. The gifts from the smallest to the largest were appreciated and the combined efforts of the boys and the splendid response from the people resulted in the success of the drive.

The following workers and teams with the amounts raised are as follows: Team No. 1, Alan Shaw, Captain, $23.75, Herbert Hatch $13.75, William Bell $5.00, Robert Bell $19.25, George Van Buskirk $4.85, Philip Haver $10.75, Gilbert Thurlow and Harry McKennie $5.75. Total $84.42.

Team No. 2, Joseph Richards, Captain, $12.00, Clinton Roper $33.50, Walter Holbrook $8.60, Buddy Wickes $3.20, Harry Ward $1.90, Francis Pickersgill $13.75, Ernest Estey $3.75, Total $84.50.

Team No. 3, Richard Daly, Captain, $1.00, Robert Kingsbury $1.75, Franklin Cobleigh $15.25, Robert Patterson $52.40, Thomas Sutcliffe $24.50, William Counts $13.50, Fred Wing $6.00, Nathan Pearson $2.60, Newell Haver $11.23, Total $129.18.

Team No. 4, Phillip Perry, Captain, $8.00, Charles Freddy $5.25, Munroe Sock $29.00, William Pearse $15.00, Winton Arnold $6.00, Kingsley Church $17.35, Harry Waddell $16.00, Gerald (Continued on page 4)

MR. GULIAN HIGHLY PRAISED

Mayor Childs has received the following expression of the opinion of the Haverhill school committee, unanimously adopted in regard to the recent controversy in that city over the selection of Mr. Mianese Gulian of this city as coach for the Haverhill High School football team:

Mr. Mayor:—

The ill-advised and misinformed acts of a few of our citizens, in opposing the election of Mr. Mianese Gulian to be the Coach for football in this city, who is regarded in his home city and in his University as a high type of gentleman, besides being a player of such conspicuous ability as to be the almost unanimous choice for a place on the so-called all-American eleven, has been highly discreditable to those guilty of the extreme discourtesy shown and humiliating to the great body of our responsible high-minded citizens. Due to a grossly malicious misrepresentation by a few of the general attitude of this community, which believes thoroughly in clean sport and is now more than ever determined to have it, our city has been shamed in the eyes of the people of this and neighboring Commonwealths. What ever the reasons may have been for the action of these few, the result is that it will be impossible for us to secure the services of any self-respecting man to come into this community and instill the chivalry of sport into the minds of our young men; and more to be deplored than this is the fact that Mr. Gulian has not been shown even the ordinary courtesy due from one gentleman to another. Not only he, but his home city of Newton, where they take the utmost pride in him and Brown University where he attends and which has honored him in countless ways, have a right to feel as if a deliberate insult had been delivered. IN INDIA

Grade Teachers' Club scores Great Success in Dramatics

Attractive stage setting, variety in artistic costuming, and snappy, spirited singing combined last evening to make the performance of "In India" by the Grade Teachers' Club an unqualified success. An audience which filled Players' Hall to overflowing was enthusiastic in its appreciation of the careful, painstaking work of the cast, and the whole went off with a smoothness and finish worthy a professional performance. Julia M. Tobin, as Meerah, the Beautiful One, was altogether sweet and charming. Beatrice R. Walker, as How Now, the village scold, was extremely good and kept the audience in a gale of laughter. Virginia A. Mason in her snake dance was a visible reproduction of the Egyptian hieroglyphics, so much in the public eye just now. It is difficult to single out particular songs and choruses, for it all went so well, but the Elephant song, when six of the chorus danced as only elephants could, should not be overlooked. "All in the Valley of Dreamland," by Simla, Dorothy C. Hamer, and the chorus, and the Waltz song by Meerah, Miss Tobin, were very effective. Others who had parts were Myrtle Nixon, Lena L. Nixon, Esther M. Pendleton, Ruth Ungethuen, (Continued on Page 4)

Eva M. Grenier, Marion Pratt, Erma H. Reed, Grace E. Doolittle, Marie Dalger, Virginia Mason, Pauline Trask, Dorothy A. Pitt, Celia F. Tucker, Myra L. Black, Elma Benson, Birdys Withers, Helen S. Stevens, Jessie M. Lewis, Allene H. Jewett, Marian E. Green, Marion C. Stackpole, Ethel Pierce.

Great credit for the complete success is due Miss Evelyn Cunningham, the director, and her simple, quiet, and efficient conducting was refreshing to watch. The orchestra, too, gave fine support. Charles S. Goddard, 1st violin, Mary C. Broughton, 2nd violin, Arthur Capricola, cello, Lawrence Hardy, clarinet, Herbert Blaisdell, drums, Florence Walsh, piano. Others who assisted include: Emily C. Childs, business manager; Rose Coyle, advertising and program; Marian Drew Bassett, properties; Ruth Pond of The Playroom, make-up. The club desires to thank most heartily the advertisers, the friends who contributed the candy sold between the acts, and all who assisted to make it a success. The entire proceeds will go to the Sick Benefit Fund. On April 4th, the operetta will be repeated in the Hunnewell Club.

SCHOOL NOTES

Edited by Dorothy Drake

F. A. Day Junior High School

A class meeting of the eighth grade was held last Friday. The business transacted concerned the dues for the class of 1924. Miss Sanborne was appointed as treasurer.

A meeting of the Boys' Athletic Association was held Thursday at the close of school in order to discuss financial matters and sports. A committee was chosen to arrange for the stereopticon as a means of raising money for equipment. Mr. King urges all boys to join this association.

A very interesting meeting of the Science Club was held on Thursday. Williams Adams and Robert Hendrick impersonated "Wizards from Darkest Africa," entertaining the club with chemical tricks until the period was over.

A very interesting assembly was held by the seventh grade for the entertainment of the eighth grades. It was a very entertaining program, there being a violin solo, by Ethel Lewis, a fancy dance, by Chelise Cook and two very amusing plays, a Mock Trial and "Why don't you speak for yourself, John?" The ninth grade enjoyed this program immensely and gives most hearty thanks to the seventh grade.

The dancing class is a great success. Miss Mason, Mr. King, and Miss Pierce are having their hands full in teaching beginners.

A new system has been started in the ninth grades of the Junior High, the Freshmen of the Classical High, and the Technical and Vocational High Schools. The compositions written by the different classes are all shuffled together and are distributed to each teacher to correct. After correcting the papers, the marks are averaged up and the papers show which of the classes are the most competent. Each class therefore is trying its best to gain the highest number of points.

A basketball game was held in the gym on Monday the 19th between Rooms 12 and 22. The latter won the contest with a score of 8 to 5. Eams, Patterson and Stuart starred on the winning side, while Hunt and Seely were the opponents whom they most feared. As yet the teams are not free from fouls, but under the competent coaching of Mr. King, a good bunch of teams are soon expected to defeat all others.

Stearns School

The Eliot School (Stearns District) had the highest average per cent of attendance for the last two months of any school in the city.

Miss Sears gave a talk, illustrated by lantern slides, in the hall on Wednesday morning to the fifth grades. Her subject was the "Production of Rice and Cotton in the Southern States" and "Tropical Fruits in Florida."

The Mothers Club held its annual election at Stearns School Centre on Monday evening, March 19th. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. J. W. Porter; Vice President, Mrs. B. Bland; Secretary, Mrs. House; Treasurer, Mrs. Womboldt. Mrs. Sam Champagne was elected Chairman of the entertainment committee, and Mrs. William Boudrot Chairman of the entertainment committee. Mrs. Wallace Boyden entertained the mothers with a series of games and arranged illustrated short stories.

Lasell

Mrs. Blanche C. Martin, for many years the Head of the Expression Department, on Tuesday evening read "If I Were King" for the benefit of the Senior Endowment Fund.

FATAL ACCIDENT

Louis Brown, 62, a salesman, of 27 Kempton street, Roxbury, died at the Newton Hospital Tuesday as a result of injuries received when he was hit by an inbound Boston & Worcester street car at 9 Monday night.

According to the report of Harold Jenkins of the car that hit him, Mr. Brown was walking up and down on the outbound track, at Parker and Boylston streets, waiting for an inbound car, when the car approached at about eight miles an hour.

The motorman saw a man on the other track. The next he knew, Mr. Brown had crossed to the inbound track, and was under the wheels. It is thought that the glare of the car's lights may have confused him.

Italian Fete

Mrs. Walter S. Wells, chairman of the Philanthropic Fund of the Auburndale Woman's Club, is in charge of an "Italian Fete," which will be held at the Auburndale Club House on April 3rd. Beginning at eleven o'clock there will be a continuous performance until the wee, small hours, judging from the announcements sent out. There will be attractive booths offering all sorts of wares, including a Bambino's booth for children. Cafeteria luncheon will be served at 12.30, with bridge at 2.15, and an Easter parade of "first showing" of gorgeous gowns by professional and local models; at seven o'clock a dinner dance and cabaret. American and Italian menus are promised, while professional and local talent will furnish the entertainment.

Local Happenings

Mrs. Henry A. Wentworth's home on Woodland road proved especially adapted to the Auburndale Review Club's program on March 20, which was given over entirely to Art. Miss Margaret Haskell read a paper treating especially of Whistler, Tarkell, and Sargent. At appropriate points living pictures representing an "Interior Scene" by Tarkell, Whistler's famous "Mother," and five Prophets from the well-known frieze by Sargent were depicted by various club members. The concluding picture was a modern Madonna, copying picture by Hawthorne, Mrs. Alvord, of Wilmers road, sang delightfully two appropriate songs, "How Beautiful on the Mountains," for the Prophets, and a "Lullaby" for the Madonna. The grouping and draping of the pictures was under the artistic direction of Miss Ella B. Smith.

On Wednesday morning at the meeting of the Newton Social Science Club Mrs. W. H. Capen presented a paper on "Republican France," in which she traced the history of France from the fall of Napoleon through the trials of the Commune to the formation of the government for national defense. She described the life of the peasantry and devoted considerable time to the consideration of Francois Millet and other artists and authors of the period.

The annual children's party of the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club was held at the Emerson kindergarten on Tuesday afternoon. The room was filled with children, club members, and friends. At the children from Peabody Home were guests of the club. Miss Anne Varner Baker delighted her audience with her impersonations, songs, etc. At the close every child was given an ice-cream cone. Miss Alice Jones and her committee are to be congratulated on the success of the afternoon.

Wednesday the second trip to the Priscilla Proving Plant at Newon Centre was made with Mrs. Arthur Colby as conductor. All report an afternoon well spent and a desire to go again sometime.

Miss Grace Taber, in her talk on "The Complete Garden" before the Newtonville Woman's Club on Tuesday afternoon, left her audience full of enthusiasm to attempt new methods this spring in developing their garden plots, for her talk was brimming with practical suggestions. In her landscape work throughout the States Miss Taber has become convinced that tearing down the oldtime fence has been a mistake. Without them, it is true, one may have an unobstructed view through wider spaces but there can be no "complete" garden without a hedge or fence or wall to establish its definite outline. In plotting the garden, one should start in the house which is the centre of the design, and work outward in order to carry the stamp or feeling of the home into the garden. Some important axial line of the house should be carried into the garden which will form a main path, and at the end of it should be something man-made—an arched trellis over which vines may be trained, a bird bath, a fountain—in order to unify the house which is man-made with the garden.

The natural place to decorate is around the edges, and the gardener should limit himself to ten or twelve sorts of flowers which should be massed and scattered alternately rather than grown in well-defined rows.

Among flowers suggested for a satisfactory garden, were the iris and columbine for early flowering, alkanet, pompon, caryanthemums, larkspur, day-lilies, hardy asters (developed from the wild autumn asters) veronica, phlox, and pyrethrum. There was a social hour after the lecture, Mrs. B. E. Bailey and Mrs. W. V. Jenkins acting as hostesses.

On Friday afternoon, Miss Allen's exhibition of water-color drawings of mushrooms, was greatly admired by those who braved the down-pour of rain. The 200 drawings were remarkable for their realism, showing keen observation of minutest detail and the coloring was most accurately and carefully done. It is hoped these will be displayed again that a larger number of people may have the pleasure of viewing them.

Concert by Combined Chorus

An interesting bit of co-operation between clubs was instanced in the concert given on Wednesday evening by the combined choruses of the Auburndale Woman's Club and that of the Taunton Woman's Club. This could be brought about the more easily from the fact that the same director, Mrs. Julia Ritter McCormick, leads both. Not until Monday of this week had the two sung together, when the women from Auburndale went to Taunton to assist in the concert there, but under Mrs. McCormick's skillful leadership the two choruses of over forty voices became a unit and the results were eminently satisfactory. Three groups of songs were rendered by the chorus with such perfect intonation and clear enunciation that it was a delight to listen. The chorus was assisted by Mrs. Anna Stovall-Lothian, piano, and Mr. Walter H. Kidder, baritone, both of whom were greatly enjoyed. Altogether the concert was a brilliant success, achieved only after hard and painstaking work.

Newton Federation

Monday's meeting of the executive board was exceedingly full of vital matters. Before the formal opening of the business meeting Mrs. Ralph C. Henry, the president, referred to the death of Mrs. Abbott Rice, the chairman of the Legislative committee, which had occurred since the last meeting, and called upon Mrs. B. E. Taylor who spoke of Mrs. Rice as a personal friend and of her work for the Federation. Formal resolutions of sympathy and of deep appreciation of Mrs. Rice's service to the Federation and to the community were passed.

Turning to the business of the morning the Conservation committee called attention to the forest fire menace and urged thoughtful attention to this matter during the coming season, also to the ruthless uprooting of the trailing arbutus and the whole sale gathering of laurel lest both become extinct. Mrs. F. H. Tucker reported the meeting of the Massachusetts Forestry Association held in December.

The matter of lessening the number of accidents from automobiles and rendering the roads safe for the children was presented by Mr. Lewis E. MacBryne of the Safe Roads Federation. He told of what has already been accomplished in reducing the number of accidents and of plans to educate the children in the exercise of due care, for over 50 percent of the accidents come to children. A state-wide campaign of education is planned, and his organization is asking aid from the different communities to make it possible. It was voted to raise through the clubs $200 for this purpose.

Mrs. W. G. Startweather reported the activities of the Civics committee, which have included raising $55 for a piano at the Thompsonville school to be used in the Americanization work, the present status of the billboard situation, and the increasing need for band concerts.

Mrs. Harry Tyler, chairman of the Education committee, reported on the effort to push better lighting in the schools and stated that probably only enough will be appropriated to cover installing lights in the Classical High and in one of the large grammar buildings; that although a petition had been presented for the opening of Elm road to autoists the aldermen will not reopen the question. Her committee has inspected the new junior high school and together with the Home Economics Committee is looking into the lunch room question. Mrs. Tyler also asked the endorsement of the "Newtonite," the high school paper, which was voted, and that the attention of parents generally be called to it, asking them to encourage their children to write for it and to contribute to it themselves.

Mrs. George E. Armstrong reported the hearing on the Federation's bill, and it was voted to see if this bill may not bear the name of Mrs. Rice and be known as the "Amy Rice bill." The board endorsed Senate bill 76, on the examination, classification and treatment of convicted prisoners. Announcement was made of a Rummage Sale to be held for the benefit of the Federation's Working Fund in the week of April 19.

Tribute to Mrs. Abbott B. Rice

"The death of Mrs. Abbott Rice has brought to our hearts very real grief and a deep sense of both personal and community loss.

"Her brave, bright spirit was so manifest, her courage so wonderful, and her quiet determination to accomplish that service which she undertook regardless of bodily infirmity, so characteristic, that we failed to remember how frail was her hold on life.

"As chairman of the Legislative committee of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Rice accomplished more in educating and interesting women of Newton in legislative affairs than any one else could have done.

"As some one has said, the meeting of the Federation on February 15th, 'will stand as her monument.' Scarcely able to make so great an effort, Mrs. Rice carried that day through with quiet power and without thought of self.

"On February 28th, before the Joint Judiciary Committee at the State House Mrs. Rice presented the bill which she had caused to be drawn up in the name of the Newton Federation, and spoke in behalf of the bill. Few of those present realized what a supreme effort that was. The passage of that bill for the protection of young girls will be a lasting memorial of a life of service. For hers was a life of service, at home, among her personal friends, and wherever opportunity presented itself.

"Mrs. Rice served for some years on the Legislative committee of the State Federation of Women's Clubs."

DEATH OF MR. SAVILLE

William Saville, a member of the wholesale grocery firm of Saville, Somes & Co., of 55 Commercial street, Boston, dropped dead Sunday afternoon on the street in front of the residence of his daughter, Mrs. F. W. Davis, on Windsor road, in the Waban section of Newton. He was on his way from the depot to his home at 126 Windsor road at the time. Up to the moment he apparently had been in the best of health and but a few moments previously had been chatting animatedly with friends.

He was 68 years old and a native of Charlestown. From boyhood he had been engaged in the wholesale grocery business and associated with a firm that was started 110 years ago on Merchants Row and was known originally as B. & M. Tucker. His father also was connected with this same establishment. In 1837 this firm was known as Little, Hale & Co., and in 1851 it became Claflin, Saville & Co., the Saville being the father of William Saville. In 1877 George H. Somes of Brookline, a cousin, was taken into the firm and it then became Saville, Somes & Co. When the father retired in 1880, William Saville became the Saville of the firm.

He was twice married and is survived by his second wife, who was Mrs. Marion Yale of New York. Besides his daughter, Mrs. Davis, he is also survived by two sons by his first marriage, Charles Saville of Dallas, Texas, and John K. Saville of Chicago and one son by his second wife, William Saville of Quincy.

Mr. Saville was a 32d degree Mason, and held membership in Dalhousie lodge of Newtonville. He also was a member of the Waban Neighborhood Club.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon in the Church of the Good Shepherd, Waban. Rev. William L. Wood, rector of the church, officiated, assisted by Rev. William Paul Williams of Duxbury, formerly rector of the church. Burial was in Forest Hills Cemetery.

Coleman road; Harry B. Owen, Walnut street, Newtonville; Henry W. Clark, Pelham street; John M. L. Crosby, Duffield street and Ambrose W. Moriarty, Beacon street, Newton Centre, were drawn as jurors for the criminal session of the Cambridge Superior court.

The appointments as public weighers of Irving C. Paul, Stanley F. Barton and Margaret C. Smith were confirmed.

Mayor Childs sent in claims of Katherine C. Smith for injuries received from fall on Centre street, and of Alfred G. Titus for the loss of a coat at the Newton High School.

The mayor also sent in the offer of M. Brookman of $2000 for the old Auburndale fire station.

Applications for bill board locations at 262 River street and on Lexington street were granted.

These petitions were granted, R. J. Burns, auctioneer license; R. F. Sweeney, taxi license, Edison attachments on Beacon street, Chestnut street; of the Telephone Company to enlarge its conduits on Tremont street; Rev. William J. Dwyer to move buildings across Washington street, West Newton, and for these private garages, D. J. Holmes, Commonwealth avenue; J. J. Hill, Jr., Nottingham street; E. Clifford Potter, Centre street and Russell I. Viles, Orchard street.

Petitions were received from Marchant and Maher for victualler license, Nonantum square; for sewer in Lathrop street; of G. L. Avery for second-hand automobile license, and of W. M. L. McAdams that sidewalk on Boylston street be resurfaced.

A hearing was assigned on April 2 on petition of the Colonial Filling Co. for station on Beacon street at Langley road.

A majority report, Aldermen Hollis and Heathcote in opposition was made by the Finance committee on the proposition to widen Commonwealth avenue at Prince street. Alderman White said that there were many other places in the city where $16,000 could be expended to better purpose than at this place. He called attention to the fact that the budget calls for over three million dollars and that a tax rate of $28 was facing the city, and criticized the Public Works committee for favoring this expenditure. He stated that this curve was not dangerous to anyone using ordinary care and believed the underlying motive for this work was to prevent the erection of a filling station at this point. He suggested that the city might get this work done at far less cost if it would cooperate with a well-known filling company which was anxious to establish a station at this point.

Alderman Young for the Public Works committee said that that committee was supposed to act on petitions on their merits and to pass them along to the Finance committee to act on the financial side of the matter. He denied that any hold-up of a filling station was intended.

Alderman Ross said that there were many accidents at this point and it should be looked at from a humane standpoint. He said that this curve will not stand for a greater speed than 28 or 30 miles an hour.

Alderman Weeks said he would favor the majority report but thought the work ought to be done when the city could afford it.

Alderman White said the Finance Committee was considering a matter of $100,000 for much needed drainage which would add $1.00 to the present tax rate, and again suggested that the filling station might help in the cost of the work.

Alderman Weeks objected to any such action saying that this was a residential section and a filling station was not wanted there.

The matter was further discussed by Aldermen G. W. Pratt, Earle, Grebenstein, and President Hollis.

A motion to recommit to the Finance committee was lost by a tie vote and the report was then accepted.

After the recess, the Garden City Sales Co. was refused a gasoline permit on Washington street near Walker street and the Public Works committee reported inexpedient on accepting the offer of Arnold Hartmann for the development of the Oak Hill section.

A proposed amendment to the Rules prohibiting the consideration of matters once rejected for a period of six months was defeated.

Hearings were assigned on April 2 for widening of Centre place, widening of Commonwealth avenue near Irving street, widening Auburn street at Greenough street, taking land for sewers in Central Close and Clarendon street, authorizing sewer construction in Plainfield street, Wameet road and Beacon street, amending the Building Code to meet the recent decision of the Supreme Court in the Atlas case, increasing the fee for hawkers and peddlers from $1 to $5 and abating certain assessments levied on account of a sewer pumping station on Upland road.

The board adjourned at 11 o'clock. Alderman George W. Pratt reported to the board the results of consideration by the sub-committee on Finance of the matter of garbage disposal. (The present contract for collecting garbage expires September 30th.)

Alderman Pratt said ten or eleven different alternative methods of collecting and disposing of garbage had been considered. One plan calling for a station at Riverside, garbage to be taken away on tank cars, was considered but the Boston and Albany Railroad were not in a position to enter into an agreement of this sort.

Ex-Alderman Carter investigated the hog farms which are maintained in Brockton and Worcester, but the committee thought unless some member of the board was able to suggest a location in his own ward where such a plant could be maintained this plan would have to be dismissed.

On the plan of an incinerator the cost would be about $100,000, and this plan seemed to be impracticable, unless, as was necessary with the other plan, some Alderman could suggest a site in his own ward. It would also be necessary, after the site was found, to give the matter of incineration careful investigation by a paid engineer. In view of the expense and objections the committee felt that the plan of incineration should be eliminated.

The elimination of these and other different methods leaves three alternatives, as follows:

The present method of contracting with Mr. Mague or other contractor to do all the work.

The method which the Mayor recommended last year of collecting and disposing by private contractor,—the city owning and furnishing a plant and trucks. Under this plan there has been difficulty in locating a site which was suitable.

The method of collecting by the city and taking the garbage to some outside point by truck for disposal by sale or otherwise.

There is also the possibility of dividing the city into two parts, north and south side and making two separate contracts. The Street Commissioner is now having specifications prepared for one or more bids for handling the garbage for year beginning when present contract expires in September.

BOOKS TO LIVE BY

"There are two classes of books," says Harold B. Hunting, author of "The story of our Bible," which are commonly called "religious." There are those, first, which are written and published in the interest of some special religious belief, or official creed, or some special ecclesiastical organization. They consist at bottom of partisan propaganda of one kind or another. On the other hand, there are books which aim at nothing smaller or narrower than the attainment of the ultimate truth and the highest interests of all mankind. These latter truly deserve the description "religious."

First of all stands the Bible, in its various versions. The various modern English translations should not be forgotten, as their sale is steadily growing. Chief among them are "The Twentieth Century New Testament," CBPVT9, and "The Shorter Bible, Old and New Testament," translated by Kent, CBPV-K.

Among other old and enduring classics of religious literature are the following: "The Imitation of Christ," CK-T36, by Thomas a Kempis; "The Pilgrim's Progress," CKF-B38, by John Bunyan; and "The Book of Common Prayer," CUGN-1869 Ref.

Among more comparatively modern books the following may be considered classics:

The Hound of Heaven. By Francis Thompson. YP-T373h.

Finally, we may mention a few of the religious books of the last few years which have been widely read, and wielded a wise influence:

What Men Live By. By R. C. Cabot. BQ-S-C11.

BAPTISTRY DEDICATED

At the morning service at Trinity Church, Newton Centre, Sunday, the beautiful new baptistry, designed and executed under the personal supervision of Irving J. Casson of Trinity parish, was dedicated.

The chapel of Trinity Church was built some time after the main church was finished and the intention was to provide an altar, pews and communion rail, but because of the constant need of the chapel for additional seating capacity as a transept this idea was abandoned and the project of making a baptistry of the recess took shape. The work was carried out to harmonize with the architectural style of the church, which is Gothic.

The walls of the baptistry are paneled, a canopied screen has been built in the arch and the rail has been provided.

The wall in the recess has been treated with a color decoration toned to simulate an antique effect. The central idea of the arrangement has been to make a harmonious mass, emblematic of baptism, with no special emblem of furnishing unduly prominent.

Rev. Dr. Edward T. Sullivan, rector, who officiated at the unveiling and dedication, said of the new baptistry: "It adds another beautiful feature to our beautiful church, and one that will give added dignity and impressiveness to the administration of baptism, and by its art and symbolism will create an atmosphere that will deepen and enrich the understanding of that sacrament."

GYMNASTIC DEMONSTRATION

The annual Y. M. C. A. gymnastic demonstration will be held on Friday night April 6 at 8.00 in the Newton Y.

An interesting program has been arranged consisting of marching, drills, novelty races, games, gymnastics, pyramids, slack wire work, slide for life, a large African ape, clowns, etc.

All seats are reserved and can be secured from boy members or by calling the Y. M. C. A. The seating capacity is limited and as a large crowd always turns out to this affair reservations should be made early.

CHORAL SOCIETY CONCERT

The following noted soloists have been engaged for the Newton Choral Society's seventh concert, which is to be given Tuesday, April 10.

Marian Kingsbury, soprano; Rulon Y. Robison, tenor; Paul C. Scarborough, bass.

The society's orchestra, which has been holding rehearsals under Mr. Bates separately, will rehearse with the chorus beginning next Tuesday night at Central Church, at 7.30 sharp. Both orchestra and chorus are doing fine work, and a splendid concert is expected.

CITY HALL

A new flag has been added to the decorations of the aldermanic chamber. It is uniform with the present state flag but bears the seal of the city in place of the insignia of the state.

The Civic Club is making arrangements to hold its annual meeting on Monday, April 23, at the Brae Burn Club. Hon. Samuel L. Powers will give his reminiscences of the city government in the eighties.

BAD ACCIDENT

Mr. Russell Withers, a carpenter, had his right leg amputated and his left leg broken in two places Monday morning in a very unusual accident which occurred just as the 10 o'clock train from Boston was pulling out of the Parker Mills flag station, on its way to the Wareham station.

Mr. Withers was on his way to Wareham, where he was to have been met by Arthur Griffin of Marion and driven to Balen Stone's summer home in that town to do some special carpentering work.

Apparently Mr. Withers must have dropped asleep and when the brakeman called out the name of the station as the train stopped at Parker Mills, he understood the man to say "Wareham," for he sprang to his feet, rushed to the platform and jumped off. Realizing his mistake at the train started on towards Wareham, Mr. Withers attempted to climb aboard, missed his footing and fell in such a way that the wheels of one of the passenger cars passed over his right leg, severing it.

He was carried into the Parker Mills station where the Chief of Police Smith and Clerk of Courts Harold Husley applied an emergency tourniquet, staunching the flow of blood until the arrival of Dr. R. D. Stillman of Wareham, who prepared Withers for the journey back to Boston, where he was taken to the Fenway Hospital at 293 Newbury street, where his daughter is a nurse.

DEATH OF MR. HOWARD

William D. M. Howard, eldest son of the late William Henry Howard and Anna Dwight Whiting Howard of San Mateo, California, died Wednesday at the Newton Hospital. Mr. Howard is survived by his brother, John Kenneth Howard, and two sisters, Mrs. Frederick S. Whitwell, of 166 Marlboro street, Boston, and Frances Sargent Howard. His home was at 45 Islington road, Auburndale.

Mr. Howard, who was forty-eight years old, studied at Harvard, but was never graduated. He had an especial genius for mechanics, was interested in mining engineering, and had traveled extensively, having been in Siberia and Alaska, and for a time was identified with the Treadwell mine in this latter place. His grandfather, for whom he was named, originally lived in Temple place, but went West at an early age, and became a conspicuous figure in the thirties in California. He was a member of the Automotive Engineers Society, the Electro-Chemical Society and of Columbia Lodge of Boston.

Services were held at his late residence on Friday, Rev. Percival M. Wood officiating and the burial was in Mount Auburn.

NEWTON CLUB

A Neighborhood Dinner followed by informal bridge was held at the Newton Club on Tuesday night. There were twelve tables in play. Prizes were won by Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. Noyes, Mr. Harold C. Bond, and Mr. King. Mrs. Harold C. Bond and Mrs. W. H. Graham poured.

Saturday will be Men's Night. On Tuesday, March 27, the Calumet Club of Winchester will be the guests of the club. There will be friendly matches in pool, billiards, bowling, and auction bridge, followed by a buffet supper.

ST. JAMES THEATRE—George M. Cohan's drama, "The Miracle Man," will be presented this week at the St. James by the Boston Stock Company. The man of miracles is a paradox.

Deaf and dumb, for many years he has led the life of a hermit just outside of a little Maine coast village. The leader of a band of New York crooks learning of "the miracle man" decides to exploit him for gain. Upon going to the village he discovers that the old man has a niece in New York.

He wires for a girl of his gang, who comes to the village posing as the long lost niece. Shortly after her arrival other members of the gang put in their appearance. What follows forms a series of strongly dramatic situations of the true Cohan flavor. Mark Kent will act "the miracle man," Walter Gilbert the leader of the band of crooks, Miss Bushnell the "long lost niece," while an augmented cast of players will be seen in support.

THE NEWTON GRAPHIC

EDITORIAL

Alderman White asserts that he opposed the widening of Commonwealth avenue at Prince street, not because, but in spite of the Graphic editorials on the subject. We now call Alderman White's attention to the waste of money involved in the so-called "parking space" on Washington street near Centre place.

While garbage is always an unsavory subject, the proposed increase in cost of collection from $31,000 to $52,000 ought to call for something more drastic than a smelling committee.

The aldermen have acted with commendable wisdom in refusing to enter into a real estate development at Oak Hill.

An interesting development of the Zoning ordinance is the fact that special attention is now called to the location of gasoline filling stations in residential zones.

POLICE COURT

Anthony Marchioni, aged 19, of 108 West street, Newton, was in court yesterday morning, charged with creating a disturbance in a local theatre Wednesday night. He was arrested by Special Officer Hogan and Patrolman Frank Feeley. Marchioni, it was charged, had a small horn tucked in his handkerchief and was getting more laughs than the comedy. He was sentenced to a month in the House of Correction; he appealed.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

An interesting debate of last week which was omitted from the last Gilded Dome article, took place over a bill to restore to his former position one of the striking Boston policemen. The bill referred to a man who had a splendid record previous to the strike and was merely intended to have the way for retirement and a pension. Of course this was simply an opening wedge for the reinstatement of all the strikers and was so understood and after a long debate (chiefly for political effect) the bill was defeated by a two to one vote, mostly on party lines, the Democrats favoring and the Republicans opposing the bill. The speakers for the bill frequently referred to the action of the Civil Service Commission in allowing the strikers to be appointed to the police force in other cities and towns than Boston. City Solicitor Joseph W. Bartlett, a former member of that commission, could tell an interesting story of how that situation was brought about. Mr. Bartlett was the only member of the Commission to oppose that procedure.

The Senate has rejected the bill to increase the school age to 16 years. The House has had an epidemic of late in overturning the reports of its committees. On Monday there was quite a field day in this respect. Among them was a bill to give increased power to local governments in the regulation of billboards was substituted for an unfavorable report of the committee, the writer being the only Newton member voting for the bill. Mr. Wilbur E. Trussell of Newtonville was before the Public Health Committee last week in favor of his bill for a $150,000 hospital for the treatment of cancer.

Bills presented by the writer making the state's definition of intoxicating liquors the same as the federal government, and penalizing licensed victuallers and innholders who allowed the exposure or drinking of intoxicating liquors received an adverse report.

A matter in which the city employees of this city were interested came up in the House on Tuesday when a bill allowing an increase to $500 in the pension allowed to foremen and inspectors was substituted for an adverse report of the Social Welfare Committee.

There has been considerable discussion this week over the bill to make Armistice day a legal holiday and much oratory has been wasted, mostly by the Democrats who think they can see some partisan advantage in thus appealing to the American Legion. The House took wise action, however, in passing a resolve requesting the Governor to issue a proclamation for a proper observance of the day without making it a legal holiday, practically the same procedure as that now followed for Lincoln's birthday. It was pertinently pointed out that to make Armistice day a legal holiday simply meant one more football holiday and not a solemn observance in memory of those who died during the World War.

There will be no changes in the laws relative to Daylight Saving and in regard to a poll tax for women.

We would assure Mr. Gulian, the citizens of Newton, and the officers and student-body of Brown University, that this Board is now and will continue to be unanimous in its choice and that our citizens are almost unanimous in disapproval of the discourtesy which has been shown, and, moreover, that if he will sacrifice his personal feelings, which are so natural under the circumstances, and render us the service of his splendid character and leadership, he may be assured of the active and unceasing support of every citizen of Haverhill whose opinion has a value.

"Burr" and "Williams" News

The fourth grade pupils of the Burr School are finishing their "Boston" books. These give an account of the settlement of Boston, early life in Boston, its growth and importance, etc. There are several illustrations, such as one of Boston Harbor drawn by the pupils, a plan of some of the principal streets, and a sketch of the State dome.

About fifty members of the eighth grades of the Burr School have enrolled in a Home Hygiene Course given Monday afternoons in the School Hall by Miss Herrick. Those pupils who did not elect the course are having supplementary work in Science with Miss Higgins.

On Friday mornings the Williams Kindergarten and First Grade children meet together for songs, health work, and other exercises of mutual interest. This week First Grade children were to furnish a concert of Victor records brought from home, including fairy tales and Mother Goose rhymes.

Nelson Bell and Gordon Lawrence of Grade V of the Williams School entertained their class one morning last week by telling stories of life in Africa as there seen by them while living there. The boys showed interesting curios and snap-shots to the class.

The Human Mouth

Talking has greatly modified the human mouth. The important sounds of P. V. B. O. U. W. F. and M. are made with the lips. The prehensile bulb of the lower has grown large from constant use, crowding the two outer curves on either side to the corners of the mouth. In many mouths the lower lip exceeds the upper in size. You can gain a very clear idea of the difference of motivity for the two lips by inverting your head and looking at some one talking. Habit has accustomed you to see the lower lip in strong motion, and so you do not notice it, but when your head is inverted the speaker's mouth appears upside down, and a difference is readily apparent.

NORTHWARD FLOW OF RIVERS.

Many rivers flow north for part of their course, but because most of the rivers of the central part of the United States are tributaries of the Mississippi, and because of the wedge shape of the continent, not many rivers have a general northerly course. The principal rivers which flow north are: Champlain river and Lake Kanawha river, Red River of the North, St. Mary's river, Kootenai river in part and San Joaquin river.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt

This season of the year brings with it certain problems in club life that annually must be met. They concern nominating committees and individuals, rather than the clubs as a whole, yet upon the way in which they are met, depends the whole future of the clubs. Now it is that many women are facing the question, "To be or not to be" the president of their respective clubs. There are many sides to the question. The problem should be faced squarely. It should neither be turned down lightly nor should it be accepted without a full realization of the responsibility entailed. The club members may reasonably expect a president to give generously of her time, but it does not mean that her time can be demanded for every sort of trivial thing, and for unnecessary calls upon the telephone which eat up time and strength almost beyond belief. On the other hand, a president will do well to keep her hands off many unimportant details and leave them to the committees to whom they belong. It is impossible for one person to attend to all those details and at the same time keep a vision before her that she wishes her club to work toward. A president in accepting the position must expect the unexpected, for it is sure to happen. There should be a full realization of the extras that are sure to develop at often the most inopportune times and she should be ready to "meet the unseen with a cheer." Besides the drain upon time and strength, there is also a constant drain upon the pocketbook, a matter for which all clubs would do well to provide, as many already do. Before declining the office a woman should ask herself, if she has not a duty in the matter, and be ready to take her turn if she possibly can. Having once "set herself to the plow," outside the difficulties and the perplexities and the embarrassing details, there is a return in delightful associations, lasting friendships formed and a satisfaction in worthwhile accomplishment that amply repays one for all the hard work involved.

State Federation

Monday, March 26, 10.30 A. M. General E. Leroy Sweetser, commissioner of Labor and Industries, will speak in the course of State Administration, at 3 Joy street, Boston, under the auspices of the Civil Service department.

Wednesday, March 28, 1 P. M. Annual luncheon-conference of the Literature department at Hotel Westminster. John Clair Minot of the Boston Herald, will speak on "Present-Day Literature."

Under the auspices of the Home Economics department elaborate plans have been made for a Clothing Conference April 3 and 4, in Tremont Theatre, Boston. A full program will be given next week.

The Health Department is centering its attention upon the work of the Infantile Paralysis Clinic. Members of the committee past and present, have given $17 to this work in memory of Mrs. W. H. Alline, a member of the committee, who died recently. The Milton Woman's Club has given the Clinic $25 as its 25th anniversary gift.

Large clinics are being held in Reading as a result of the start in Diphtheria Prevention made by the Girl Scouts last summer after taking a course in public health with the Federation chairman, Mrs. S. H. Remick. The public health chairmen throughout the State have done a great deal to help educate the public to the value of diphtheria prevention.

Dr. George E. Vincent, president of the Rockefeller Foundation, in addressing the mid-winter session of the Maine Federation of Women's Clubs, held at Augusta, gave the following five rules for club women in health work:

1. Secure the facts before you start propaganda.
2. Give support first to projects which will have the greatest influence on the death-rate.
3. Be contented with slow and steady progress.
4. Give large attention to rural health, which, contrary to impression, is poorer than urban.
5. Persistently, ingeniously, resourcefully, educate the public in support of preventive medicine.

Local Announcements

The program includes Miss Myrtle Brown, soprano, Mr. Frank MacDonald, violin, and selections by reproducing piano. There is to be an interesting exhibit of Egyptian articles in charge of Mrs. P. V. Woodward, and Turkish coffee will be served.

POLICE COURT

Julius Cottens of 79 Faxon street, Nonantum, was in Court Saturday morning on the charge of maintaining a liquor nuisance and with assault and battery. The case was continued from last Monday. According to the testimony a police officer in plain clothes went to Cottens' house and tried to buy liquor. Cottens invited the man in and then proceeded to beat him. He was found guilty on both charges. Judge Bacon sentenced him to six months in the House of Correction on the liquor charge and fined him $10 for the assault. He appealed and was held in $600 bonds. Samuel Levine, alias Charles Gordon, aged 42, of 706 Tremont street, Boston, was charged with larceny. He was given a two months' suspended sentence to the House of Correction.

In District Court Monday morning before Judge Bacon four men were charged with gaming on the Lord's Day and two charged with being present at the game. All live in Newton and were arrested early Sunday morning by Sergt. Leehan, Patrolmen Velducio, McLean and Feeley in a house. For gaming, Loretto Gentile of 87 Adams street, Loretto Antonellis of 34 Cook street and John Boldini of 20 Jones street were fined $5 each, and Rocco Gentile of 81 West street, $10. For being present, Larry Dramondozzo of 59 Allison street and Loretto Dramondozzo of 85 West street were fined $2 each.

George Lee, alias Leonis, 23, colored, a houseman, living at 101 Thompson street, Winchester, was in Court Tuesday morning, charged with larceny of a watch from Mrs. Grenville S. MacFarland of 28 Sargent street, Newton, in whose employ he was for a short time. According to the testimony Lee went into a Boston shop to pawn the watch. At the time a Boston officer was in the shop investigating another case. He saw that Lee was carrying a gun and placed him under arrest. The Newton police took him, as they had been looking for him on the larceny charge. He was sentenced to three months in the House of Correction by Judge Bacon.

Andrew S. Siler of 15 Eastbourne road, Newton Centre, pleaded not guilty to a charge of manslaughter Saturday in the Malden Court, and his case was continued in $1000 until April 24. The victim was Jacob L. Chisholm of Everett, a driver, who had been for sixteen years in the employ of Frank E. Boyd, a milkman of Everett.

The accident happened at six o'clock Friday night, when Chisholm was on strike, was showing a new driver, Joseph F. Higgins of Medford, the milk route in Malden. Chisholm was riding on the front seat of Higgins was turning the corner of High and Main street to go into Acorn street. Siler was coming down the Main street hill, and while he saw the wagon and jammed on the brakes the car slid on the ice and hit the rear wheel of the milk cart.

RACE OF WORLD CONQUERORS

Saracens Came Within a Short Space of Controlling the Then Entire Known Earth.

The Saracens, who rose to such power during the Middle ages, were originally only a tribe of wandering Arabs who came from the Syro Arabian desert and harassed the Roman empire's frontiers. They were called Saraceni by the Romans and Greeks. Later on the name of Saracens was given to all Moors, Arabs and Turks—in fact, to all Mohammedans, or "infidels" as they were called. Dr. John William Draper, in his book, "The Conflict Between Religion and Science"—where he gave a long account of the Saracens—said, in describing the conquests they made after the death of Mahomet: "Never in the history of the world had there been so rapid and extensive a propagation of any religion as Mohammedanism. It was now dominating from the center of Asia to the western verge of Africa." At one time or another the Saracens conquered Egypt, Persia, Syria, North Africa and Palestine. They pushed their conquests into Spain under Tarik in 711, and after announcing their intention of conquering Italy, advanced into France as far as the banks of the Loire. Charles Martel (about 688-741), the Frankish or French ruler, in a great battle which took place near Tours, defeated the invaders, and 300,000 Saracens are said to have been killed, while the remainder retreated to Spain. In saving his own country Charles Martel saved the rest of Europe from being overrun by the Moslem hordes. Gibbon, in speaking of these historical events, made the following statement: "A victorious line of march had been prolonged above a thousand miles from the rock of Gibraltar to the banks of the Loire—a repetition of an equal space would have carried the Saracens to the confines of Poland and the Highlands of Scotland."

Civilization and Climate.

Prof. Ellsworth Huntington of Yale university marked on a map of the world the areas where climate was most favorable to human effort. He called these areas zones of climatic energy. Then he delved into history and plotted a map of civilization. He found that the two maps coincided. His conclusion was that "climate has a great influence on health, and its action on civilization in this way probably is greater than its direct effect or than the indirect results arising through agriculture or food."

Professor Huntington took the records of placeworkers in Pittsburgh factories and students at West Point and Annapolis and found that both physical and mental work varied in harmony with the weather, according to the Detroit News. He found that the death rate also fluctuated seasonally according to the weather. He therefore concluded that no high civilization is possible in tropical regions, or where weather conditions are adverse. No high accomplishment was held possible where temperature and humidity are unfavorable.

Not Talking to Husband.

There is no testimony in court that is as vehement and pointed as that of a militant housewife who seeks a divorce from her husband. This fact, it appears, is true especially when the wife's case is uncontested and the husband is not at the hearing.

During such a case in one of the county courts, the wife became very loud and vociferous in her descriptions and denunciations of the brutal manner in which, she said, her spouse had treated her. Her testimony was as rapid as a machine. In fact her words became jumbled and were lost in the noisy din of her own walls.

"Now look here a minute," the judge interrupted. Nobody can get heads or tails of what you are saying as long as you go on that way. Now turn here and talk to me and tell me the story. Just tell me so I can understand it, but remember you are not talking to your husband."

Bobbie had always been intrigued by the wax figures in the windows, but had never asked any questions concerning them. Several weeks ago he and his mother emerged from the elevator on the second floor of one of the department stores, immediately in front of a wax lady clad in a gorgeous pink satin breakfast jacket. Bobbie rushed up to the figure and touched her face and neck, then turned and said in a horrified tone, "Mother! She's wax!"

Mother smiled tolerantly and replied, "Yes, son, did you think she was real?"

Henhouse Raided by Flying Rat.

Sam Chrowski, a Russian farmer, living a mile below Packer, Conn., says flying rats are carrying off eggs and young chicks.

Sam declares they are not bats, nor flying squirrels, but big rats with wings like a bird. All rat holes to his henhouse were plugged and still the eggs and chickens disappeared. The farmer hid and watched for the marauder. Soon, he said, through a broken window up near the roof a flying rat came in.

Backsliding.

"Fellie seems interested in that book she's reading."
"She's careful to keep the title hidden. Maybe it's a naughty book."
"It may be Dickens, or something of that sort. Even a dapper lates to be ridiculed by other young women in the same way of life."

DEATH OF OLD CITY OFFICIAL

Mr. Charles A. Peck, who has been connected with the Newton Street Department for thirty-three years, died Thursday, March 15th, in his 67th year. Mr. Peck was born in Newton Centre in 1856 and was a graduate of the Newton Schools.

He succeeded his father, John A. Peck, as foreman of the division of the Street Department known as District C, which comprises Newton Centre, Newton Highlands, Upper Falls, Oak Hill, and Chestnut Hill. His fairness and courteous manner made him well liked among all those who worked with him.

Mr. Peck is survived by a brother, William Peck, of Saugus, and a sister, Mrs. Gold, who lives in Cambridge. The funeral will take place Sunday, March 18th, from the Congregational Church at Newton Centre, Rev. Edward M. Noyes officiating, and was attended by several city officials, including His Honor, Mayor Childs and Mr. Stuart, the Street Commissioner. The men of District C were all present at the services.

DEATH OF MR. DOLE

Mr. Charles S. Dole, a resident of Newtonville for many years, died last Friday at the Waltham Hospital after an illness of three weeks.

Mr. Dole, who came from an old and distinguished Boston family, was 69 years of age. His father, John Dole, was a well-known ship owner, and the Dole mansion on Harrison avenue was once in the heart of fashionable Boston.

Mr. Dole was well known in military circles and was a member of the Sons of the Revolution. He is also remembered as a former member of the Newton Club. He is survived by a widow, who resides on Madison avenue, Newtonville.

Funeral services were held at Mt. Auburn chapel on Monday, Rev. Richard T. Loring, rector of St. John's church officiating.

HOME FOR CRIPPLED CHILDREN

The new building now nearing completion at Oak Hill, Newton Centre, in connection with the New England Home for Crippled Children, is an "Assembly Hall," as each child is allowed to receive two visitors on the monthly visiting day. There are often more than two hundred relatives and guardians present, and a big room is necessary. Besides this social intercourse, the children may be entertained in this hall by moving pictures, story-telling and radio entertainments, and may indulge in such games and calisthenics as they are fitted for.

In this building is also a well equipped chemical laboratory for experimental heliotherapy work.

LODGES

There were ten tables in play at the whist held last week Thursday in Odd Fellows Hall under the auspices of the Sumner P. Lawrence Rebekah Lodge. Prizes were won by Mrs. Dana Clark, Mrs. Frances Sweley, and Mrs. Edwin McGill. Mrs. E. L. Buell was in charge.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

On Friday afternoon, March 16, one of the prettiest children's parties of the season was given by Mrs. C. R. Beach at her residence, 274 Chestnut street, West Newton, in honor of the birthday of her granddaughter, Countess Nathalie Wood, daughter of Mrs. Vera Wood of West Newton.

The young hostess received with her mother, Mrs. Vera Wood, and little Miss Becky Williams of Newtonville, and Master James Richards, of Chestnut street, West Newton.

Dancing, competitive games, for which prizes were given, followed by a wonderful Punch and Judy show, a funny clown, and a magician with a trained rabbit, were some of the enjoyable features of the afternoon.

The first prize in the donkey game was a huge velvet bunny, the booby prize a walking peacock. The boys' first prize was a large green duck, the booby prize a rabbit spelling board.

The children then formed in line and marched to music to the dining room where the table was arranged in a most unusual fashion. A Kewpie doll, three feet high, the centre piece, literally covered with candles, horns, and rose blowers, snaps, and caps, for the children, met the eyes of the pleased little ones. The gold ring in the birthday cake was a subject of much interest, and the lucky winner, Faith Garrison, was much envied.

After the repast, games and dancing were resumed, and when it came Good-bye time, each child was presented with a souvenir of the day to take home.

Fifty children were invited.

THE EASTER PAGEANT

At 7.30, Easter Sunday evening, "The Dawning," a pageant of the Resurrection, written by Lyman R. Bayard, will be presented by members and friends of the Abundant Congregational Church school. The pageant will be presented not as a play but as a religious service expressing in this form the message of the resurrection of our Lord.

The pageant requires about fifty persons for its presentation. The many helpers required are willingly giving their services in extensive and careful preparation. There is every reason to expect that it will prove to be a beautiful and impressive setting forth of the resurrection story.

The general committee in charge consists of the following: Professor Mayer, Mr. Felix Ranlett, Mrs. Frank F. Davidson, Mrs. Nelson Cooley, Mrs. Edward P. Drew, Miss Ruth Obermeyer and Miss Evelyn Keyes. The chairman of special committees are: Mr. Horace Sargent, Mrs. Scott Rider, Mrs. William Medlicott, Mrs. Parker Fiske, Mrs. Nelson Cooley, Mr. Judd Farley, Mr. Herbert E. Case and Mr. James S. Patterson, with Mr. Miller as treasurer.

Y. W. C. A.

At a tea served to team captains and workers in the Y. W. C. A. campaign, on Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Francis J. Flagg, Chairman, reported for the Newtons. The district captains reporting to Mrs. Flagg were: Mrs. Henry D. Lloyd for Newtonville; Mrs. Herbert E. Fales, for West Newton; Mrs. Herbert S. Kimball, for Waban; Mrs. Wolfert G. Webber, for Newton Highlands; Mrs. Henry A. Wentworth, for Abundant, and Mrs. A. M. Stone for Newton Centre.

—The death of both Mr. and Mrs. George L. Pearson was a shock to their many friends. Mr. Pearson conducted an express business between Newton and Boston many years ago and at one time resided at 7 Bacon street. Mrs. Pearson was a daughter of the late Col. W. E. Starratt of Paradise, N. S.

Mr. Pearson was born in Cornwallis, N. S. Upon the death of Col. Starratt, they bought his farm and lived on it till about ten years ago, when they sold it and built themselves a very nice house on a reserve portion of the farm. Two years ago they sold out and went to Portland, Maine, to reside with their adopted son, Homer. Early in the month they both were taken ill and on the 10th Mrs. Pearson passed away at the hospital and on the 15th Mr. Pearson died. They leave two adopted children, Homer, in Portland and a daughter, Helen, who resided with them. Both Mr. and Mrs. Pearson will be sadly missed in Nova Scotia for they were foremost in every good work, "Doing for others" being their motto. Mrs. Pearson was County Secretary for B. F. Mission Society (Annapolis Co.) several years, subsequently Provincial Secretary for the same society. Mr. Pearson was a successful and progressive farmer.

The remains will be taken to Paradise for interment.

NEWTON CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The Civic Division Committee of the Newton Chamber has been appointed by First Vice President Leon B. Rogers, Chairman of this Division, and includes the following members: Wm. J. Doherty of Nonantum; Wm. B. Baker of West Newton; Albert P. Carter of Newtonville; Phillip Nichols of Newton; Oscar E. Nutter of Newton Upper Falls; George V. Phipps of Waban; W. J. Spaulding of Auburndale; Henry H. Wilder of Chestnut Hill; Bernard Early of Newton Lower Falls; Charles F. Johnson of Newton Highlands; and Judge E. B. Bishop of Newton Centre. Practically all of the Civic activities of the Chamber are expected to originate within this committee, which is to be virtually the Board of Directors of the Civic Division. This Division, comprising members of the Chamber not engaged in business in Newton, is the largest branch of the Chamber and has a present membership exceeding nine hundred.

The membership development of the Chamber was resumed late last month and substantial progress is being made. Forty citizens having made applications for membership last week. The total membership is now considerably in excess of 1200, and it is hoped that it may be consistently developed throughout the year and the desired total of 2,000 reached before the beginning of 1924.

The Traffic Ordinance Committee, appointed to cooperate with the Aldermanic Committee, has drafted a sample ordinance which will be submitted to the latter committee in the immediate future. The personnel of the Chamber Committee includes Ex-Alderman Henry D. Lloyd, chairman; Chief Bernard F. Burke of the Newton Police Department, Chief Walter B. Randlett of the Newton Fire Department; Street Commissioner George E. Stuart; and Henry C. Robbins of Waban, with Ex-Alderman Philip Nichols, Chairman of the 1923 Aldermanic Committee, assisting in an advisory capacity. This committee held its final meeting on Wednesday evening when the proposed ordinance was completed and put in shape for the consideration of the Aldermanic Committee.

The advertising newspaper plan of the Mercantile Division is being presented to the Newton business men during the present week and is meeting with a very favorable reception. While the publication of the proposed newspaper will not be attempted until such time as contracts are in hand for all advertising space, it is hoped that the first issue will appear early in April. All contracts are for a period of three months, which will provide ample time for thoroughly trying out this project.

Subscriptions are now being received by the Mercantile Division Committee for the service of the Newton Credit Reporting Bureau which is to be organized and maintained under the auspices of this Committee. It is estimated that the total operating expense for the first year will be about $3,500, and the voluntary subscriptions already received exceed $1,000.

Following the development of the Co-operative Advertising plan, the Chamber will give its attention to enlarging the subscription list for the Credit Bureau. Expressions of interest in these projects have been so numerous that it is confidently expected that both will soon be made available to Newton business men.

DEDICATION

The new Parsonage of the Perrin Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church of Newton Lower Falls was dedicated Sunday afternoon, March 25th. This Church is located on Washington street, not far from the River Charles, which divides Newton from Wellesley. The parsonage has been built on the church lot, a little to the rear, and to one side of the church building,—an

A beautiful luncheon was given by the Building Committee to the people of the church and community, Friday evening, March 23rd, under the auspices of Miss Laura Baker's class of High School girls. The toastmaster, Herbert E. Locke, of Newton Upper Falls, brought greetings from the

"The story of the Resurrection," a play pageant, written by the Rev. Chester A. Drummond of Channing Church, will be presented on Sunday evening, at seven-thirty, in the church auditorium under his personal direction, by a cast of more than fifty persons.

The theme centres about the thought that whatever the vision at the tomb may have been, it brought renewed courage and loyalty to the followers of Jesus, and in the words of Harnack, the Church historian, "was the birthplace of the indestructible belief that death is vanquished." Starting in the gloom and blackness of despair on the part of Jesus' disciples after the crucifixion, it works up to a climax of light and joy and triumph following the resurrection. No pains have been spared to make this pageant a notable production in a class by itself. Not only has Mr. Drummond written the

CENTRAL COUNCIL

The Annual Meeting of the Newton Central Council was held at the Red Cross House on Tuesday evening, March 27.

Reports of the Chairmen of the Health, Welfare, and Civic Groups were made—all reporting progress. Mr. Ernst Hermann, of the Community Group made an exceptionally interesting report on the park and playground facilities of the City of Newton, calling attention to the importance of conserving and improving what we now have and organizing the additional playground facilities in certain parts of Newton. The report also strongly recommended the greater use of our school buildings as Community Centres where gatherings and meetings could be held.

GIRL SCOUTS

Annual Winter Rally at the High School Gymnasium a Great Success

On Saturday, March 24, the Newton Girl Scouts held their annual Midwinter Rally, in the gymnasium of the Newton High School, Newtonville. Three hundred and thirty-eight Scouts, thirty-five officers, and about five hundred guests were present. This is the largest rally the girls have had since the Scouts first started here in Newton six years ago and those who were present, both participants and spectators, were deeply impressed with the growth and strength of this organization.

At two-thirty o'clock, Sergeant Bugler, Marion Maxim, a second Lieutenant in Troop 1, played First Call and all the Troops formed outside the Hall, marching in five minutes later when the Bugle and Drum played Assembly. The Troops marched around the hall as the Corps played the Newton March, which was written for them a year ago by Lieutenant Roche, lined up for the opening ceremony on three sides of the hall. Colors were played as the flag was unfurled, the pledge of allegiance given, the first verse of the Star Spangled Banner sung and the Girl Scout Promise and Laws repeated. After the Captains had reported for their Troops the program of the afternoon began. The first event was a competition drill. Each troop entering this event had a picked patrol to drill. Mrs. Peter Kuntz, head of the Physical Education Department for the girls in the Newton Schools, Miss Dorothy Dean, Director of the Metropolitan Division Girl Scouts and Miss Margaret Steadman, a senior in the Boston School of Physical Education, were the judges of this event. They gave the first ribbon to Troop 2, the Newton Troop, and the second place to Troop 3, Seniors of Newton Centre. Troop 4, Waban was third.

The second event was a Compass Game. Sixteen girls from Troop 11, the Troop which was organized in Newton Highlands about four weeks ago formed a circle at one end of the hall and represented sixteen points of the Compass. Each troop entering this event had sixteen girls on a team and they formed in relays at the other end of the hall. Each Captain, at the first signal gave out a compass direction to each scout in her team and at the next whistle the girls started the race. (Continued on Page 2)

SCHOOL NOTES

Edited by Dorothy Drake

Ralph Waldo Emerson School

The Health Class held graduating exercises in the kindergarten rooms on Tuesday afternoon for the ten members of the class who have built themselves up to standard weight. These members entered the class at more than 10 per cent below the standard. In honor of their accomplishment certificates and pins were awarded to the ten members. Much Miss Melick for this showing.

Miss Marion D. Bassett gave an interesting lantern lecture on the "Luray Caverns" of Virginia in the hall on Monday afternoon. The lecture was illustrated with colored slides and was given to the pupils of grade 4 to 8. Miss Bassett visited during the February vacation in Philadelphia, Washington and Virginia. "Little Mary Red Cross" sent Easter greetings to the school in the form of a $5 cash donation. We thank the donor for this and many other such remembrances.

The teachers of the school gave a surprise party and shower on Monday afternoon, to Mrs. Elsie B. Oakes, teacher of grade 1, in honor of her engagement which was recently made known. The party was held in the kindergarten rooms. Mrs. Oakes intends to retire from her position in May.

An entertainment for the children of this district was given at the Upper Falls Woman's Club, in the kindergarten rooms on the afternoon of March 20. Miss Annie V. Baker was the entertainer. Refreshments were served at the close of the entertainment.

A Merry Company, a comic opera, written by Collin Cox, has been selected for the proposed entertainment in May. Rehearsals will start next week.

Letters were received last week, from the Province of Victoria, Australia, by the pupils of the 7th grade. These were full of interest and were answers to similar letters sent from the school, last October.

Hyde School

One of Miss Abbott's geography classes recently held an interesting debate on Trusts. Those of the affirmative side were: Dorothy True, Tony LaRosa, Orlonzo Planders, Natalie Whitaker, and Muriel McAdams. The winners were Evan Collins, Richard Gibbs, Albert Hutchinson, Eleanor Hutchinson, and Sherburn Walker. James Waters, Nancy Ryther and Boyce Goodsoe acted as judges.

Marion Stratton gave a most delightful and instructive talk to both sixth grade geography classes on her recent visit to Nassau. She had many pictures and curios to illustrate her talk.

Mrs. Doehler's seventh grade geography class greatly enjoyed a lantern lesson on Norway and Sweden. The slides were kindly loaned by Richard Harwood.

Miss Hanscom's eighth-grade took great delight in an informal presentation of the court scene from "The Merchant of Venice."

Miss Greene's fourth grade has formed a Junior Audubon Club, with Margaret Bertsch as president, Ruth Weeks as vice-president and Constance Moray as secretary. The members have received a pin with a red-headed wood-pecker on it and six illustrated leaflets describing the birds and their habits.

Christopher MacGrath who has returned from Panama, gave a most interesting talk on the schools and customs there.

Miss Greene's class gave a concert of the Newton Masonic Executive Council, to be held in the state armory, at West Newton, on Friday evening, May 4th. The Shrine band of 135 pieces has been engaged to furnish the music.

Junior High School

A very interesting debate was held on Tuesday, March 27th during the fifth period. It was Resolved: That the principals of the Republican party have been more beneficial to the United States than those of the Democratic party.

Affirmative: Margaret Merrill, Leader; Harold Macy, Givny D. Quimby, John Roche.

Negative: Warren Adams, Leader; Virginia Farnham, Eleanor Harding, Josephine Buckley.

The assembly on March 23, was honored by the presence of Mr. Wheeler, Miss Bragg and some members of the school board. The ninth grade gave a play taken from "The Vicar of Wakefield." Mr. Wheeler spoke on "boosting your own town."

An orchestra, under Miss Grossman, has been formed and is preparing to "come out."

The members are: Lilian White, piano; Edward Hurlily, first violins, Margaret Boudreau, Mary Gannon, John Mahoney; Rico Argento, second violins, Margaret Merrill, Julia Cantor, Ethel Lewis; Frances Eddy, cornet; Leonard Bassett, saxophone; Leonard Thomas, xylophone.

The third Tuesday of every month is parent's day. Last week many parents inspected the building, escorted by Student Police.

During the music period of division I-B, a violinist accompanied on the piano by Miss Sanderson, entertained.

The girls gym squad having the most points was presented with tickets to the High School Gym meet on Friday.

Division II-A, defeated II-D, in flat ball. II-G, with George McNeil as captain will play II-A, and II-F on Wednesday. Interclass basketball games are also becoming popular.

Battery practice was held on the school grounds, Thursday.

The Monday dancing class continues to be very popular. The members hope soon to be able to join in the school dances.

The Stearns

Miss Sara Schlechter social worker for the Stearns School Centre, gave a farewell luncheon to the teachers Wednesday. Miss Schlechter is leaving this week to be married to Dr. C. W. Clark of Newtonville. Miss Schlechter will be greatly missed in both the school and community.

The second Parents' Day was held on Wednesday, when the seventh grades invited their fathers and mothers to hear the work done in different subjects. About twenty parents responded to the invitation.

The eighth grade clubs met as usual the last hour on Monday forenoon. The Music Club heard the story of "The Trovatore" and then two record selections were given. Margaret Hahn gave a piano solo, and Barbara Hills told a story. Then the singing of a song closed the meeting.

In the English Club, the meeting took the form of contests, in naming authors from their pictures, and in telling the authors of certain quotations. As a final number, "The Psalm of Life" was given by Robert Condit.

A general talk on Birds occupied the attention of the Science Club.

Among other things mentioned were the care of the eggs by the birds, the first appearance of the young, and the first lessons in flying.

Laseil

The honors at the Gymnasium Meet went to a team made up of the underclassmen: Sophomore, Freshman and Sub-Freshman. The Alumnae team was made up of members of the Class of '22.

On Friday, a group of girls leave for Washington, for a ten days' trip under the chaperonage of Miss Lillie E. Potter.

"Mother Church," the First M. E. Church in Newton. Prof Marshall L. Perrin, in honor of whose father's services the Church is named, delighted the guests with a brief history of the founding and early years of the society. However, he said, "it is dangerous to reminisce." The dawn is in the future. Let all eyes be turned toward the dawn!

Peter C. Baker, as chairman of the Building Committee, spoke of the loyal co-operation of the ladies and the men in the parsonage project. The pastor, Rev. George R. Wolverson, spoke in appreciation of the sacrifices of the people of the church, declaring that no reminiscences could recall greater loyalty and devotion. "They have done what they could," was his fervent recognition of their co-operation in this and all other endeavors of the two years of service with them.

"The Parsonage in the Community," an address by Rev. Walter W. Van der Neut, of the Newton Heights Methodist Episcopal Church, climaxed the evening's program. He opened all hearts to a sympathetic appreciation of the ministerial life with its hardships and courageous sacrifices. Since the minister and his wife never have a home of their own, he said, make the Parsonage as home-like as loving hands can make it. He described the Parsonage as "a house of faith," where young or old who doubt may be directed to the path of assurance; as "a house of hope," where the door is ever open to those who have been bereaved and hunger for the message of eternal life; and as "a house of love," the shrine where is the marriage altar, and the home from which radiates the loving influence of marital, parental and filial love.

Especially guests at the luncheon were: Rev. Guy W. Miner, rector of St. Mary's Episcopal Church of Lower Falls; Dr. and Mrs. Gates of the Wellesley Hills Congregational Church; and Rev. and Mrs. Garnet of the Newton Methodist Episcopal Church.

Bishop John Hamilton was present at both the Sunday services. He administered Holy Communion at the morning service, and special Palm Sunday music was rendered by the Junior Choir. The Theology Quartet rendered very excellent music for the dedication service in the afternoon.

Bishop Hamilton preached a powerful sermon on the cleansing of the leper, Naaman, by El'isha. Pledges and cash gifts toward the Parsonage Fund at this service amounted to about $3450.00. The total cost, when all bills are in, is expected to reach $8500.00, about $1000 more than was formerly estimated. About $7250.00 are now in sight, leaving $1250.00 yet to be raised.

All these services were jubilant successes. This church is proud of its beautiful Parsonage, the whole community has expressed manifest interest, and the young minister and his three-year bride are happy in their anticipation of living in, and serving the community from, the home which the church and community have provided.

DEATH OF FORMER RESIDENT

Mrs. Charlotte C. Smith, widow of John O. Smith, died Friday night in Brookline. Mrs. Smith was in her eighty-fifth year and was a native of Liverpool, N. S. She had been a widow for eighteen years and during most of that time she had lived in Newtonville, removing there from Boston, which had been her place of residence during her husband's lifetime. Her two surviving sons are George S. Smith of 233 Grant avenue, Newton Centre, and Charles Smith of Brookline.

CHARLES RIVER COUNTRY CLUB

The Club House is being enlarged by a room 62 to 30 feet to be used for banquets, dancing and a ladies' lounge.

It was run as a relay race, the girls placing their directions in the hat held by the Scout at the point she was to run to and returning to tag the second girls and so on until all had run. North was the only point marked. Speed and accuracy counted in this game and Troop 5, West Newton, won the first place. Troop 3 Seniors came in second and Troop 7, Upper Falls, and 8, Auburndale, tied for third place.

The Question Relay came next. Ten questions which were drawn from a group of twenty sent to the Captains a few weeks ago were asked to the Scouts who ran in relay teams from one end of the hall to the other. Each question had to be correctly answered before the second question could be asked. Speed as well as accuracy counted in this game. Troop 7 won first place, Troop 3 Seniors second place and Troop 1, Newtonville, came in third.

The Bucket Brigade caused lots of fun, with hats for buckets, empty spoons for water and eleven teams of fourteen scouts each putting out a raging fire. Troop 1 won this game, Troop 5 came in second and Troop 3 Seniors won third place.

The Observation Game was won by Troop 11, Newton Highlands, and everyone was glad to have this new Troop win a first ribbon at its first Rally. The teams for this game were made of ten Scouts each. Two Troops lined up facing each other and at a signal, after they had looked hard at the opponent opposite, the girls turned around and changed three things on their uniforms in plain sight. Then they looked at each other again and each girl wrote on a card the things which she thought her opponent had changed. Then the card was corrected by the opponent and all were handed in to the scorers who gave out the places. Troop 5 won second place and Troops 1 and 6, Newtonville, tied for third.

The last game was the Kerchief Game. This was played with kerchiefs made from unbleached linen cut like triangular bandages. Commodore Longfellow of the American Red Cross Life Saving says that there are 57 varieties of ways that the Scout neckerchief may be used. The girls demonstrated only six ways at the Rally. There were six girls on each team and each girl had a patient. When the signal was given the first girl ran across the hall and put the bandage which she had drawn on her patient.

When she had finished she ran back to her team and the second girl came across and so on until the six patients from each Troop were all lined up ready for the judges. Speed and accuracy counted. The six uses of the neckerchief demonstrated were, the cap, the smoke mast, the trench bandage, the sling, the hand bandage and bandaging a sprained ankle. Troop 5 won this event, 3 Seniors came in second and Troop 2, third.

After this the Newton Girl Scout Bugle and Drum Corps gave a short program which was very much enjoyed and heartily applauded and then the Merit Badges were given out. The names of the Badges and the girls who won them will be printed next week.

Scholarship badges were awarded to 17 Scouts. These names will be printed next week.

The awarding of "Five Year Service Stripes" came as a surprise to the girls. This is rather a new award. It is given to a girl after she has been an active Scout in the organization for five years. Thirty-eight of these stripes were given out. These names will also be printed next week.

Another surprise was the awarding of three Medals of Merit. This medal is only given to girls who have done very exceptional Scout work, in their Troop, their home, their church, and their community. It is applied for by the Captain who has such a girl in her Troop or by some member of the Troop Committee when given to a Captain and must be passed on by the Local Council, the State Council, and the National Standards Committee. It is not an easy Medal to get. The girls to whom it was awarded were, Second Lieutenant Mary Howard, Troop 1; Barbara Partridge, Troop 2 and Second Lieutenant Alice Phelps, Troop 5.

Mrs. Frank A. Day, Commissioner for the Newton Girl Scouts and Mrs. Albert Carter, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Newton Council Girl Scouts, gave out the awards and ribbons.

Captain Doris Lovell, Troop 7, and Lieutenant Marion Maxim, Troop 1, were time keepers; Captain Sprague, Troop 6 acted as Aide, and Lieutenants Eleanor Holmes, Troop 7, and Margaret Ball, Troop 2, were the official scorers.

Scouts and Officers and Local Director, all worked together. It was this cooperation, the fine spirit of both girls and officers and the friendly interest and enthusiasm shown by the audience which made this Rally the most successful one which the Newton Girl Scouts have ever held.

CHURCH REDEDICATED

The dedication of the reconstructed Unitarian Church, took place last Sunday morning. The wooden frame work has been covered with brick and stucco, a steeple has been added and a new lighting system installed. The parish house has also been rebuilt. It is a spacious rectangular building dignified and in good taste, and has a good stage. The total cost of the reconstruction was over $55,000.

The dedication services were in charge of the Rev. George Lawrence Parker, minister of the church. The sermon of the occasion was preached by the Rev. Henry Foote of the Theological School of Harvard University.

Following the sermon the congregation marched into the parish house where greetings were brought to them from the American Unitarian Association by Dr. Samuel A. Eliot, President of the Association, and verbal greetings were delivered by Mr. Henry M. Williams, treasurer of the association.

The next speaker was the Rev. George E. Horr, President of the Newton Theological Institution, who brought greetings from the community.

An address on behalf of the parish of the Unitarian Church, was then presented by Mr. Charles P. Powers, chairman of the parish executive committee, to Mr. A. Cram Fulton, chairman of the rebuilding committee. Other members of the executive and rebuilding committees were: Messrs. Frederick T. Parks, treasurer; William T. Coar, clerk; A. L. Lewis, S. C. Dalrymple, Mrs. T. S. Widger, Mrs. S. C. Taber, Mrs. L. F. Muther, and the Rev. George Lawrence Parker.

The ceremonies were concluded by the lighting of the newly laid fire on the hearth by Mrs. Ellen Ferguson, the oldest member of the church, assisted by Miss Edith Gammans.

LITTLE MEN

Many notable names appeared among the Lend A Hand Dramatic Club's list of patronesses for the Jordan Hall performances of "Little Men" on the matinees of Friday and Saturday, April 13 and 14.

The dramatization of the book, arranged by Ethel Hale Freeman of West Newton, makes a play especially suitable for children between the ages of six and fifteen years, as it deals with the boys and girls at Prof. Bhaer's School at Plumfield, and includes in its plot the lie told by Nat, the Boys' Circus in the old barn, the stealing of the egg money and Dan's sacrifice.

The work of producing the play is in the hands of the following committee: Miss Caroline Freeman, Director; Miss Edith May, Business Manager; Miss Dorothy Miner, Head Usher; Miss Ethel Howland, Program and Publicity; Miss Dorothy Gray, Stage Manager; Mrs. George S. Fuller, Costumes; Miss Isabel Skipwith, Properties; and Miss Frances Gibson, Candy Sale.

DEATH OF MR. ASHENDEN

Mr. Richard E. Ashenden died at his home on Wolcott street, Auburndale, last week Thursday, in his 86th year. Mr. Ashenden was born in Chatham, England, and has lived in Auburndale fifty-two years. He was a Civil War veteran, and was a member of the 44th Regiment and a former commander of the Charles Ward Post. For many years he was a lay reader in the Church of the Messiah. He was formerly connected with the N. W. Rice Co., of Boston. Surviving him are four children, E. Harold Ashenden, and Frank S. Ashenden of Auburndale; Arthur W. Ashenden of Newton Highlands; and Guy P. Ashenden of Newton Centre. Services were held at his late residence on Monday, Rev. Edward P. Drew officiating, and the burial was in the Newton Cemetery.

ST. JAMES THEATRE—To the St. James this week comes "Turn to the Right," peach orchard and all, and in the hands of the Boston Stock Company it should prove one of their biggest successes. It was originally produced by John Golden, whose "Spite Corner" at this same theatre a few weeks ago was a decided hit. John E. Hazzard, now appearing with the Greenwich Village Follies, wrote the play in collaboration with Winchell Smith. Mr. Hazzard will appear in a role of his play, Friday matinee.
Mr. Gilbert and Miss Bushnell have the principal roles, and an augmented cast of players will add their talents to this success.

"IN INDIA"

"In India," the two-act operetta which was given with such success last week by the Grade Teachers' Club, will be repeated at the Hunnewell Club, next Wednesday evening, for the benefit of the club's Sick Fund.

The Law of the Land, Must and Shall Be Respected

EDITORIAL

The people of Newton ought to be well pleased with the way in which the coal shortage has been handled in this city. Of course there have been many cases of distress and much inconvenience, but, as compared with other Massachusetts municipalities, Newton has apparently been as least troubled as any. Our thanks are due to Mr. Oliver M. Fisher, who has given a large amount of valuable time to the unthankful task of Fuel Administrator and to the wholehearted co-operation with which nearly all of our coal dealers have given him in relieving a serious situation. Let us hope that before another winter comes around ample precautions shall have been taken to prevent another coal famine in this country. We surely ought to have brains enough in our Federal government to provide the necessary remedy.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The Legislature has been busy this week, on many matters of interest and on some of which the Boston newspapers have taken a keen interest.

A large amount of space has been taken in advocating the location of the proposed new bridge at Cottage Farm at Magazine street, and the Herald, has had many things to say about this matter. Strange to say the House by a vote of 146 to 57 (almost three to one) killed the Magazine street proposition. And yet, it is not strange when careful consideration is given the matter. To anyone who looks to the future of automobile traffic, it seems almost a crime to take any action which would lead additional automobile traffic into our already congested business squares, and Magazine street, with its direct approach to Central square, Cambridge, was a striking example of this plan.

The House also voted this week to increase the height of buildings in Boston, from 125 to 155 feet, and did so by so large a voice vote that no one questioned the result. There is a possibility that a second sober thought may postpone this radical change for another year.

Governor Cox has returned the bill passed on petition of many Newton women that hearings on certain sex matters in the police courts should be held in private. The Governor said he was in sympathy with the project of the bill, but wanted some changes made in it. It is understood that the matter will be ironed out to the satisfaction of both sides.

A bill to give local municipalities larger powers in the matter of regulating billboards was passed this week by the House, by a large margin.

Possibly the most amazing action taken this week, was the substitution yesterday, by the House, of a bill for old age pensions in place of an unfavorable report from the Social Welfare committee. This action was taken by a vote of 82 to 64, at the very end of the afternoon, and probably does not represent the sentiment of the House. It is the first time that this revolutionary measure has ever received a favorable vote in either branch.

The three Newton representatives have not voted as a unit this week, the writer voting against his colleagues and with a minority of the House in favor of granting the bonus to the Yeoman (F), the women employed during the war in the Navy Department. Representative Salton-stall voted with the minority in each case against the bill board bill, and for the Magazine street bridge, and Representative Early voted with a majority of the House, in favor of the old age pension bill.

The various bills affecting the relations of the state and county are still in committee, but may be out by next week. It is rumored that there will be an attempt made to change the present situation.

Speaker Young was absent part of the session, on Monday, in order to attend a town meeting in Weston, where he retired after thirteen years as a selectman of that town. Local government, will always be a success when men like Mr. Young are able and willing to give years of service for their fellows and to set a standard for public service in every village and town in the Commonwealth.

The tax on gasoline, and compulsory insurance for motor cars are still in committee.

—J. C. Brimblecom.

ROAD OF THRILLS

For Real Beauty Travelers Have Declared There Is Nothing on Earth Surpassing It.

"Travelers are urged, and properly so, to see America first, but no person can claim to have fulfilled the admonition," says Editor Howe of the Atchison (Kansas) Globe in a recent issue, "unless he has made a trip over the San Diego Short Line from Yuma, Arizona, to the coast city, the thrill road of this continent. While the road known as the San Diego & Arizona is 220 miles long, only 11 miles is thrill territory. During that 11 miles, it passes through Carrizo mountain gorge, dodging through 17 tunnels which alone were driven at a cost of nearly two millions of dollars, and clinging, when out in the open, to a roadbed chiseled from the sides of mountains, with gaping canyons almost straight below you to a distance in places as great as 900 feet. Above the track are sheer and almost perpendicular walls of granite. As the train slips slowly around sharp mountain curves on its shelf, which from a distance looks like a burro trail, one gets as many thrills as are experienced in aviation, but with confidence inspired by the knowledge that he is secured and upon a firm footing through modern railroad construction. The San Diego & Arizona was the only railroad completed during the late war. It was opened in 1919. Its total cost was over eighteen millions of dollars and it is owned jointly by J. D. and A. B. Spreckles and the Southern Pacific. It was built to give San Diego a direct line to the east and before its completion everything moving westward into San Diego or going east from there had to pass through Los Angeles.

"Because of its enormous cost the road doesn't pay, it is said, but it is a great scenic route. The San Diego & Arizona hugs the international boundary closely, crossing and recrossing it a number of times. In fact for 44 miles it is in Old Mexico, but in the peaceful section of Lower California. No passports are required of passengers, and there is no inspection of through-baggage. The train stops at several Mexican villages where larger beer signs may be seen from the car windows, but the thirsty must retain their thirst. The train doesn't stop long enough to wet whistles, and, anyway, vestibules are not opened. There is no chance for passengers to leave the train. Persons who have traveled extensively say there is nothing surpassing the scenery in Carrizo gorge."

Long Live the Sardine!

In Portuguese, a seaport of the Basque provinces of Spain, the people still talk of a certain amusing incident that took place at one time when a large crowd was watching the arrival of the popular king and queen. Suddenly someone shouted "Viva el Rey!" "Viva! Viva!" echoed the crowd in a mighty voice. Then the same fellow shouted, "Viva la Reina!" "Viva! Viva!" came the answering volume from a thousand throats. "Viva Espana!" cried the fellow. "Viva! Viva!" was the prompt reply. At that moment a woman who was selling sardines turned the corner. "Sardinas, vivas sardines!" she shouted. And before the excited throng could restrain itself it had roared forth approvingly, Viva! Viva!—Youth's Companion.

Forty Years—Or More.

Mr. T.—is past seventy and getting so absent-minded that sometimes he passes his best friends and even members of his family. His daughter in the early forties, who is a very progressive business woman, will not permit the family to keep him at home, saying that sensible people don't mind what an old man says.

But the other day she almost changed her mind. She was sitting in her office talking to a very attractive young bachelor when her father walked into the office. He spoke to the man and turned to his daughter.

"Your face looks very familiar?" he began. "Let's see—now wait—I'll recognize you in a minute. How long have I known you, my dear?"

The daughter said that her embarrassed pause was even more of a give-away than an answer to the question would have been.

Last Shot.

Two rival politicians recently spoke at the same gathering of women voters. One had desired first place but his rival having a pull, obtained it instead. And while the rival spoke he sat and simply "botted" with indignation.

But when his chance came to retort he made good use of it. "Every speaker should always have a text or pretext for speaking," he said. "My opponent having had the latter for his speech I will now choose the former and give my text."

Out in the Wagon.

It happened in southern Indiana. The sleek-haired, surefooted, suave drug clerk approached one of the "country lassies, pure and sweet." "Is any one waiting on you, madam?"

"Why—er—yes; my feller is waitin' for me out in the wagon."

WITH THAT FIRST MILLION

Harold Hope Has Planned to Have Many Things, but the First Is a Marble Swimming Pool.

"When I make my first million," said Harold Hope carelessly, "I'm going to build my house."

Harold has so many things to do when he makes his first million that there is some anxiety in the minds of his friends as to whether the money will suffice to pay for them all. A million doesn't go so very far nowadays, you know, observes a New York Sun writer.

"My house," continued Harold, undisturbed by any doubts on that score, "is not going to be like other people's houses. Oh! it's going to be a very original house in many ways. And the one feature of it that I delight in more than anything else about my house is the swimming pool."

"I've always from childhood wanted to have my own private marble swimming pool, with a tame seal in it to skylark with me when I take my plunge. And my dream is going to be realized when I make my first million and build my house. I haven't quite decided whether to have a seal or a sea lion. Whichever I select, I'll probably end by getting a pair of 'em."

Harold's eyes kindled at the thought, and he exclaimed:

"Won't it be wonderful to have those beautiful animals to sport with in the water? You see, a seal swims for enjoyment. It swims for business, too, of course, but when it hasn't any business to swim it just swims for enjoyment. If you watch 'em in their tanks at the aquarium or the zoo you'll see that they take a positively voluptuous joy in their element."

"There's an infinite graceful abandon in the air with which they circle round and round on their backs, or go plunging like porpoises, making a tremendous splash, playing tricks on each other and then at intervals rearing themselves out of the water, pointing their noses as high as they can, and trying to look as if they never broke a plate."

"And the sea lions have the most beautiful eyes in the world, bar none—I don't even except the giraffes, the llamas or the antelopes. And they're very gentle when you domesticate 'em and train 'em. I bet they'll enjoy having a master who swims with 'em every day. Of course I'll get young ones and break 'em in gradually to swimming with me."

"You see, I'm very much the same class of swimmer as the seal family. Maybe I was a sea lion in my last life. Anyway, I make myself one with the water, just as the seals do. I love to slide lazily down among the roots of the water lilies, and mosey around below the surface with a very seal-like joy in the element. And I look forward to having great games with my pet sea lions when I bathe in my marble tank in the house I mean to build when I make my first million."

Max Was Cautious.

After refusing the slightest assistance to the writer of a book just issued entitled "Max Beerbohm in Perspective," Max continues in the course of his letter: "I remember several books about men who, not yet dead, had blantly aided and abetted the author; and I remember what awful asses those men seemed to me thereby to have made of themselves. Two of them were rather great men. They could afford to make awful asses of themselves. I, who am 100 miles away from being great, cannot afford such luxuries. My gifts are small. I've used them very well and discreetly, never straining them; and the result is that I've made a charming little reputation. But that reputation is a frail plant. Don't over-attend to it, Gardner Lynch! Don't drench and deluge it! The contents of a quite small watering-can will be quite enough." And then comes this cautionary advice: "Be judicial. . . . Don't, by dithyrambs, hasten the reaction of critics against me. Tend rather to understate me—so that those who don't care for my words shall not be incensed, and those who do shall rally round me."—Boston Transcript.

Cars Pulled by Balloon.

Hochstaufen, near Bad Reichenhall, in Germany, will soon have one of the most peculiar railways in the world. It will run up a steep mountain side, and will be operated by a balloon.

The mountain is so steep that no ordinary way of locomotion would do, so it has been planned to hitch a balloon to the car that makes the trip, and have it practically lift the car to the top of the hill. But the car will be held to the earth by clamps that will retain the wheels close to the rails, and the upward tendency of the balloon will furnish the power.

The big bag of gas will be 67 feet in diameter, and will have a lifting capacity of about 10,000 pounds.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

ONE POINT OF VIEW

To the Editor:

It is now the time of year for some people to wax eloquent about the delights of daylight saving. We have been led to believe that the only conscientious objector to such a programme was the farmer who in the whirligig of time found himself forced to smoke his pipe in a leisurely fashion in the early morn while the dew was on the pumpkin and the hay was in the field. Meanwhile he was forced to cease his work while the sun was still high in the heavens.

There is another group of conscientious objectors, the parents of younger children. I might also add the teachers of younger children.

Let us consider the case of the children. First of all in the latter part of May and June, when it gets dark late it is practically impossible to get them to bed. They are forced to go to bed they do not sleep. Light, noise and heat prevent. In the morning they tend to wake up according to the old time. They tend to oversleep, but even if they do, they do not get their usual and necessary amounts of sleep.

Getting up later they are likely to a hurried and inadequate breakfast and a hurried start for school. Thus they make a poor beginning for the day.

Daylight saving increases the amount of physical strain on the child. In the spring children need more rather than less rest. Even under the best of conditions they get less sleep than in the winter. In the spring there is increased activity out-of-doors. Daylight saving increases this naturally reasonable demand. The strain on the child even under a same method of reckoning time shows itself in a decrease in weight. There is no argument for daylight saving certainly from the point of view of the younger school children. Practically all the teachers that I have talked with—teachers who are interested in the physical welfare of their children, condemn daylight saving.

The case of the mother is simple. The management of the household becomes increasingly difficult. The length of her day is increased. She has less time for much needed reflection and relaxation.

I believe that most parents and teachers of younger school children, if they are given a chance to express themselves through your columns, will express their opposition to daylight saving.

Isn't about time that Boards of Trade, legislators and the leisure-loving golf player should finally consider mothers and children. When they do, I believe, daylight saving legislation will be wiped off the books.

COAL

Owing to the removal of all restrictions on the delivery of anthracite coal to consumers in this state, the citizens of Newton are now able to buy from their regular dealer their usual quantity of coal and the size of coal they have been accustomed to have without any restrictions, as far as their dealer is able to furnish it. Orders for present use may, therefore, be placed with your regular coal dealer, not only for present use, but also for future delivery. The prices for future delivery will be the prices that prevail at the time the coal is delivered to customer.

In view of the fact that our furnaces are still running and our bins must be kept full for use during the month of April, our citizens should not ask or expect too quick delivery of coal beyond the need for present use. In this connection, it seems only fair to express the hope that all our citizens will be loyal to the coal dealer who has carried them through the past winter, if they expect their coal dealer to be loyal to them should another emergency arise.

The removal of all restrictions, and the freedom from snow will enable our dealers to make a reduction in prices, and the following may be considered today's price on anthracite coal delivered to your home in the City of Newton:

Furnace	$15.00
Egg	15.00
Stove	15.00
Range	15.00
Pea	13.00

The present price of Buckwheat should be about $10.00, and the present price of sold coal $9.00 to $11.00 per ton, according to the quality. It is believed a still further reduction in the price of soft coal, and Steam sizes will be made later on, but in general the Boston prices will at all times prevail in the City of Newton.

In closing my duties as Fuel Administrator for the City of Newton, I wish to publicly express my appreciation of the full cooperation that has been given me by the coal dealers doing business in the City of Newton. Both the Boston and Newton dealers have given me their full cooperation, and together we have done all we could to better the hard conditions in the coal business that have prevailed the past winter.

It would be most desirable if our citizens could become better acquainted with their own coal dealer, and they would find him not such a bad fellow as he has been pictured to be. Go and see him and tell him your present and future wants. He will meet you half way, and together, matters can be fixed up to the mutual satisfaction of both, whether for present or future. The telephone in many ways proves a bad thing, as people by its use do not become acquainted with the people they are doing business with. A personal visit to your coal dealer on the part of every citizen of Newton is worth while.

Yours very truly,
 O. M. FISHER,
 Fuel Administrator, City of Newton.

POLICE NOTES

John Luizzo of 326A Cherry street, West Newton, was tried Saturday morning in the Newton District Court before Judge Bacon on the charge of illegally selling intoxicating liquor. The case had been continued twice. The sale is alleged to have taken place a week ago Thursday, when a member of the Newton police liquor squadron, after crawling through a pile of coal dust dressed in a pair of ragged jumpers, bought some liquor from Luizzo.

Luizzo was arrested by Sergt. Leeman and his house was searched, but the police were unable to find his liquor supply. Luizzo pleaded not guilty, but was found guilty, sentenced to a month in the House of Correction, sentence being suspended to October 6, and was fined $200.

John H. Sheridan of 1272 Boylston street, Newton Upper Falls, has been appointed a patrolman on the Newton police force by Chief Bernard F. Burke.

WEST NEWTON MUSIC SCHOOL

At the request of local music teachers, who greatly desire to see constructive courses of class training made possible for their pupils, Mr. T. W. Surette, acknowledged authority on the subject of Music Education, has kindly consented to speak on this subject on April 8, at 3.30 P. M., at the Unitarian Church, West Newton. It is planned to announce at that time courses in Music Appreciation and kindred elementary training for children. It is hoped that parents who are interested will make application, so that organization of classes may go forward in preparation for the opening in the Fall.

Mr. Surette's interest in and devotion to the cause of giving children the ideal training in music, is shown by his willingness to come to us and put these ideals before the parents, and to act as advisor in carrying out the plan for the courses. It is believed that interest in his ideas and conviction in his work will help to gain a hearing for this plan.

The classes will provide for different stages of study, from those for little children to a course for adults in Music Appreciation to be held fortnightly in the evening, a course primarily for the "layman," which it is hoped Mr. A. D. Zanzig will conduct.

More definite plans and announcements will be made at the meeting.

Mr. Surette will lead community singing, assisted by the Chorus and Ensemble of the West Newton Music School.

Classes in elementary training are carried on at the Peirce School, (West Newton Music School) on Saturday mornings, and Tuesday afternoons; at the Hyde School, Newton Highlands, on the same days.

BOSTON 100 YEARS AGO

The late William H. Foster leaves Interesting Reminiscences to His Grandchildren

My dear Grandchildren:—

Do you ever wonder what Boston was like, and what the boys used to do when your Grandpa was one of them? It was not much like this Boston nowadays, and although we used to have lots of fun, we had very different times from yours, and some pretty rough ones, especially at school.

If you could look into one of those magic mirrors we read about, and see the Old Boston of my young days, you would say it was almost like a country village compared with this city in which we now rush about, this hurly-burly of crowded streets, electric wires, and cars; jams of people, jams of houses, and no peace anywhere.

I think I must tell you a few of the stories of things I remember in my childhood, so that by the time you come to have little youngsters, climbing on your knees, and begging for stories, you can amuse them with these queer old times long ago when their great-grandfather was a boy.

Franklin Street is now entirely a street of business buildings; but when I was born, in the year 1810, it had handsome, comfortable, well-lighted houses, with gardens around and behind them. I was born on the ninth of January, 1810, in the house that stood on the upper side of "the Arch," where Arch Street now begins. Over this Arch Street were rooms where the Old Boston Library was kept.

I was a regular Boston boy, through and through. My grandfather was a young married man at the breaking out of the Revolution, and the British was held by the British, and General Gage issued orders that none of the people should leave the town, my grandfather and grandmother made a fine plan of escape with some friends of theirs who had obtained a permit to pass through the British lines and go out into the country. These friends had a little child; so my grandfather, my grandmother, as a nursery-maid, and gave her the child to hold. They all sat in a big ox-cart, which held their furniture and baggage as well as themselves, and my grandfather, dressed as a teamster, walked, and drove the oxen.

When they came to the guards, they showed their permit for the family, and all went safely through, no one noticing the unlikely fashion in which the citizen teamster managed his oxen. So they journeyed to Haverhill and settled there, and never returned to live in Boston. Afterwards, their daughter, who was my Mother, was married and lived in Boston, and there a lot of us children, mostly boys, grew up. Whenever we had a vacation, long enough, (our vacations were not like yours nowadays, they were few and short, and far between)—if we would hurry, either by the stagecoach or on foot, to stay at the dear old grandfather's house in Haverhill, and have jolly times in the country.

The war of 1812 with England, came when I was two years old, and I can remember distinctly how I paraded about with a drum which my uncle gave me, how my baby patriotism caused civil war in the family and I was turned out into the back-yard to enjoy my celebration of the declaration of war.

Of course there was great excitement about the war, and my parents thought it was a good time to move from the city until more peaceful times; so we went to Medford, and boarded there for a year or two until public affairs quieted down.

After that we returned to Boston and lived in a house near the North End, which was then the finest part of the town. While I was still a very "little shaver" in pinks, I was sent to a school near our house, which had back windows overlooking our garden, and in front were fine tall elm trees. I remember clearly the day of the great "September Gale" of 1815, about which you know Dr. Holmes wrote a poem, telling how he lost his "Sunday breeches" which blew away off the clothes-line.

I remember that the wind grew so violent, and broken branches of the elms in front of the school-room came down so fast, that our school-master became alarmed, and decided to send us children home before it grew worse. He dared not let us out by the front door, into the street, for fear the falling branches might hurt us, so we took "the back window" and dropped us, one by one, to the ground, telling us to run home. There was never any need in those days to tell a child to run from school. It was usually a place of cruelty, and brutal torture, and why we ever bore it all I cannot now understand. The very memory of my school life in Boston is like a nightmare.

Under various conditions, not only in my young childhood, but in the Latin and High schools, with one noble exception, we suffered constant canings and beatings as a matter of course,—a part of the daily plan, without which our education was not complete and beside these regular, ordinary canings and floggings, there was practised by many of the school-masters a cruel system of tortures worthy of the Spaniards of my life. I have never lost my feeling of horror at the thought of school, and to this day I cannot understand the interest and happiness in school which I hear of from you children around me. I must tell you about the one satisfying pleasant memory of my days of torment. When I went to the Latin School which was in School Street, in the old building which has since been removed, just below where the Parker House now stands.

One of our regular rules of honor among the boys was that if anyone was caught telling tales, he should be taken after school, and "bumped" against King's Chapel,—four boys swinging him by his arms and legs against the stone wall of the old church.

One day when we discovered such a traitor,—(he was afterward Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts, and always told him we knocked his wisdom into him against King's Chapel wall.)—as we were giving him his regulation bumping after school, the master came along, and saw us. He stepped aside at once, and we knew there would be trouble following, for the masters then exercised their power over us out of school hours, as well as in. So we made an agreement to stand by each other in case of trouble and resist the tyrant. The next day our names were called at the close of school, and we were ordered to stay. That meant whipping. I was a little fellow, the youngest of the four, and the master took me first; but he no sooner touched me than I sprang at him, and caught him around the waist, kicking all the time such a vigorous "rub-a-dub" on his shins with my hard, thick little boots, and sticking so tight that he could not get rid of me, until he finally dragged me along to the door, and unlocking it, he threw it open and told us to go: That was a victory! I still feel the joy of that great moment; it was the triumph of my boyhood. The old tyrant never mentioned the affair again; but I believe it was long before he forgot my vicious little boots.

While I was still a small boy, one of our school-masters kept a pet cowhide for his heavy work,—for those terrible occasions when his brutal temper was especially aroused and when a mere rattan was not stout enough for laying on the blows. A cruel red cowhide; we used to call it "Red Lion," and woe to the poor chap who received its welts upon his back. While I was still a small boy, one day one day called me to him, and as I stood by his side, he turned and marked a little dot of ink on my nose with his pen. When he had finished speaking to me I went off and forgot all about the insep. The next morning he called me to him, and asked me if I had washed my face that morning. I said "Yes sir, certainly I did." Upon which he took me and beat me until I became unconscious, for "telling a lie," as he said.

He had artfully set a trap for me the day before, to lead me into trouble, and because I had forgotten to give the inkspot an extra scrubbing, and it did not come off with my common washing, he declared me a liar. I must not tell you more of these abominable doings, for it stirs up my wrath even now to talk about them. I have seen other children beside myself struck down unconscious on the floor in school, and many other ingenious methods of torture, such as making a boy put his head out of the window, and the pulling down the heavy window, without weights, to rest on the back of his neck.

Another favorite method was to take a boy jump and catch him on the top of the school-room door; then the master would close the door far enough to hold his fingers caught, and then beat him as he hung there.

At one time we had three school-sessions each day,—going to a separate "intermediate" school at noon, but I never discovered that those extra hours of schooling knocked any extra amount of learning or wisdom into our heads.

We never had any Christmas holidays, nor any Christmas presents, for you know that there has been an old Puritan law in Massachusetts, forbidding the keeping of Christmas, because it was a custom of the Papists, and in my boyhood that law had not been repealed.

We had Thanksgiving Day, with great feasting, Plover, Bayberry in May, and the Fourth of July. Our long vacation was two weeks in summer. But after all, we managed to get a good deal of boy's fun wedged in between our school hours.

In winter we used to go coasting on Beacon Hill, which was then a steep rough sand-bank at the top, long before the State House was built. Sometimes we coasted down the streets back of the hill, leading down to Cambridge Street. I remember one day I was "clipping it" down on my little sled, lying on my stomach, "belly bump," as we called it, when I came behind a respectable old lady, a friend of my Mother, and not being able to stop or change my course, I coasted right under her feet, and nearly crushing her. Poor old Miss Nancy was of course much frightened and disgusted, and she gave me a sharp piece of her mind on the spot. In summer we had two daily trips to the Common, to drive our cow to and from pasture. Many families pastured their cows there, each cow being branded with her owner's initials.

In those days places in the city seemed much farther apart than they do now. The South End, and the Neck, as the road to Roxbury was called, seemed to us far away, and anyone going there to make a short visit took leave of home as we now would for a trip to Europe or Japan.

Then, for the water of the Back Bay came up to the Common, and there were no streets or houses west of that. As I look back I think boys must have been allowed to roam less restrained than nowadays, and perhaps the whole city life was less under orderly control; in fact we boys did many things which should now be considered shocking in boys of good families and homes.

Whenever there was a hanging it took place near Blackstone Square at the South End, and I trudged away over there one day with the other boys to see a poor fellow strung up. I remember well how far away it seemed, and how horrified I was at the dreadful sight. We boys were always on the spot at every fire, by day or night, and were eager to take our share of the work in fighting the flames. The fire companies with their hand engines were a most interesting feature of our life. The citizens took part, and every house was required to have fire buckets kept handy for use.

Another source of excitement was our constant feud with the Charlestown boys; we called them "Charlestown Pigs," and whenever they ventured across the bridge, within Boston limits, they had to expect a fierce attack, and often a pitched battle followed.

After I stopped going to school, I went as a "boy" into a commercial house to learn the business, with hard work and no pay. I used to start out by starlight on cold winter mornings, and often did not get home from work until late at night. Whenever I did get a rare holiday my great pleasure was to go off on a long tramp perhaps to my Grandfather's at Haverhill,—sometimes even to Portland, where an uncle lived. I started when I was a young boy, I once for one vacation day, resolved to walk all the way to Portland, and spend Sunday at my uncle's. As I drew near the end of my long tramp, on Saturday afternoon, and was trudging up a long hill, a gentleman in a buggy overtook me, and invited me to get in with him; but I declined, and told him I had made up my mind to walk every step of the way. So I went on alone, and after a good night's rest went to church next morning with my uncle, who was eager to hear the distinguished minister from a distance, who was to preach to them that day. What was my surprise to see my friend of the day before, whose urgent invitation I had resisted, stand up in the pulpit and preach.

My uncle was a deacon, and when we stopped after church to invite the minister to supper, he looked at me with surprise, and said: "Why, here is my little friend of yesterday, who was so plucky in keeping his resolution to walk every step from Boston."

When I was nineteen, my Brother and I took a wonderful tramp from Boston to the White Mountains and climbed Mt. Washington with old Ethan Crawford, the famous guide. There was neither carriage-road nor railway up the mountain, and it was unsafe to attempt the foot-trail without a guide.

That was not long after the terrible avalanche in the Crawford Notch, which destroyed nearly all of the Willey family, leaving their home, from which they fled, untouched. We found the place a dreadful scene of ruin and destruction.

When I returned to Boston from that delightful tramp, I made ready to sail on my first voyage to India, going out to Calcutta as "Supercargo" for a Boston firm, and that was the end of boyhood for me.

TOWER-McQUEEN

St. John's Episcopal Church, Newtonville, was a mass of evergreen and spring flowers last Saturday afternoon, on the occasion of the wedding of Miss Margery Tower, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Redington Tower of Court street, Newtonville, and Lieutenant John Crawford McQueen of Chanute, Kansas, a graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy, at Annapolis, class of 1921. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Richard T. Loring of St. John's Church. A classmate of the bride, Miss Dorothy McQueen of Newtonville, was the organist. At the close of the ceremony, the bride and groom passed beneath an arch formed by the crossed swords of the officers who were serving as ushers.

The maid of honor was Miss Cathleen Lincoln of Hingham, and Margaret Sloan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Sloan of Newtonville, was the flower girl. William Redington Tower, brother of the bride was the best man, and the following men in the Naval service and wearing the uniform of their rank served as ushers: — Lieutenant Commander Elliott Buckmaster of Boston, United States Navy; Lieutenant William H. L. Turville, Brookline, Medical Corps, U. S. Navy; Lieutenant Eadras J. Lanois, Portsmouth, N. H., Medical Corps, U. S. Navy; Ensign Edward C. Even, Portsmouth, N. H., U. S. N.; Lieutenant William E. Maxwell of Birmingham, Ala., U. S. Marine Corps; Lieutenant Edward S. Shaw, Portsmouth, N. H., U. S. Marine Corps; Ensign James E. Craig, Jacksonville, Fla., U. S. Navy; Ensign William H. Neasham, Berkeley, California, U. S. Naval Reserve.

Following a brief wedding trip to Washington, Baltimore and Annapolis, the young couple will sail on April 2 from Hampton Roads for Haiti where Lieutenant McQueen will be in service.

CHICKERING HOUSE

On April 2nd, at 8.15 P. M., at Tremont Temple, Boston, a good movie will be given for you and your friends. It is for the benefit of one of our most worthy organizations, Chickering House, Dedham. This is a Rest House of the finest type. There are people of all classes, regardless of creed, are received here as long as a time as is considered necessary in order that they may recover their health. Our Newton Welfare Bureau and the social service workers of our Hospital have turned to Chickering House many times in their need. Mrs. Hull of the Welfare Bureau says: "The kindly way in which each guest is received, the homelike atmosphere of the place cannot help but be an influence for good in the life of everyone going there. In every instance the patients speak of the days spent in Chickering House, as among, if not the happiest days of their lives and all would be glad to return." Help this good cause and help yourself to a good time on April 2nd.

ings may be held that have to do with the welfare of the community. Our new school buildings provide large assembly halls and these halls should be made available for neighborhood gatherings. In other words, the schoolhouse should be a neighborhood center.

A special committee appointed to secure the services of the Executive Secretary for the Newton Central Council reported that they had extended an invitation to Mr. Arthur Dunham, who has been very active in community and welfare work in the city of Philadelphia. Mr. Dunham has accepted the position and will assume his duties on the first of June. Mr. Dunham comes to Newton with the highest recommendations of the officers of the organizations in Philadelphia with which he has been associated for the last few years. The Council looks forward to renewed activity with Mr. Dunham.

The Newton Central Council is not a new organization but is made up of delegates from the various organizations now in existence, the object being to establish co-operative relationship between social and civic activities in Newton to the end that there may be less duplication of work, a better understanding of the needs of the community, greater efficiency, and effective action on matters pertaining to the social and civic welfare of the City.

The Council acts as a clearing house for various social and welfare activities and the Executive Secretary's duties are to assist and help these organizations not to dictate.

The following officers for the ensuing year were elected: —

George M. Angier, President; Mrs. Irving O. Palmer, Vice-President; Maynard Hutchinson, Secretary, Leon B. Rogers, Treasurer.

The Stone Institute and Pomeroy Home were elected to membership in the Council.

The cantata will be sung by the Senior Choir of the Methodist Church, the pastor directing. The soloists will be Clara Lieber Harper, soprano, Arthur Wellcome, tenor. The baritone parts will be sung by Rev. Mr. Harper.

Portions of the cantata will be sung by the Centenary Choir under the direction of Rev. Mr. Harper at Keith's Theatre at the final noon-day Lenten service held under the auspices of the Greater Boston Federation of Churches, Friday, at 12:00 o'clock.
